Wonderful Portland.
22,000,000 H. P.
200,000,000 Acre Feet.
What a Country.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

GERBER, Cal., Aug. 7.—This is written on the "Cascade," fine Southern Pacific train that runs between Seattle and Los Angeles. In the dining car an Easterner absorbs a glass of orange juice, a plateful of fresh, ripe figs and a very large piece of pink Persian melon. Then he begins his breakfast—eggs from Petaluma, bacon from Oakland, etc. Paul Shoup, who runs this road, buys Pacific Coast products. The "Cascade" leaves Portland at 10 p. m. You ride through Oregon until 8 in the morning, then all day, half way through California to San Francisco, arriving at 8 p. m. This is a big country.

IF YOU have energy and ambition, bring them here. You need not be young: you will live a whole natural life after you get here, anyhow.

THE Columbia River, that runs by Portland, can supply, with its tributaries, 22,000,000 electric horsepower, now practically undeveloped, one-third of the nation's horsepower. The Columbia, with nearly as much water as the Mississippi, floods no land and affords a deep-water harbor more than 100 miles from its mouth.

THE Columbia drains only 250,000 square miles, against the Mississippi basin of 1,250,000 square miles. Columbia water, rushing from the Rockies and the ridge of the Cascade, develops the 22,000,000 horsepower that in direct return and industrial production will be worth billions a year to Oregon and Washington.

UNTIL recently, 40,000,000 cords of wood were wasted in this region every year and 40 per cent of lumber passing through the mills was lost. Sawdust alone wasted 15 per cent. Great furnaces were built to burn it. Now wastewood is made into fiber boards used for containers and other purposes.

POWER and water, foundation of industry and wealth, are here. The Columbia carries into the ocean 200,000,000 acre feet of water a year—enough to cover 200,000,000 acres one foot deep.

The Willamette brings down from the mountains 30,000,000 more acre feet.

THE gigantic Colorado River, destined under President Hoover's management to do so much for states within its reach, flows only 16,000,000 acre feet on the average.

AT ONE place on the Columbia, 2,000,000 horsepower can be developed, at another 1,000,000 horsepower. Some day that power will be harnessed and used to irrigate every foot of land that needs irrigation and supply to industry power and water unlimited. This region could feed, house and employ the nation's 120,000,000 and pay them well.

ONE great chemical plant at Tacoma, buying power for $21 a year per horsepower, and water for two cents a ton from publicly-owned companies, uses for its product only salt, and power provided by the sun's rays lifting water, will flow down from these mountains forever. When, if ever, natural salt mines are exhausted, there will remain the giant Pacific, with a higher percentage of salt than the Atlantic, receiving more salt every year from streams that flow down. You have for the life of this planet perpetual motion from the mountains, inexhaustible raw material from the ocean.

BOATS go down the Columbia from Portland under government supervision to fish. They use a seine and bring up from 2,000 to 20,000 pounds of salmon and salmon trout at a time.

FARTHER north, at Victoria, British Columbia, seines haul up from 10 to 40 tons of pilchard, a fine fish rich in oil. Factories turn the fish into oil for soap and other uses, the residue into fertilizer and feed for cattle. The ground fish is fed to cows grazing far from the ocean. Fish food, rich in iodine, keeps calves from having goiter. That statement may offend your faith-cure friend, but facts are more important than faith cure.

SOON, flying in a few hours will bring from the East capitalists who will change this territory as though by magic. Alfred E. Sloan, Jr., of General Motors; Henry Ford, and especially Mr. Farrell, head of United States Steel, should come here without waiting to fly and put some of this wasted Northwestern power to work.

THE development of this country hasn't begun. Its possibilities of wealth and universal prosperity are inconceivable. The people some day will regulate their own monopolies, own their own properties, arrange their own wages. There will be plenty for all, even for the man of exceptional genius. He now demands the right to take more than he needs and give others less than they need.

ONCE the dull minds of kings, bishops and nobles in England demanded the right to maintain a gallows and hang miserable creatures, thus proving their own importance. That passed, and the desire for useless millions will also pass, and competition will give way to emulation.

DR. SNOOK TELLS OWN STORY

MOTHER AND WIFE ALSO CALLED TO STAND

Mrs. Snook Describes Home Life Leading Up to Killing; Doctor Recounts Romance

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.
International News Service.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 7.—The dramatic high point of the Snook trial came today when Dr. James H. Snook, the college professor who killed Theora Hix, attractive young co-ed, followed his wife to the witness stand.

Obviously ill at ease when the morning's session opened, Snook had regained the calm that has characterized him throughout the trial by the time he was called to testify in his own defense.

TELLS OF AGREEMENT

Poised, self-contained and testifying in a clear voice, Snook revealed before he had been on the stand half an hour that a discussion of "companionate marriage" between him and Theora led to a "mutual agreement" which resulted in their having many secret trysts.

"Miss Hix had told me her boy friend had left the university for the summer," Snook related. "This was in 1926. She said she was lonesome, and wanted someone who was safe and 'knew something.' We had been discussing kindred subjects after our talk on companionate marriage opened the way."

WIFE, MOTHER TESTIFY

Mrs. Helen Snook, wife of the defendant, who had been sitting in the courtroom attired entirely in white, left the room when Miss Hix's name was first mentioned. Earlier in the day, Mrs. Snook had taken the stand and testified her husband had always been kind to her and that she never had seen him display temper.

The defendant's aged mother, Mrs. Abner Snook, of Lebanon, O., also had testified that Snook was a "good boy" all his life. Then Snook was called to the stand while the spectators in the thronged courtroom craned their necks.

MRS. JAMES H. SNOOK

Mrs. Snook, wife of the veterinarian on trial for the murder of Theora K. Hix, co-ed, today took the stand as a defense witness after she embraced and kissed her husband. She testified that he was never abusive at home.

GIRL SHOT DEAD, POLICEMAN ENDS LIFE

Couple Found in Her Home; Gun in Officer's Hand. Gangs Kill 2 More Here

2—Miss Louise Stine, 28, night club entertainer, found slain with Pugh. Case called by police murder and suicide.

3—Steve Monastero, gangster leader, mowed down by slugs from a sawed-off shotgun as he was entering St. John's Hospital.

4—Tony Lilo, stabbed to death in a struggle with an unknown antagonist in the East End.

Lieut. Pugh and Miss Stine were found shot to death in a dingy apartment at 6492 Frankstown avenue. Each had been shot through the head. There was a gun in Lieut. Pugh's hand as he lay sprawled on the floor in uniform.

Police pronounced the case a murder and suicide. Pugh shot the woman and then himself, they declared.

EASIEST WAY

It was the easiest way out from a situation in which Pugh, police said, had to choose between his wife and the Stine woman. Their theory was based on the story of Nat Gormen, 30, of 1850 Locust street, one of three taxi drivers questioned in the case. Gormen, former friend of the Stine woman, told police:

"She told me that she and Pugh had decided upon a suicide pact last week. Pugh was to kill her, then himself. At that

Ellen, young married Pittsburgh dancer who today filed suit in Federal Court for $250,000 damages from Harry Richman, fiance of Clara Bow, "It" girl of the screen. Ellen says she was drugged, forced into a Pullman car and detained four hours in which she was beaten and otherwise mistreated.

GRAF TO TRY FOR SPEED RECORD

By DAVID P. SENTNER.
International News Service.

LAKEHURST, N. J., Aug. 7.—"We will sail at midnight."

Dr. Hugo Eckener, grizzled skipper of the Graf Zeppelin, this afternoon definitely set the time for the take-off of the big airship on the Hearst Zeppelin around the world flight.

Shortly after noon today the dirigible was all set for its adventure glorious. Her various appetites were satiated with 210,000 cubic feet of hydrogen, 840,000 cubic feet of ethane gas and four barrels of oil.

SPEED TO BE OBJECTIVE

Speed will be the primary objective of the Graf Zeppelin when she points her nose into the Eastern skies tonight.

"We have proved the stability and safety of our dirigible—now we are going to prove our speed," an official said.

Dr. Eckener's first concern is to better his previous record of 68 hours for the west to east crossing on the first hop of the world cruise to Friedrichshafen.

MOTORS IN GOOD SHAPE

And speed will be his concern throughout the globe-encircling flight which will unfold the epic romance of mechanism when the ship glides to earth—shortly after September 1, according to schedule.

It was learned today that a new set of spark plugs was the only requirement of the five Maybach engines after the trip to Lakehurst. There was no impairment of power or reliability—overhauling was unnecessary.

All passengers, mail and freight must be aboard before 10 o'clock tonight, Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the craft, ordered.

WEATHER FAVORABLE

It was indicated a start would be made as soon after that hour as was deemed advisable.

Weather Bureau forecasts from Washington today showed conditions generally were favorable for the start of the flight, although skies in the Lakehurst vicinity will probably be overcast with north and northwest winds.

An extensive high pressure area, presaging calm weather, the bureau report said, extended from Bermuda eastward to the Azores and "thence to a point some distance off the Irish coast."

STORMS TO NORTH

A disturbance of moderate intensity central over Hudson Straits with a trough extending southward to the Canadian maritime provinces, was reported, but in view of the prospective course of the dirigible this was expected to cause no trouble. Nor was another disturbance north of the Orkney Islands expected to inconvenience the flight. Both disturbances were to

SQUIRE LORCH'S WIFE ROBBED

While Justice of the Peace Albert T. Lorch, the "shooting squire" of Allison Park, was entertaining friends on the front porch of his home, his wife's barbecue stand 200 yards away was held up and robbed of $45, county detectives were notified today.

Three armed robbers entered the stand shortly before last midnight, according to Mrs. Bertha Lorch, owner of the stand, and pointed guns at her son, George, 17, alone in the place. One of the men leaped over the counter and seized the contents of the cash register.

One held a gun at young Lorch's head until his confederates had started their automobile on the Butler plank road, then ran and leaped into the car.

Squire Lorch, single handed, engaged in a running gun battle with robbers near Allison Park and aided in their capture several years ago.

Discovery of New Comet Reported To Harvard

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Aug. 7.—(INS.)—Discovery of a new comet hurtling through space became known at Harvard this afternoon, with the receipt of a cablegram from the Central Bureau of Astronomical Telegrams, Copenhagen, Denmark.

The cablegram said the comet was discovered by an observer named Forbes on August 1, but failed to say at what point the discovery was made.

CHECK GIANTS, AIM OF BUCS

With three straight defeats adding to their woes, the Pirates will try to find a turn in the lane this afternoon as they take on the Giants in the last game of the series. The New Yorkers added two setbacks on top of the blow administered by the Phillies before they left town.

Remy Kremer is due to work against the Broadway stars in the finale, with Larry Benton being ready for action in the enemy's course.

The Oaklanders gave a bad exhibition behind Jess Petty in the second game of the series. The Men of McGraw took advantage of the dull play of the Pittsburghers and copped the battle, 5 to 3. Rolly Hemsley was spiked in a play at the home plate and will be out for more than a week.

CAUGHT AIDING PAL ESCAPE

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Aug. 7.—Not content with making good his own escape from Rockview Penitentiary, James H. Kamerling, of Allegheny County, sought to release a fellow prisoner—and that proved his undoing. Kamerling got away from the prison yesterday and though guards hunted him high and low, no trace of him could be found. Early today he returned, made his way to the boiler house, where George D. O'Conners, also of Allegheny County, was at work. The two men stole a car belonging to O. C. Smith, a guard, prison authorities said. They cut a hole in the wire stockade large enough to drive the car through and headed for Western Pennsylvania. At Ebensburg they were captured at 8 o'clock this morning by Sergt. Gleason, of the state police, and will be brought back to Centre County for trial for jailbreaking.

Babe Ruth Hits Homer With Three On

SCORE BY INNINGS.

New York	3	7	0	0	0	2				—
Philadelph	1	0	0							—

SHIBE PARK, PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—An overflow crowd of more than 40,000 saw the New York Yankees jump away to a commanding lead in the first game of a double-header with the league-leading Athletics here this afternoon. Many of the fans had been waiting in line for seats since daybreak.

Babe Ruth hit his twenty-eighth home run of the season in the second inning with the bases full.

The Yanks made short work of Howard Ehmke, driving him to cover in the second when they scored seven runs.

Koenig and Cochrane also hit homers early in the game.

The game in detail:

FIRST INNING

Prince George, Ill, Sent to Country

LONDON, Aug. 7.—(INS.)—The condition of Prince George, youngest living son of King George and Queen Mary, who is suffering from stomach trouble, was reported unchanged today. He has been ordered to the country to rest.

A London cablegram to International News Service several weeks ago said Prince George had been compelled to relinquish his foreign office duties because of the condition of his health.

Poincare to Leave Clinic This Week

PARIS, Aug. 7.—(A.P.)—Sources close to the former Premier told the Associated Press today that if Raymond Poincare continues his normal improvement he will leave the clinic where he is now confined for his own home about the end of the week.

The same source indicated the second operation would be performed about September 10 instead of late in August, as was expected.

Locked on Train, Beaten, Says Girl Suing Richman

Pretty Ellen Franks, the dancing red-head of the South Side, today told why she is suing Harry Richman, star of the movies, stage and cabarets, for a quarter million dollars.

He drugged her, he locked her in his compartment of a Pullman car and during the four hours that she was a prisoner on a moving train he maliciously beat her—all this the attractive Ellen charges in the statement of claim which her attorney, Kivie Wolfe, filed in Federal Court today in the suit against the Broadway comedian who has announced his engagement to a different red-head—Clara Bow, the "It" girl of the movies.

DRUGGED, SHE SAYS

It happened during the second week of March when Richman was in Pittsburgh as a star of "George White's Scandals," Ellen reports.

"By subterfuge and trickery" he induced her to enter the Pullman of a train which was to carry Richman to Cleveland, and "by force and arms wilfully and maliciously locked her in his compartment as the train started," the statement charges.

Before she boarded the Pullman car she had been drugged by drinking "some beverage" given her by Richman, Ellen complains.

She was rendered helpless and incapable of escape by threats and bodily harm, Ellen recites, and during that time she charges that Richman "wilfully and maliciously struck and beat her on and about the body, head, legs and arms, and otherwise mistreated her, causing severe and painful injuries."

INJURIES CHARGED

As a result of the beating, Ellen charges, she suffered injuries from

MOTHER-TO-BE TO KNOW FATE IN RUM CASE TODAY

PROSECUTOR TO RULE ON TRIAL

Stork May Visit Young Wife Behind Prison Walls if Charges Are Not Dropped

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7.—Mercy for Mrs. Thelma Holland or misery?

Today will probably bring the answer, for District Attorney Buron Fitts, who has been making a detailed study of the liquor charges on which the 22-year-old mother-to-be faces the possibility of having her child born behind San Quentin's walls, is expected to announce whether he will ask for dismissal of the accusations.

Fitts' study concerns itself with the facts of her arrest and whether the evidence against her would justify holding the trial that is scheduled to begin before Superior Judge Marshall McComb Friday morning.

JUDGE REVERSES SELF

Fitts' study is taking into account that the woman, although charged with possession of a still, has not been shown to have played any active part in the operation of the still or in the bootlegging for which her husband is now in Folsom prison. Her sole offense, it is contended, is that she was aware of the fact that her husband was running the still in their home. He already has taken full responsibility.

The young woman, whose child is to be born within a few months, pleaded guilty to the technical charge of complicity, believing she would be given probation. Instead, Superior Judge Emmett Wilson sentenced her to San Quentin. On the heels of a great outburst of public indignation, Judge Wilson reversed himself, let the woman plead not guilty and she was freed on $1,000 bail pending her new trial.

NEAR COLLAPSE

Since then her attorney, Moses C. Davis, backed by strong popular sentiment from all over the nation, has urged that in view of the facts in the case that the charge against her be dropped. The next move is up to Fitts, and the district attorney has indicated he will make his decision known today.

In the meantime Mrs. Holland, near collapse from the excitement and worry over the case, is under the care of a physician and friends at a secluded retreat.

Every effort is being made to protect her as much as possible from the excitement that surrounds the case.

3 FACE ARSON MURDER TRIAL

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—Three men were held without bond on first degree murder charges and another was under arrest today in connection with an alleged arson plot that resulted in the death of three firemen in a drug store fire here last Monday morning.

Durwood M. Dailey, operator of the store; John L. Crowe, and D. L. Piggott, a druggist, against whom the charges have been filed, were arraigned yesterday and their preliminary hearing set for August 17.

Arch Glover, named by Dailey, police said, as the man who financed the store for him and instructed him, when he opened it, to take out $7,500 insurance, was taken into custody. Edward P. Boyle, chief of detectives, said he would ask the prosecutor to file a murder charge against him.

Glover admitted financing the store but denied any part in an arson plot, police said.

In addition to the three firemen who were killed when an explosion occurred during the fire, 11 other persons were injured.

Booster Meetings To Be Resumed

The Brookline Boosters' Association will resume their regular monthly meetings starting September 3. Due to the July and August vacationists, the meetings were postponed.

THE NEW PROSECUTOR'S PROBLEM

By QUIN HALL

RUTH'S HOMER CLEANS BASES

Ruth walked, filling the bases. Lazzeri singled past Boley, scoring Combs and Gehrig. Ruth went to third on Meusel's sacrifice fly to Miller. Dickey beat out a punt along the third base line, scoring Ruth. Koenig grounded to Foxx. Three runs, three hits.

PHILADELPHIA—Cronin lifted to Ruth. Haas bounced to Gehrig. Cochrane drove a home run over the right field wall into Twentieth street close to the foul line. It was Cochrane's sixth of the year. Simmons dropped a single in back of second. Foxx fanned. One run, two hits.

SECOND INNING

NEW YORK—Pipgrass fanned. Combs walked. Robertson doubled off the scoreboard, Combs taking third. Gehrig walked, filling the bases. After pitching two balls to Ruth, Ehmke grooved the next one and Ruth sent it soaring over the scoreboard into Twentieth street for his twenty-eighth home run of the season, scoring Combs, Robertson and Gehrig ahead of him. Lazzeri was hit by a pitched ball. Ehmke was taken out and Shores went into pitch for the Athletics. Meusel popped to Hale. Dickey doubled to center, Lazzeri stopping at third. Koenig socked a home run over the right field wall and scored behind Lazzeri and Dickey. Pipgras fanned. Seven runs, four hits.

PHILADELPHIA—Miller grounded to Gehrig. Hale tripled along the right field foul line. Boley popped to Gehrig. Orwoll batted for Shores and struck out. One hit.

THIRD INNING

NEW YORK—Orwoll and Perkins formed the new battery for the Athletics. Combs flied to Simmons. Robertson lined to Miller. Gehrig walked. Ruth grounded to Foxx.

PHILADELPHIA—Cronin popped to Lazzeri. Haas struck out, but Dickey dropped the third strike and had to throw to first. Ruth came in fast for Perkin's liner.

FOURTH INNING

FIFTH INNING

NEW YORK—Burns went to first base for the Athletics. Koenig doubled over third. Pipgras walked. Byrd batted for Combs and fouled to Burns. Robertson grounded into a double play, Cronin to Boley to Burns. One hit.

PHILADELPHIA—Byrd went to center field for New York. Lazzeri threw out Boley. Orwoll fanned. Cronin rolled to Gehrig.

Soviet Plane Off For U. S. Tomorrow

Murder Charges Face Wounded Vet

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 7.—(INS.)—Grover Smith, 35, World War veteran, today was reported recovering from a self-inflicted bullet wound and probably will face a charge of murder for the killing of his estranged wife, Avenelle. The shooting took place in the home of Mrs. Smith's sister here. Smith came to Springfield recently from Cleveland, O., where he had been a patient in a government hospital. A suit for divorce filed by him was pending.

which she will never fully recover and her nervous system was permanently impaired.

She was confined to a hospital and to her home and has suffered great pain; she has been deprived of her earnings as a dancer and has been put to great expense for doctors and hospitals, Ellen adds.

And for all this, Ellen tells, she wants $250,000 from the handsome actor who recently announced a "caveman conquest" of Clara Bow.

RICHMAN IN HOLLYWOOD

Ellen was not in Pittsburgh when Attorney Wolfe filed the suit and Richman was reported in Hollywood, engaged in making a talking picture.

When notice of Ellen's suit was filed last week, Richman declared, "I never heard of her."

Girl Found In Ohio, Evading Spotlight

By WILLIAM PFARR,
Staff Correspondent of Sun-Telegraph.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 7.—The Sun-Telegraph today found the elusive red-head, the attractive Pittsburgh dancer, who threatens to disturb the wedding plans of Clara Bow, exponent of "It," and Harry Richman, who hopped, skipped and jumped from the night clubs, to the stage, to the movies.

In a quiet cottage a few miles from Youngstown, Ellen Franks, who was brought up on the South Side, was located, still a pretty picture despite the nervous worry that she says has possessed her since she filed notice in Pittsburgh's Federal Court of her damage suit against Richman.

"I met him," Ellen tells, "one night he was in Pittsburgh with 'George White's Scandals,' last March. A girl friend of mine who knew him introduced us. It was in a private club downtown. He seemed to take an interest in me."

Ellen stops herself and seems to realize that the continued story must be told from a witness chair in Federal Court.

"I've always wanted to go on the stage. Since I was 13 I've been dancing. I was going to St. John's School on the South Side when I bought a pair of dancing slippers and taught myself how to dance.

"Last year I was Miss South Side at the Pennsylvania beauty contest at Conneaut Lake. Miss East End won it."

A. E. JONES

Mr. Adams, Uniontown lawyer, has been chosen district attorney to clean up Fayette County. Mr. Jones is named special prosecutor to assist him.

FAYETTE PROBE GAINS SPEED

By SHELDON REED,
Staff Correspondent.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 7.—Inquiry into the slaying of John Donohoe and the movement to reform Fayette County's allegedly bootleg-tainted politics swung into a definite course today.

State police were questioning Arthur McDaniel, of Washington, Pa., reputed friend of Glenn Allum, convicted bootlegger and reputed hi-jacker. That they were checking on Allum's movements about the time of the killing, was the accepted opinion.

AWAIT ADAMS PARLEY

Meanwhile, J. B. Adams, successor to Nicholas W. Rosenberg, district attorney, who shot himself while the Donohoe investigation was in full swing, and his special assistant, Alfred E. Jones, were awaiting a conference with Maj. Lynn Adams, state police commandant, in charge of the investigation.

Maj. Adams is engaged in checking information on Allum, whose fingerprints are said to have been taken for comparison with prints found on the car in which Donohoe was slain a week ago last night on a lonely road.

WITH DONOHOE

The men have declared that they saw Allum with Donohoe in Republic at 1:15 on the morning the former deputy constable and politician was murdered. Some significance also was attached to the fact that Donohoe lived in Washington seven or eight years ago.

There was a belief also that the suicide of District Attorney Rosenberg was related to the Donohoe slaying only in that Rosenberg had been a friend of Donohoe's and had worried through fear of what revelations the slaying might precipitate among the political circle of which the slain man had been a member.

SECOND SUICIDE

Another suicide today caused a flurry among authorities. Neal Parella, 45, of Allison, was found dead, a bullet through his head. State police investigating the Donohoe slaying, expressed a doubt that the two deaths had any connection. They said they believed that Parella had killed himself because he had a wife in Italy and was engaged to another woman.

POLICEMAN KILLS GIRL AND SELF

time, however, they lost their nerve.

"She was in love with Pugh, she told me, and he liked her. She wanted him to divorce his wife and marry her."

WIFE TOLD

Meantime, Pugh's wife, an expectant mother, is under the care of physicians at her home at 450 Biddle avenue, Wilkinsburg. She has been told of her husband's death, but not of the manner in which he died. Near her play two children, aged 5 and 3, unaware of the tragedy cast over their home.

NO BULLETS IN WOUNDS

No bullets were found in the post mortem examination of the bodies. The woman had been shot in the middle of the forehead and the bullet had come out behind her left ear. The policeman had been shot in the left temple, the slug emerging at the back of his head. Powder marks on both indicated the gun in each case had been held close to the head.

The bodies of Pugh and the Stine woman were discovered early today by police summoned to the apartment by Hubert Benson, 28, of 712 Anaheim street, taxi driver, questioned with Gormen and a third cab driver, L. J. McCarthy, 26, of 905 Moore street.

In May, 1928, Pugh shot and fatally wounded Charles Beattie, 19, of 5116 Kincaid street, when the latter was alleged to have attempted to enter a building at Penn avenue and Church street, Wilkinsburg. After learning the victim's condition, he went to West Penn Hospital and spent some time with him. A week later he was exonerated by a coroner's jury.

ACTIVE IN KLAN

Pugh had not been seen since he left the Wilkinsburg Police Station shortly after midnight Monday. He had been on the Wilkinsburg police force six years. Four years ago he was made a lieutenant. At one time he was active in East Boroughs' Ku Klux Klan affairs.

The only clue to the relatives of Miss Stine was found in letters in her rooms from Morgantown, W. Va., one of them signed "Mother."

Two Killings Blamed On Gang War Here

"Mob killings" was the terse explanation detectives offered today as they delved into the shooting of Monastero, alleged gang leader, and stabbing of Lilo.

Monastero's murder, as he was entering St. John's Hospital, was witnessed by scores of persons. It was one of the most spectacular in Pittsburgh's gang history.

Steve Monastero fell, mortally wounded, but Sam ran toward his own car to procure a weapon. One of the gangmen jumped from the curtained machine, poured a clip of bullets from an automatic into Steve's head, and fled, successfully eluding three shots from Sam Monastero's pistol.

Several hours after Monastero's death, East End police found Lilo, 53, of 120 Maxwell way, lying in that street, 10 feet from Larimer avenue, unconscious from two stab wounds. He clutched a knife in his hand. Police are convinced he had been stabbed by another person, probably in a hand-to-hand struggle.

He died in Pittsburgh Hospital before he could be questioned. The man was wearing overalls, police said.

VISIT RACKET SUSPECT

The Monastero brothers went to the hospital to visit Charles Spallino, a friend who was recently operated upon for appendicitis, and who has himself stood trial, detectives said, for a racket murder, but was freed. He is at present on bail in another shooting in which the victim escaped death, police declared. Sam Monastero and several friends were arrested.

Boy Badly Hurt, Dragged by Cow

OIL CITY, Pa., Aug. 7.—(AP.)—George Drozda, 13, was seriously hurt when dragged by a cow he was leading. The lad, who was unconscious at a hospital, was found in a field some time after the accident.

Lucky Bucks—New Money for Old

By LUCKY BUCK.

Folks, I'm going to be instructive today. Y'know, I believe in educational movies, edcuational reading, educational dice, and everything educational. So now you have the educational Mr. Lucky Buck telling you things straight from the shoulder today.

The subject of today's lecture will be the distance Lucky Bucks travel. For instance, we have the case of Samuel P. Kanal, progressive young mortician, of 320 Phoenix street, McKees Rocks. He picked up Ten Buck Special No. Z642468S2D in the William Penn dining room Monday evening. I had spent it in a small restaurant on Wylie avenue that same evening.

And another of these ten-buck simoleons strayed from the Suburban Barber Shop, 534 California avenue, to Wilkinsburg, in some five hours, and was retrieved there by William Keffer, 1518 Center street, Wilkinsburg. That was V59370170D.

Then we have Mrs. Sue M. Addy, 302 Jucunda street, Knoxville, who went to market to buy a ticket for Atlantic City. Lucky Buck No. B53649226E wandered from Turtle Creek to Knoxville in two days, folks. How's that?

And don't forget the way that $100 special went from North Side at least to Altoona and probably farther, and back to Johnstown in 36 hours, being grabbed off on the wing by a Pittsburgh banker.

Of course, now, when you're real canny, like Mrs. Betty Douglas, 1126 Braddock avenue, you can haul 'em in without any trouble. Maybe it's because she's Scotch that Mrs. Douglas plans to sock the double sawbuck in the bank.

Helen Ayres, 14, feels more like spending her swag. Helen lives at 328 Bailey avenue, Mt. Washington, and is the daughter of that prominent Mt. Washington tooth-fixer, Dr. Robert Ayres, who probably took in Succulent Suskin No. B24271795E from a patient. Helen's going to Camp Almona, Indian Creek, on the proceeds, preparing for a hard year at South Hills High School.

John D. Kermes, folks, is crafty. That's just what I mean and you wouldn't have me take it back, would you? When a lot of these Craftonites tried to get Lucky Buck Z52068242D away from him, he hung on to it with farsighted tenacity. "Kismet," says Kermes.

Today, I scattered single smackers all around. One went into the sock of Bertha's Restaurant, 1715 Murray avenue; another went to the Brentwood Pharmacy, Brentwood boulevard; I plunked one into the mit of a dame at the Hazlett Drug Store, Pittsburgh avenue, Springdale.

A harvest was reaped by the Pleasant Valley Farms, near the new municipal airport, when I stopped and paid in full for five gallons of gas, after being turned down when I tried to give a Lucky Buck to a garage man in payment for changing a tire in Hays! And Wylie avenue should show some action, because a Lucky Buck was deposited at 1410 Wylie avenue, Woods Music Store, in the afternoon. Step high, wide, and handsome, brothers, and the boodle shall be yours.

These are today's new bills, worth 20 smackers each:

SHE REALLY CAN COOK!

MILDRED TRUXAL

Proof of the truth of that old, old adage—"The quickest way to a man's heart is through his stomach"—is the reason why Miss Truxal, 24, daughter of a Homestead contractor, today is Mrs. Paul Reeve, wife of the son of a millionaire dry cleaner and oil operator. She cooked for Paul, 25, when they were in adjacent Lake Erie camps and yesterday, less than two weeks later, they were married!

COOKING WINS GIRL HUSBAND

MEN GOT NEW COOK

Nearby was another camp where Miss Truxal and several other girls from Homestead also were vacationing.

For a few days Reeve and his companions did their own cooking, but they didn't know whether potatoes ought to be boiled, broiled, poached or just eaten raw. Then they had to call for help. They promised to pay $1 each if Miss Truxal would turn out three meals a day for them. She did.

SO, THEY WERE MARRIED

Reeve fell in love with her cooking from the start and the proverb, "The quickest way to a man's heart is through his stomach," proved itself again.

Miss Truxal returned to Homestead, Reeve to Cleveland. But last Monday he motored to Pittsburgh and asked Miss Truxal if she wouldn't cook for him for life. They were married yesterday by Rev. William Krapp, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Homestead, and immediately left for Cleveland on their honeymoon.

TONGS AGREE TO END WAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—A new peace treaty between the On Leong and Hip Sing tongs was signed early today by leaders of both organizations in the presence of United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle.

The signatures of the leaders were affixed at the close of a three-hour conference behind closed doors and in which the rewording of the old peace treaty played a considerable part.

The conference, begun at 10 o'clock last night, was the outgrowth of a previous session yesterday, during which tong leaders agreed to settle their difficulties, with Dr. Samuel S. Young, Chinese consul general in New York, acting as arbiter. It was in his office that the new treaty was made.

Mr. Tuttle announced that the new pact marked a fundamental change of policy on the part of Chinese in America, in that the rival tongs committed themselves to arbitration in the settlement of all future difficulties.

Washington Elks To Honor McCracken

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 7.—Washington Lodge 776, B. P. O. Elks, has arranged for a testimonial on Thursday, August 15, for L. T. McCracken, past exalted ruler and one of the most active Elks in the community. Mr. McCracken was largely instrumental in making successful the movement for the erection of the recently completed $200,000 Elks' home here.

Suspect in Bogeaus Gem Robbery Held

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—(AP).—Joseph Fiore was held to the grand jury under $15,000 bond in connection with robbery last June of Mrs. Benjamin E. Bogeaus, the former Ethelind Terry, in a Chicago hotel lobby. The actress lost $30,000 in jewelry.

New Bethlehem Man Killed by Mine Car

GRAF READY TO LEAVE TONIGHT

Favorable Weather Indicated For First Leg of Cruise From U. S. to Germany

The route has been announced as toward the northland, over Arctic regions, but weather conditions will decide changes in the course as the ship progresses over the northern wastelands.

The greatest immediate peril of the Graf was seen in her removal from the hangar. Every precaution has been taken to prevent wind causing damage as she is walked out to the mooring mast from her berth beside the Los Angeles.

SHIP TO BE GUARDED

With special trains running to the field from New York, Philadelphia and other points and thousands expected during the day to watch the final preparations for the takeoff, careful arrangements are being made for policing.

The orderly manner in which everything concerned with the arrival and now the departure of the ship has been carried out has aroused comment from everyone who has visited the field. The crowds have been perfectly orderly, the large number of newspapermen obedient to the reasonable requests of the authorities and the marines and sailors instantly responsive to commands.

The orderly picture is directly in contrast with the scene at the field on the Graf's first visit when marines found it necessary to use their sticks as the crowds broke through the lines.

MAIL POURS IN

Lieut. S. F. Reicheldorfer, aerologist at the naval station here, sees little prospects of strong winds for the start of the flight. The ship should swing easily at the mooring mast and at a signal from Dr. Eckener, release of her nose will free the Graf to point up and out into the regions she strains to reach.

From cities throughout the country, mail poured in to the field today. Letters are addressed to Germany, Japan, California and many are directed to be carried around the world and be returned to Lakehurst.

Early today the last of the ethane gas which furnishes fuel for the motors was pumped aboard. At the same time, 210 gallons of lubricating oil were taken on to replace that used on the Friedrichshafen-Lakewood hop. The used oil which still remained in the motors was not removed.

Eighteen passengers, including one woman, are expected to be aboard when the Zeppelin starts in addition to her usual crew of 41. Two pieces of "live freight"—a Boston bulldog and a baby alligator—will also make the trip.

WOMAN PASSENGER

The sole woman passenger is Lady Drummond Hay, of London, a veteran trans-Atlantic air traveler. She came over on the Graf's first trip to Lakehurst and has been a passenger on several of the airship's cruises in Europe.

William B. Leeds, son of the late multi-millionaire tin plate king and husband of Princess Xenia, of Russia, is another passenger who will make the world flight.

Commander Charles E. Rosendahl and Lieut. Jack C. Richardson will make the trip as official observers for the United States Navy.

GOLFER WINS TRIP

Two New Yorkers, William Weber and Nathan Wexler, are making the voyage as far as Friedrichshafen as the result of a golfing bet. They recently played a 36-hole match with the Zeppelin trip as a stake. Weber won. Wexler is paying both fares.

Joachim B. Rickard of Brockton, Mass., who arrived aboard the Graf Sunday night, is another passenger on the world flight. John E. Larney of Brooklyn, is going to make the trip "just for the ride." He was unable to get passage on the Zeppelin's first return trip to Friedrichshafen.

Other passengers expected to be aboard when the Zeppelin leaves, according to officials of the Hamburg-American Line are:

Sir George Hubert Wilkins, Otto Hillig, of Liberty, N. Y.; Count Albrecht Montgelas, of Berlin; Karl H. von Weigand, of New York and Berlin; C. P. Burgess, U. S. naval expert; Dr. Leister Kiep, of Berlin; Morris Shumofsky, of New Rochelle, N. Y.; Heinz von Eschwage-Lichberg, of Berlin; Count Alfred von Soden, of Berlin, and Dr. Walter Spiess, of Berlin.

The exact route Dr. Eckener will follow to Friedrichshafen has not been announced. It is believed he will go north up the New England coast and then turn east on a course just south of the regular European shipping lines.

From Friedrichshafen, the Graf will soar eastward over Europe and Siberia to Tokio. There another stop will be made before the hop over the Pacific to Honolulu. From Honolulu, the airship will proceed to San Diego, Cal., and thence back to the starting point here. Dr. Eckener expects to complete the world flight by September 3.

Mauretania Sets Record 2 Days In Row

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 7.—For the second time in as many days, the Cunarder Mauretania broke its record for a 24-hour run by steaming 687 miles between noon Monday and noon Tuesday, according to a radio message just received here from Captain S. G. S. McNeil, master of the liner. This average of 27.48 knots sets a new high mark for her best day's run, being seven miles greater than the record of the day previous.

The Cunard line spent $500,000 on improving the Mauretania last winter in her six weeks' tie-up at Southampton. She still has her original Scottish boilers, which are expected to remain good until 1935.

FRENCH DEFEND YOUNG PLAN

THE HAGUE, Aug. 7.—Great Britain's demand that the Young plan for reparation payments be revised so that the English would get a larger share of German annuities was opposed by France and Italy in The Hague conference of 1929 today.

French Minister of Finance Henri Cheron urged the Young plan be accepted in its present form. He submitted figures to show all the creditor nations lost money as a result of the Young plan compromise agreement, but declared such sacrifices were necessary.

Signor Mosconi, of Italy, who followed M. Cheron, declared the Young plan had been accepted in Paris as a compromise when it looked as though the reparation conference was going to break down completely. He said the Italians considered the Young plan as an indivisible whole, which could not be rearranged without injuring the balance achieved by its formulators.

The reparations fight was launched by Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer in the British Labor government, who declared that, while England was willing to abolish both war debts and reparations, if both were to be paid the British were determined to get just and equable treatment.

Lincoln Highway Travelers Injured

ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 7.—While traveling west on the Lincoln highway, D. B. Barton, of the Postoffice Department at Washington, D. C., and L. Sykes, also of Washington, D. C., were injured when their automobile was wrecked near Bedford. Both are patients in the Timmons Hospital at Bedford.

The tenth annual picnic of the Charles F. Anderson Club will be held in Wexford Park August 18. Frank Conners will be general chairman, aided by John Goodwin, John Feeny, Perry Blundon, Owen Fitzsimmons, Thomas Joyce and Max Spero.

LOTTERY DEALS BUYING HOME

"I am building a home and needed a little extra money," Elmer Elzer, a railroad brakeman, of 844 Suismon street, testified in Morals Court today in explaining why he dealt in lottery tickets.

Elzer was arrested yesterday, police testified, after C. P. Steele, of 1812 Walz street, drew a winning clearing house number and couldn't collect. Steele failed to appear at the hearing and forfeited $30. He had bought the ticket from a son of Mrs. Bertha Doege, proprietor of a confectionery at 1800 Walz street, who in turn had received a book of tickets from Elzer, she testified.

Elzer was fined $25 with the alternative of spending 30 days in jail by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg.

Scolded for Seizing Hickman, Is Charge

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 7.—(INS.)—An echo of the notorious William Edward Hickman case was heard today in the trial of C. C. Shirley, former policeman, who pleaded guilty to possession of a machine gun and was put on probation.

The ex-officer declared in court that he had arrested Hickman two hours after he was sought for the murder of Marion Parker, and that he took Hickman to Central Police station only to have his prisoner released by superior officers, who, he declared, berated him for bringing in the wrong man.

Garment Workers Sell Strike Bonds

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Another big business idea has been adopted by labor. The Garment Workers' Union announce a $250,000 bond issue to finance a walkout in December. They will bear 5 per cent and be repayable $50,000 a year for five years.

DRY AGENT'S BODY FOUND IN RIVER

Murder Charge Against Missing Skipper Looms; Victim's Head Battered

International News Service.

DETROIT, Aug. 7.—The body of Richard Sandlands, 30, federal prohibition agent who was drowned last Friday night, presumably when he fell from a boat while struggling with a suspected rum-runner, was recovered from the Detroit River today.

Discovery of the body opens the way for a charge of murder against John M. Heath, 26, who is reported to have told his attorney that he and Sandlands struggled after the officer had boarded his cruiser, the Maxine, that they both fell overboard and that Sandlands disappeared.

Heath has not been apprehended. His wife, Mrs. Maxine Heath, has appeared to give her story of the affair, but declares she does not know her husband's whereabouts.

HEAD BATTERED

Sandlands' body was found by special inspectors of the Treasury Department who had been dragging the river since Monday.

It was reported to Inspector Fred W. Frahm, head of the police homicide squad, that Sandlands' head was battered as if by blows from a club.

An autopsy will be held at the Wayne County morgue to determine whether the head injuries could have resulted in the agent's death.

WIFE TELLS STORY

Heath, a Detroit elevator mechanic, failed yesterday to keep an appointment to meet Gregory H. Frederick, chief assistant district attorney.

Mrs. Heath told Mr. Frederick yesterday that her husband had communicated with her and expressed a fear he might meet with violence if he appeared for questioning.

The official version of the affair was that Sandlands and Milton Larson, customs border patrol inspector, seized the cruiser early Saturday and that the latter went to report the seizure, leaving Sandlands to guard the boat and its occupants. When Larson returned, Sandlands, the Heaths and the cruiser were missing.

VOTE TO OUST BANKING HEAD

BIRMINGHAM, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—Six articles of impeachment charges were voted against Judge C. E. Thomas, state superintendent of banks, in a partial report returned by a Jefferson County Grand Jury which has been investigating closing of banks in the Birmingham district.

The six articles, handed to Judge Harrington P. Heflin by the grand jurors, were: Negligence, willful negligence, incompetency, misfeasance, malfeasance and disqualified for office.

Grand jury investigation of the closing of five banks in Birmingham and Jefferson County had been under way for nearly four weeks.

Heart Trouble Fatal To New Castle Man

ARCTIC WASTES TO BE TRACED BY GRAF

Unchartered Course Selected For Long Hop to Japan By Hearst-Eckener Ship

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND.
Famous correspondent who will make the Hearst-Zeppelin flight around the world and report the trip exclusively for the Hearst newspapers.

LAKEHURST, N. J., Aug. 7.—When the Graf Zeppelin starts tonight on a history-making, Hearst-Zeppelin round-the-world flight, Commodore Dr. Hugo Eckener will be something of a Magellan, blazing a new path through the trackless air around the globe. For, we will travel a route no man has travelled before. The thrills of the unknown, of exploration, the lure of paths uncharted, will be added to the commercial venture.

A complete departure of the route from Friedrichshafen to Tokyo—our very longest "leg" or "lap"—originally contemplated as outlined by me Sunday, has been decided upon. And that change brings visions of polar bears and frosty shivers. For, we may skirt the Arctic Circle.

"From Friedrichshafen we shall take course for Berlin, thence northeastward over East Prussia, possibly Latvia and Esthonia and out over the Baltic Sea to Finland," Capt. Ernst A. Lehmann, executive officer and flight commander, explained to me at the Sherry-Netherland.

ALONG "GREAT CIRCLE"

"I know we had in contemplation at one time the route you mentioned in your article Sunday, but we have decided upon a very far northern course along the 'Great Circle.'

"It is, of course, impossible to chart out a hard and fast course. Necessarily, it is altered by weather conditions as we naturally take advantage of all favorable wind currents and try to avoid the 'bad spots' on the weather map.

"Decisions on routes and courses, are, of course, wholly in the hands of Dr. Eckener. But, the course we have in view now will carry us possibly north of Leningrad, over a corner of Finland, perhaps not far south of Archangel, and as far north as the sixty-third degree.

"Thence we should swing slightly more southerly in our eastward course passing into Western Siberia anywhere from 300 to 600 miles north of Tobolsk and well to the north of Tomsk, leaving Yakutsk either to the north or south of us, and finally coming out in the Sea of Okhotsk. From there on we shall take a course almost direct south along the Island Sakhalien for Kasumiga-Ura, near Tokyo, in Japan."

QUICKEST ROUTE

Capt. Lehmann characterized that far northerly route the "shortest, safest, quickest and most interesting." It will mean that we shall pass over portions of Northern Siberia that perhaps no man has ever seen before.

"At this time of year the weather is stable there. Farther to the south, along the Trans-Siberian railway, there is more turbulence in the air and we would be likely to encounter more adverse winds and certainly much more rain, especially if, as first considered, we wanted to pass over the mountains out of Siberia into Manchuria at the lower end of Lake Baikal."

Contrary to general opinion, Capt. Lehmann said that the weather service of the Russian government in Siberia, is very good. Yakutsk has an important meteorological observation station and the course of the Graf Zeppelin through Northern Siberia will largely be charted on the wireless weather reports received from there.

Dr. Seilkopf, noted meteorologist and chief of the "Seewarte," the German Meteorological Institute in North Germany, will be chief of weather service on the Graf Zeppelin on the coming round-the-world flight. Dr. Seilkopf was stationed for some years in Yakutsk, made a study of weather conditions in Siberia and near-Arctic regions in that part of the globe and directed the weather report service for the flights of the German Lufthansa in the survey of the air route from Berlin to Shanghai, last year.

ADD SLEEPING BAGS

In view of the probability of this near-Arctic Circle course, some of us are adding sleeping bags and fur-lined boots to our aerial traveling kits, as a precautionary measure, offsetting to a large extent the Panama hats and light clothing that we shall need in Japan in August, and then again in Los Angeles.

The Sherry-Netherland of New York has undertaken the catering of the Graf Zeppelin for the entire round-the-world flight. In Tokyo, Sherry's will provision the airship through the famous Imperial Hotel and in Los Angeles through the Biltmore Hotel.

J. O. Voit, general manager of Louis Sherry, gave a luncheon yesterday in honor of Dr. Eckener on the thirty-sixth floor of the Sherry-Netherland Hotel.

GUEST OF HEARST

Lieut.-Com. Charles E. Rosendahl of the United States Navy, the guest of William Randolph Hearst on the round-the-world flight of the Graf Zeppelin, has arrived in New York from California.

"I am confident that the Graf Zeppelin, barring unforeseen conditions, can make the flight around the world on the course charted by Dr. Eckener and Capt. Lehmann," said Commander Rosendahl. "That I am looking forward to this extraordinary experience and that I am grateful to be one of the little band of Argonauts of the air on this voyage, would hardly express it."

Dr. Eckener and Capt. Lehmann, together with F. W. Von Meister, the New York representative of the Zeppelin works, were to leave for Lakehurst this morning.

Metal Furniture Bought by Mexico

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Commercial Agency of the Mexican government says: "In 1926 Mexico was the largest buyer of American metal furniture, its purchases mounting to $566,807. In 1928, Mexico bought from the United States $362,000 worth of metal furniture. Filing cases constitute the largest individual item of American metal furniture imported by Mexico. Its purchases last year, second only to those of Argentina, amounted to $114,704. Mexico's purchases of metal office furniture and fixtures from the United States have been increasing from 1924 to 1928."

Slayers of Guards Given Life Terms

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 7.—(INS)—Life imprisonment in San Quentin penitentiary was imposed on Martin Colson and Robert Lee Cochran for murdering two Mexican guards in the $80,000 robbery of an Agua Caliente money car on May 20.

Colson had made a dramatic plea that he be permitted to die on the gallows so that the life of Cochran might be spared. Both had pleaded guilty before Superior Judge Andrews.

SNOOK, HIS WIFE AND MOTHER TELL STORIES TO JURY

DOCTOR GAINS COMPOSURE ON STAND

counsel, examined the defendant's wife.

Mrs. Snook said she lived in Columbus before her marriage in September, 1922, and that she had known Dr. Snook 15 years.

NEVER HEARD OF THEORA

Asked as to his disposition, she said he was "quiet and even tempered."

"I never saw him angry or abusive," she said.

"Did you know of the relations of your husband and Theora Hix?

"Absolutely no."

"Did you ever hear her name mentioned?"

"No, I never did."

Her answers were given in a low, controlled voice.

"What was the condition of the home you shared with Dr. Snook as to parental relations?" Ricketts asked.

"They were normal."

"What change have you noticed in the last few years?"

"We haven't been much together."

"Did you see him on June 13?" Ricketts inquired.

"Yes," the witness replied.

"What time was it?"

"It was the morning of that day."

"Was he at home for dinner?"

"Yes, but I did not see him. I talked to him from upstairs. He came home again about 9 o'clock. I saw the lights on his car. I was at home until 9 o'clock when I went for a walk with my baby. We stopped to visit a Mrs. Cull."

"Did you return directly from there?"

"Yes. Then put the baby to bed."

Mrs. Snook's voice broke as she tried to keep up with Ricketts questions, but she struggled with her emotion and did not interrupt the examination.

"After I put the baby to bed, I came back downstairs and he was reading," she continued.

"What change have you seen in the demeanor or mental attitude of Dr. Snook in the last two years?" Ricketts asked.

"He hasn't been as talkative, but he reads a great deal," Mrs. Snook replied.

"Is there any difference in his nervous condition?" Ricketts persisted.

"He has been restless, that more than anything else," she said. "He did not sit or read long at any time."

Mrs. Snook said she was questioned five hours by Prosecutor John J. Chester, Jr.

"I was accused of the murder," she continued. "He said hair was found. He wanted to know if the strands of hair in the girl's hand compared with mine. He said the knife had been found in my kitchen. I told them I never did it. My attorney, Mr. Schanfarber, told them 'Go ahead then and arrest this girl.'"

The witness then was turned over to the state.

The courtroom was jammed to the doors as the witness testified. The spectators stood five deep around the walls. Except for the voices of Snook and the attorney and the hum of an electric fan, not a sound could be heard.

MET IN JUNE, 1926

Dr. Snook testified he first met Theora in June of 1926, when she was employed as a part-time stenographer in the public office at Ohio State University, where she was a medical student.

Asked if she knew he was a married man, Snook replied:

"Most of the girls there knew I was married."

Under questioning of Defense Attorney Max C. Seyfert, Snook testified he had given Miss Hix a revolver because she had told him of an incident when she was frightened in her room. He gave her the gun for self-protection. Snook himself was for years the world's best rapid-fire pistol shot.

THEORA GOOD SHOT

Calmly, almost nonchalantly, Snook told the jury how he had taught Miss Hix how to shoot. They used to go to the rifle range outside the city limits and practice. It was here that the girl was beaten and slashed to death on the night of June 13.

"She didn't know how to point the gun at first," Snook testified. "But she became a pretty good shot."

In great detail, Attorney Seyfert brought out just how adept Miss Hix became at shooting at moving as well as stationary objects.

The tall, bald-headed witness, a man of 49, with a florid face and nose glasses, and about 6 feet tall, answered questions promptly and in excellent English. His memory at this point seemed splendid.

Attorney Seyfert stressed the revolver practice because the defense contends that on the night Miss Hix was killed she reached for her hand bag during a quarrel and Snook thought she was going to shoot him.

Q.—When did your relations with Miss Hix become friendly?

A.—About three weeks after we met.

Q.—Did these relations continue?

A.—Yes through the summer of 1926 and the fall and winter of 1927.

CLASH OVER MEYERS

Snook was asked when he knew of the relationship between Miss Hix and Marion T. Meyers, one-time suitor of the co-ed, who was dismissed from the university faculty, after revelations which followed the slaying of Miss Hix.

A violent argument between opposing counsel ensued at that juncture. The state contended the defense, through the introduction of testimony regarding Meyers, was trying to blacken the character of the murdered girl.

The judge admonished the battling lawyers and Snook's testimony to continued. He was allowed to tell that Meyers had taken Miss Hix to Cleveland.

TELLS OF GIRL'S ARREST

Resuming his story of his relationship with the co-ed, Snook said he "saw Miss Hix once or twice a week" during October, 1927. Sometimes they went automobile riding; other times to a room.

Q.—What did Miss Hix tell you of her arrest with Meyers out on the River road?

A.—She merely said she was caught out on the road with Meyers and arrested.

Court adjourned at this juncture until 1:30 with Snook still on the stand.

Speed Trap at Sewickley Denied

Anyone who calls Sewickley a "speed trap" should take a look at the police blotter, according to authorities of the borough. There wasn't a single arrest for speeding in July, police assert.

U. S. Sailor Drowns, Buried in Hankow

SHANGHAI, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—John Duckhaber, of New Albany, Ind., second engineer of the shipping board freighter Triumph, was drowned at Hankow several days ago and was buried there with Masonic rites. The freighter arrived at Hankow on August 6 with a cargo of oil from Norfolk, Va.

Brother Saves Girl Overcome by Gas

DOVER, O., Aug. 7.—Overcome by fumes from a gas stove, Lena Googash, 13, Dover, was rescued by her brother, George, 15, on the bathroom floor, where she fell unconscious.

VIRGINIA NAMES CANNON FOE

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 7.—(INS.)—Virginia's political battle of the century, which is expected to reveal the degree of permanency of the Smith split in 1928, will be fought out between John Garland Pollard and Prof. William Mosely Brown, rival candidates for the governorship of the Old Dominion.

Pollard easily won the regular Democratic nomination in yesterday's statewide primary, trebling the vote of his two rivals, G. Walter Mapp and Rosewell Page. Prof. Brown is the candidate of the anti-Smith-Republican coalition, backed by Bishop James Cannon, Jr., the militant foe of Smith's presidential candidacy.

The campaign is expected to get under way immediately, and it will be a battle royal right down the line until November.

Bishop Cannon and his continued influence in Virginia politics is at stake. Many political observers consider the aggressive bishop "the real issue." Cannon led the bolt last year which resulted in Virginia going Republican for the first time since reconstruction days. Pollard stumped the state for Smith.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—(INS.)—A demand that the Department of Justice prosecute Bishop James Cannon, Jr., for violation of the corrupt practices act was laid on Attorney General Mitchell's desk today by Representative George Holden Tinkham (Rep.), of Massachusetts.

Tinkham accuses the bishop of having violated the federal law in his financial management of the anti-Smith campaign in the South last election.

It is Tinkham's contention that Cannon financed the activities of the anti-Smith committee with loans from the Southern Methodist Church's board of temperance, and violated the corrupt practices act by not filing a return with the clerk of the House, as other political organizations are required to do.

Air Speed Champion Dies in Plane Crash

BORDEAUX, France, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—Lieut. Bonnot of the French army, selected by the ministry of air to pilot the French entry in the coming Schneider Cup races at Calshot, England, was killed late yesterday when the airplane in which he was training for the speed test was wrecked in leaving the airfield here. Bonnot was the holder of the world speed record for land airplanes.

Neighbors Haul Hay on Farm Of Cripple

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 7.—Through the assistance of friends in the Scenery Hill vicinity, John Fulton, farmer, who fractured a leg last spring while operating a tractor, has had his hay crop gathered. Fifty-five persons, raked, pitched, and hauled the hay. In two days 40 acres were cut and placed in mows and stacks.

First of Suits Over Vestris Sinking Filed

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—(INS)—The first suit growing out of the sinking of the Lamport and Holt liner Vestris was filed here in the Supreme Court and others are expected to follow.

Damages are sought in the suit filed on behalf of the husband and four minor children of Iris Johnson, Negro, who was drowned when the Vestris sang last November. The complaint charges negligence in that the Vestris was sent to sea in an unseaworthy condition, the conclusion reached by the British board of trade in its recent inquiry.

SEEK TRANSFER OF POWER SUIT

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 7.—(AP.)—The International Paper and Power Company, joint defendants in a $2,500,000 damage suit brought by William Lavarre in Richland County Court of Common Pleas, filed a petition asking removal of the suit to Federal District Court. Bond of $500 for the removal was posted, but no date for arguments was suggested.

Reasons given in the petition for removal are that the suit is monetary in character, that it exceeds $300,000 and that the principals are residents of different states.

Dog Ordered Tied After Biting Child

Marie Breman, 19 months, of 88 South Twenty-fourth street, was bitten on the right hand by a dog last evening while playing in front of her home. The wound was cauterized at St. Joseph's Hospital. Marie Glausser, 2331 Sidney street, alleged owner of the dog, was ordered to tie up the animal for two weeks.

Woman Wills $1,000 To Pleasant Clerk

MEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 7.—(INS.)—An "old-fashioned" grocery clerk, who for 30 years has made it a rule to meet his customers with a cheerful smile, today was richer by $1,000. The will of Mrs. Manie L. Robinson bequeathed $1,000 to J. Albert Young, of this city, "for his kindness in waiting on me at the store."

HELEN HAYES, STAR OF STAGE, PLANS TO MAKE FILM ERE YEAR CLOSES

By DOROTHY HERZOG.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 7.

FROM excellent authority, this flick bureau is given to understand that Helen Hayes, W. K. Broadway star, plans to make at least one picture this fall.

Miss Hayes came to the coast some weeks ago to play a limited engagement in her current legit hit, "Coquette." Her husband, Charlie McArthur, former newspaperman and co-writer of "Lulu Belle" and "The Front Page," is in ye village penning stories for R-K-O.

It is whispered that both M-G-M and Famous Players are flirting with Miss Hayes. She will make no definite plans, however, until a certain expected event in her family.

Ruby Keeler

Their real name department: Al Jolson—Asa Yoelson.

Speaking of Al Jolson, word reaches ye colony from Manhattan that his wife, Ruby Keeler, has rallied after an operation and is coming along nicely. Al will bring Ruby to the coast as soon as she is able to stand the long, hot jaunt across country. He is slated to begin work next month in his next Warner flick, "Mammy."

How to Insult A Film Exek

They do be tellin' how a certain sinner-star accepted an invitation from a sinner-exek to spend the eve at his home playing poker. The S. S. played quite late. When he had lost $4,000, he shoved his chair back and reckoned as how he'd hit the trail.

"Walt a while," quoth the exek. "I'll give you a chance to lose another grand."

"Oh, yeah," the star smiled. "I think not. But I'll tell you what I will do. Give me a paper cutter and I'll cut the pages of the books in your library."

Cousin of Bow In Her Picture

Didst know that Clara Bow's youthful cousin, William, is emoting in her new celluloider? Um, and he gets screen credit ter boot. Billy resembles Clara slightly, only he's taller.

Sigh on rear of dilapidated Ford roadster: "Keep your temper. We don't want it."

Lupe Velez upped and built herself a home in Bev Hills and scarcely a soul knew about it. She has moved into it from her Laurel Canyon hacienda. Yes, and the eagles Gary Cooper gave her as pets went, too. "Gary," she explains intensely, "He says eagles moost come. So I have beeg cage built. She cost $300. OOOO! "But Lupe beams when she describes her dining-room. And her bedroom—well, that is 29 feet long. Just a good tramp.

Lupe Velez

Lupe, at the nonce, is emoting the name part in "Tiger Rose," the outloud George Fitzmaurice is megaphoning for Warners, with Monte Blue the big boy and Grant Withers featured. Lupe views the talkies with vast enthusiasm but wary respect.

"Mean to Me," Says La Velez

"Meestair Fitzmaurice," saith the Velez, "sumtime he treat me mean. Yes, he walk on me. But I wurk hard for heem. I theenk Meestair Fitzmaurice a verree great director. Ooo, how I would like to make another peekshur with heem."

Monte Blue

Monte Blue is playing the role in the reeler "Rose" that Willard Mack created on Broadway when Lenore Ulric acted the title. Monte recollected that while the troupe was locationing in the Yosemite, the men had one shower bath to share amongst them. lined up all the An Indian chief with long black hair was in the flick. One day, after waiting five minutes or so to get in, Monte banged on the door and marched in. A nude figure with back to the door was under the shower, a mop of black hair piled high on head. Monte beat it out of that room like a bullet shot from an automatic.

"My lawd, there's a woman in there," Monte gasped to the first man he ment.

YANKEE SCOUTS SEE SIGHTS

Eagle Scout Clark B. Johnston, of Crafton, who has received many honors as an ideal Scout, is reporting details of the International jamboree at Birkenhead, England, for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. His cabled news reports will be published exclusively in the Sun-Telegraph.

By CLARK B. JOHNSTON,
Eagle Scout,
Correspondent, Sun-Telegraph.

BIRKENHEAD, Eng., Aug. 7.—A lull in activities connected with the Jamboree gave us an opportunity yesterday to visit Liverpool. We were accompanied by two boys from California. It was a wonderful trip, and we were particularly fortunate in being shown a statue of the Virgin by Guido del Robbia, a beautiful piece of porcelain made in the fifteenth century.

The museum proved very interesting, but seemed small after having scen the one in New York.

Fish and chips, a typical English dish, formed part of our dinner. We ate at a regular fish chip shop. They served us French fried potatoes, bread and tea along with the fish chips.

In an antique shop we met Louis Josephs of Boston. He purchased an antique pistol for a pound sterling and then told us to flip pennies for it. Chuck Carver won. The antique dealer, noting the chagrin of the rest of us, gave each an African paddle. These are engraved wood, about 6 feet long.

Boy Scouts who are interested—and all of the thousands in Western Pennsylvania are interested—in this biggest event in the history of Scoutdom will find exclusively in the Sun-Telegraph news written for them by one of their own Scouts. Scout Johnston will feature the news which he as a Scout knows will be of special interest to Scouts here. Watch the Sun-Telegraph for his articles.

Washington Grange To Aid Dedication

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 7.—Women of the Washington County Grange, who raised about one-tenth of the $100,000 pledged by the State Grange toward the erection of a girls' memorial dormitory at Pennsylvania State College, will take a prominent part in the dedication of the edifice on Wednesday, August 14. Mrs. W. D. Phillips, of near this city, now secretary of the household economics committee of the state organization, was chairman of the county group which had charge of the campaign, a total of $8,375 being raised.

Anne Forrest Coming To Pitt for Week

PLANE CRASHES IN ALLEY, 3 DIE

CAMPBELLSVILLE, Ky., Aug. 7.—(AP.)—A barnstorming student pilot's airplane crashed in the center of the business district here late yesterday, and the flier and his passengers, two Campbellsville business men, were killed. The dead are Francis Mitchell, 25, the pilot, Louisville; Carl E. Carter, 23, drug store owner, and Flave Courts, 23, clerk in Carter's store.

Hundreds of persons saw the plane falter at a height of about 500 feet, go into a spin and careen to the ground. Flames leaped from the wreckage and lapped the walls of buildings in the alley where the plane struck. The town fire department and a number of volunteers fought the flames.

Mitchell and Irwin Voight, 22, Jeffersonville, Ind., flew the plane here yesterday, rented a field and started taking passengers on short flights.

Mitchell, the son of W. W. Mitchell, traveling salesman, had only about 25 solo flying hours to his credit and was not a licensed pilot, an inquiry at Louisville developed.

The plane was owned by Voight. He bought it after it crashed last fall near Glasgow, Ky., and had been repaired.

....THE ANSWER

I KNOW A BOOK which should be a "best seller," providing it were for sale—but it isn't. It is a little booklet given free by the Pittsburgh Natatorium, helpfully describing methods of developing the ideal body. It is called "Body Culture." In order to meet the demand of modern women for scientific care of the body, the Pittsburgh Natatorium has compiled a booklet describing the various devices in use in their body cultural laboratories, with their effects on physical and nervous systems. Charts and measurements for the ideal proportions of men and women are furnished, together with carefully compiled advice on reducing and building. With especial attention to the modern woman, this booklet tells you about Burdick Body Culturors, Burdick Light Baths, Ultra-Violet and Infra-Red Baths, in simple parlance. "Body Culture" may be had free by writing for it or calling in person at the

'Fast Mail,' Stage Thriller, Radio Feature Tonight

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

OF ALL the clattering, ear-splitting noises that have been tried in radio dramatization we believe the effects engaged by Hank Simmons for "The Fast Mail" over WJAS at 8 p. m. will take the prize. A poster on the "Maybelle" declares that the audience will hear the "wild ringing of a locomotive's bell, the shriek of its whistle and the roar of the fast train as it thunders down the track." Wow!

In the early days when plays were plays "The Fast Mail" was never popular with the usual run of stock companies because of the unusual amount of mechanical props and effects. We imagine it will be something like George Sharp's "Ghost Train" which was put on the air from the Pitt Theater a few years ago. And it was a hair-raiser!

The youth who has given us "Hallelujah," "Tea for Two," "I Want to Be Happy," and other musical comedy hits, will be honored by the Mobiloil Orchestra, WCAE at 8.

We want to be in the Happy Bakers' "Flower Garden." WCAE at 8:30, as well as a radio spectator at the production of the Gilbert and Sullivan Opera, "Pirates of Penzance," at 10:30.

"Dixie Echoes" is the title of a new WJAS series to be inaugurated at 10:30 o'clock.

Target practice by the Flit Soldiers should be productive of wit, humor and song, KDKA at 9 p. m.

We Now Present

Coming: Graham McNamee will give a description of the junior world series in Louisville on September 4. More than 300,000 boys under 17 years old are now battling it out on more than 2,000 teams for the right to compete in the Louisville event, which will be broadcast in Pittsburgh either by KDKA or WCAE.

Radio Romance: Rosalind Shields, secretary to the director of home economics at KDKA, met Joseph E. Bandino, station engineer, about a year ago, and there developed a friendship that became life everlasting. They have returned from a honeymoon in New York and the New England states. The KDKA staff will fete them tomorrow night at a party in Frick's Woods.

"Ready the latter part of this week," sputtered Walter "Red" McCoy, chief engineer of WJAS, as he emerged from one of the subterranean outlets at the new control house on the Steubenville pike. Always a hustler, "Red" has been working day and night to put the new transmitter on the air.

Jerry Cooper is the new voice you hear on WCAE programs . . . "Howdy" Clark, manager of WJAS, is one of the "earliest birds" in Pittsburgh radio . . . he's on the job every morning at 7 o'clock . . . and sometimes he quits at 11 in the evening . . . Under H. J. Brennan, supervisor, he has done many wonderful things for the station and is especially efficient because he is a capable manager and knows technical radio . . . Pleased with the voice you hear on the KDKA Slumber Music announcement? Robert Saudek is the youth. He's a Harvard man.

Pioneer Woman Dies At East Riverside

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 7.—Mrs. Maggie Barber, 55, of East Riverside, died yesterday at her home. She was a pioneer resident of Fayette County.

JEALOUS MAN SLAYS WIFE

NEWARK, O., Aug. 7.—Charles Everspaugh, 30, shot and killed his wife, Elizabeth, at their home late yesterday. Jealousy was given as the cause. They have been separated for the past three months.

While motoring from work, Everspaugh met his wife and induced her to ride home with him. Inside the house they quarreled. When she ran out the front door towards a neighbor's house, he fired two shots at her. One bullet struck her in the head and she fell dead.

The man then turned the weapon on himself and fired, but only a flesh wound resulted. He is under arrest in the City Hospital. The slain woman leaves three children, 3, 6 and 8 years old.

Flier Plans Route Along Allegheny

FRANKLIN, Pa., Aug. 7.—T. Hubbard Morgan, piloting a seaplane at Conneaut Lake, but whose home is in Kittanning, announces that a company is being formed to provide air service in the Allegheny valley, from Oil City and Franklin south to Pittsburgh.

If Franklin goes forward with its airport, this can be accomplished, he declares. Morgan is due next week to create interest in the project of a regularly established flying service down the Allegheny.

Three Men Hurt In Eye Within Three Days

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Aug. 7.—Three similar accidents were suffered by three men in various parts of Greene County within three days of each other. All were eye injuries. The victims were U. G. Ingham, Waynesburg blacksmith, who had a piece of horseshoe metal lodged in his eye; I. B. Orndoff, Holbrook farmer, who suffered a similar injury while repairing farm machinery, and Matthew Hennan, of Jollytown, whose eye was punctured by a sliver of steel from a wagon axle.

Spanish War Vets To Meet at Conneaut

FRANKLIN, Pa., Aug. 7.—Veterans of the Spanish-American War will meet in reunion August 9 at Conneaut Lake Park. The Fifteenth and Sixteenth Regiments, which were recruited from Northwestern Pennsylvania, will be represented, and General George C. Rickards, who was second in command of the old Sixteenth will be the principal speaker of the occasion.

Gifford Will Pay Wife $1,666 Month

RENO, Nev., Aug. 6.—(AP.)—Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, who was divorced here by Mrs. Florence Pitman Gifford, has agreed to pay alimony of $1,666.66 a month until the death or remarriage of Mrs. Gifford.

Self-Defense Plea In Family Shooting

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 7.—Charles Miller, aged 40, Bishop, who shot his brother-in-law, Peter Valanis, 45, of Noblestown, is being held under $1,000 bail pending the outcome of Valanis' wounds, although county authorities have accepted the theory that Miller fired in self-defense. The shooting occurred near the Miller home.

Mine Motor Wrecks, Collier Man Killed

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 7.—Andy Kozel, 23, of Collier, was killed while at work in the Filbert mine, when the motor he was driving overturned and crushed him beneath it. He was unmarried.

Three Brownsvilles Picnic at Kennywood

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 7.—Two special trains will carry thousands of Brownsville folks to Kennywood Park, tomorrow, where the annual picnic and outing will be staged. The event, sponsored each year by the South Brownsville, Brownsville and West Brownsville fire departments promises to be the most successful ever held by the companies.

Hand Badly Hurt In Washing Machine

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 7.—When her hand was caught in a washing machine wringer, Mrs. Mary Laskey, Brownsville, suffered severe injuries. She will recover use of the hand, physicians said.

ESSEX

the reliability Car of the year!

"Reliability" is dominantly associated with all that Essex the Challenger stands for.

Its notable speed and performance ability are made possible by that quality. The experience of more than 200,000 owners, with the lowest record of service cost and requirements, has established it outstandingly as "the Reliability Car of the Year."

The winning of the Tour de France reliability classic, in which two Essex Challengers were the only cars to make perfect scores, in a field of high-priced American and European entries, is but dramatic evidence of the kind of reliability every Essex owner knows.

Essex records are country-wide. No matter where you live, you will probably find the outstanding reliability event of your locality is held by Essex the Challenger. Exclusive Super-Six design and the sturdy, fine car way it is built are responsible for this position.

Silent roller valve tappets, gas-cooled valves, chain drive for generator, gasoline and air filters for carburetor, and oil-strainer filter are among the many items of costly car construction that contribute to the smooth, quite and long-lasting operation of Essex the Challenger.

More than 1,500,000 owners know the special advantages of the Super-Six. In Fast Getaway—no car is excepted. In Speed—anything the road offers up to 70 miles an hour. In Endurance—60 miles an hour, for hour after hour, is well within its range.

The strangest legend in the Tire Business

MAYBE the fellow who started it was up against it for a sales argument.

Maybe he despaired of putting over his proposition against the better merchandise of competition on the basis of values alone.

At any rate, he sprung it on the unsuspecting customer and other fellows in his same fix doubtless picked it up as a good line and passed it along.

And so we have today the strangest legend in the tire business, that time-worn misstatement "All tires are about alike."

Of course it isn't true or all tires would give about equal service and be about equally popular.

But like those other old-timers to the effect that a rattlesnake won't crawl over a hair-rope, or that seeing a red-headed girl and a white horse will bring luck, its currency persists with a gullible few.

One thing about it, however, is significant—you never hear a Goodyear user say it.

He knows from personal experience that no tire in the world is like a Goodyear Tire and in his enthusiasm he doesn't hesitate to say so.

YOU may not be a Goodyear user, and so may have been denied his advantages—maybe you even suspect secretly there may be something to the legend.

If this is so, both you and we are lucky, for you are the very man we're patiently trying to reach:

If "all tires are about alike" why do you suppose the leading manufacturers of motor cars use more Goodyear Tires for original equipment than any other kind?

If "all tires are about alike" why do you suppose the cost-wary owners of the great truck fleets of industry use more Goodyear Tires than any other kind?

If "all tires are about alike" why do you suppose the purchasing experts of the urban, interurban and transcontinental bus lines use more Goodyear Tires than any other kind?

If "all tires are about alike" why do you suppose it is true this year as for fourteen years past that "more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind"?

THERE'S only one acceptable answer to questions like these, and that is, Goodyear Tires are definitely superior in quality and value and informed tire buyers know it.

That is why the percentage of gain in sales of Goodyear Tires last year was nearly three times the percentage of gain in sales recorded for the whole tire industry.

That is why Goodyear, although one of the youngest of the big rubber manufacturers, has grown to be the largest rubber company in the world.

NO, good friend, "all tires are NOT alike," as you will learn to your profit when you try Goodyear Tires.

And since Goodyear Tires cost little if anything more to buy than other tires, why not improve the opportunity and try them right away?

Tread and carcass: these are the two main parts of a tire. There is greater traction in the Goodyear All-Weather Tread. There is greater vitality in the Goodyear Supertwist carcass. Evidence? Any Goodyear Dealer will demonstrate. Proof? "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind"!

PATRICIA PITT'S SOCIAL COMMENT

Miss Holmes To Be Guest At Dinner

THE crispness in the air these days make one most autumnal minded, don't you agree? Hallowe'en festivities, the harvest season with its smell of newly cut hay, and sociability seem to be in the air. Of course we know we're having just a foretaste of what I consider the loveliest season of the year, but we're as thankful as the most orthodox Pollyannas for a respite from the enervating heat usually brought by August.

Besides thinking of fall clothes, now that all the glories of newly decorated shop windows are making our summer wardrobes look faded and bedraggled, we are thinking of the gaiety in store for us. And now many more plans are being made for the coming fall and winter.

And there are lots of plans to hear about, since a number of entertainments will be given for the debutantes in addition to the usual debut teas and balls.

HILL BURGWIN, of University Place, will entertain, I happen to know, for his debutante niece, Mary Blair Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Horne Holmes, of Devonshire street. On Saturday night, December 7, he will give a dinner at the Pittsburgh Golf Club. And later in the evening his guests will join in the usual club Saturday night dance.

ALTHOUGH most of our society set will be away until early September, a few are coming home now. Margaret Brill, sub-debutante daughter of the Alfred P. Brills, of St. James street, will be home Monday, I hear, from Beaumaris, Canada. She is the guest there of Betty McKay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. McKay, of Morewood avenue.

FROM now on there'll be fall weddings to think about, too. One of the first autumnal nutials will be in early September. Sara Louise Gwinner, daughter of the Edward William Gwinners, of Fifth avenue, has named Wednesday, September 18, as the date for her marriage to Frederick Eaton Crispin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gearhart Crispin, of New York.

Last night Sara left for Berwick, Pa., where she'll be the guest of the Crispins at their summer home. On Monday Mrs. Crispin will give a bridge and luncheon for Sara and Laurie Tenney Klock, daughter of the M. Krouse Klocks, of Syracuse, N. Y., who will marry Benjamin Eaton Crispin, another son of the Crispin family, a week after Sara's wedding.

Sara also will go to Allenhurst, N. J., to be the guest of her fiance's grandmother, Mrs. Frederick Eaton. And on August 15 Mrs. Eaton will entertain with a bridge luncheon for Sara and Laurie Klock.

UNITED STATES SENATOR DAVID AIKEN REED, of this city, and Washington, is now at Hot Springs, where Mrs. Reed has been for some time.

The Christian Ihmsen Shannons, of Sewickley, will leave this week, I hear, for Ahmic Lake. They'll be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Davis.

Up in Blue Hills, Me., is Nancy Shaw Miller, daughter of the William Booth Millers, of Pine street. She's the guest of Lida Milliken.

On Saturday the Richmond F. Balls, of Sewickley, will leave for a three weeks' visit at Hot Springs, Va.

MISS HARRIET PHILLIPS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Phillips, of Baum boulevard, whose marriage to George Mehaffey, of Brookline, will be solemnized August 24 in Calvary Episcopal Church, will have her cousin, Miss Betty Donnell, for her maid of honor. Samuel J. Mehaffey, Jr., is to be his brother's best man and the ushers will include Andrew Shirley and Clayton Pinkerton. A reception at the Rittenhouse will follow the ceremony.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. JOHN HILL WALLACE, of Francisco street, Sheraden, have made known the marriage of their daughter, Miss Eleanor Jane Wallace, and Thomas McKee Jones, son of George Jones, of West Park, which was solemnized August 2. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will make their home in West Park.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the marriage of Miss Verna R. Gilchrist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Gilchrist, of East End avenue, Wilkinsburg, and George H. Burford, son of Mrs. E. H. Burford, of Mt. Lebanon, which was solemnized Saturday in Meadville by the Rev. Dr. W. L. McEwan. Mr. and Mrs. Burford are motoring through New York and after October 1 will be at home in Pennsylvania boulevard, Mt. Lebanon.

THE wedding of Miss Nancy LaVerne Lawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Lawson, of Midway, and John P. Toward, son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Toward, of McDonald, took place Saturday evening in the Lawson home, with the Rev. L. G. Richey, pastor of the McDonald Methodist Episcopal Church, officiating. The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, F. A. Howe, of Burgettstown, wore ivory crepe embroidered with seed pearls and carried a shower of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Lady Hay Awed at World Flight Prospect

By LADY DRUMMOND HAY,
Only Woman Who Will Make the Round-the-World Flight in the Graf Zeppelin.

LAKEHURST, N. J., Aug. 7.—The "greatest adventure"—that is how I feel about this round-the-world flight of the airship Graf Zeppelin, due to start from the Statue of Liberty tonight.

Snugly housed in the giant airship dock at Lakehurst, roommate of the hospitable Los Angeles, the Zeppelin will rise from the ground at Lakehurst, but the "one, two, three, now she's off!" must be reserved for the moment when her silver beauty salutes the monument to America's charter of liberty as she streaks eastward through the trackless air across the pathless ocean.

"How do you feel?" everyone asks me curiously these days. Even in this age of marvels it is a superlatively great adventure to circle the whirling earth in the air like a man-made satellite of a planet—to speed twixt Heaven and earth, land and sky, in defiance of the law of gravitation and God-begotten elements. That is why I think of it with a decided degree of awe and wonderment, and why I cannot lightly dismiss my anticipation as a "thrill."

The very idea itself is colossal, presumptuous in a way, if you look at it from the Almighty's point of view. I am not the least bit nervous, firmly believing in a successful outcome of this epoch-making expedition which comet-wise will blaze a glittering trail for all the lighter-than-air craft now under construction and for future experiment.

"If you're not thrilled or excited about the world flight, you must be terribly blase," my friends retort me with impatience.

But it is not easy to explain what I really do fear. Eager? Oh! Yes, intensively eager. Happy? Happiest! Absorbedly interested. Above all, profoundly grateful for the opportunity and privilege of taking part in the great flight. Effervescent emotion is absent—it would be out of place anyhow, since the undertaking, however lightly one may pretend to regard it, is decidedly serious.

Scientific Value

It will surely be the most marvelous experience of my already crowded life. Romantic in the sense that it is the quintessence of romance, past, present and future. Pioneering like Christopher Columbus, Marco Polo, Magellan, Capt. Cook, the bygone explorers and pioneer navigators; as important to civilization as the first steamboat crossing of the Atlantic; as scientifically significant to this mechanical age as the radio, television or "talkies;" with the promise of limitless commercial possibilities, maturity of this infant enterprise may help to revolutionize international communication.

Daring shuttle-wise through the faded fabric of the ageless continents, our silver path will add a gleaming new thread to the tapestry of twentieth-century modernization. And that is not all. What about us, inside the shuttle! The harmonious beauty of perfected machinery, pulsating to the inarticulate command of man; titillation of the piquante novelty of living for three weeks in the air; inestimable education of human contacts in circumstances strange and new; mental renaissance and test of morale at beings cut off from earthly and human vibrations and thought-currents for days on end in the eloquent silences of space; an Olympic perspective of the world, and lilliputian estimate of our own size and value in contrast to the vastnesses of infinity. I, for one, believe that the world-flight holds in store for all of us, the psychological value of a spiritual and mental rebirth.

Caps Life of Travel

I cannot feel thrilled or excited about it, because it can mean so much. It will mean so much to me. I have encircled the world by train, steamer and automobile, earth-bound to the elements of land and water. Peoples white, yellow, brown and black I know, their works, their culture and civilization. How will they look from the crest of a cloud? Will it change my sense of values?

Already through a life of travel and wide association, I have lost of space, distance, race-barrier, and in a degree—time. On every occasion of my travel by air, I have registered some new mental freedom. How will it be traveling round the world, of it, but not on it, in some three short weeks? The checkered panorama of weal and woe, prosperity and suffering, peace and war, mountain and valley, desert and ocean, ice-field and sun-scorched plain, renaissance and decay, Christianity, Islam, Buddhism, Paganism; through looming war-clouds, and the tender dawn of national aspirations? How much of all this will we feel from the skies? WHAT ARE WE GOING TO LEARN FROM THE FLIGHT? I am both thrilled and excited about THAT.

Weather Conditions.

The disturbance that was centered over Oklahoma and Missouri yesterday morning, and which appeared to indicate showers for the Ohio Valley states, moved southward into Texas and practically disappeared from the map. There were light showers in Western Tennessee and Kentucky, and westward over Missouri, Arkansas and Kansas and moderately heavy rains in Colorado and the panhandle of Texas. High barometer centered over the Great Lakes, covers most of the northern half of the country, while the pressure is relatively lower over the southern half, and over the far West. The temperature changes were slight.

River Conditions.

The rivers are about stationary. Stage at Pittsburgh is 10.0 feet; Dam No. 2, 8.4; Dam No. 6, 7.4; Dam No. 9, 8.2, and Dam No. 12, 4.4. The dams are up.

Largest Water Bird

THE albatross is the largest of the water birds, its wings often measuring more than 10 feet from tip to tip. It lives mostly on the wing, following a ship for days, lighting on the water only to snatch a bite of food.

Noel Veritzen Tells Madge Everything.

THERE was such deliciously boyish naivete in Noel Veritzen's question concerning marriage without love that I would have been hugely amused had my ear not caught the accents of real desperation in his voice. The boy's emotional need of some understanding soul was patent and my reply was prompt.

"My belief always has been that only a great love should be solemnized by marriage," I said quietly, but with emphasis. "But—am I wrong in thinking you have some personal and urgent reason for asking the question? Can you tell me about it?"

His naturally pale face suddenly was crimson, and I saw that he was facing something innately distasteful to him. I reminded myself grimly about the old saying concerning the relative merits of executing a sheep and a lamb, and resolved to spare him as much of the ordeal as possible.

"Would it make it easier for you?" I asked softly, "if I told you that I already know what Miss Jackson asked of you yesterday?"

His fingers suddenly tightened upon his after-dinner coffee cup, of unusual fragility for a restaurant, and the next instant the handle had snapped and the cup dropped to the floor.

"Steady," I whispered warningly as our waiter hurried over, and Noel pulled himself together, accepted the fresh cup the man proffered and gave him a courteous direction to include the cost of the shattered one in the bill.

"Thank you," the boy said gratefully when the man had left us again. "Then do you also know who she really is?"

"I have known for some time that she is Princess Olina, of Transylvania," I returned. "Am I right in thinking you did not know it until yesterday?"

"She told me yesterday," he replied, then after a second's pause broke out impulsively.

"That makes it so utterly impossible, Mrs. Graham. If she were not a princess, if she didn't have everything in the world, if she—needed me, perhaps I could make myself do as she wished—even though—perhaps—things might be—brightening for me—"

His voice trailed away confusedly, but I knew that he was visioning Mary's unusual friendliness to him at our impromptu dance on the night of the Brixton visit. And yet with that prospect of happiness opening before him, his chivalry could consider marrying another girl because she "needed" him!

I felt an irritated impulse to smack him soundly, and with difficulty kept annoyance out of my voice as I answered him.

"I think you need sane advice more than any person I know," I said slowly, looking at him steadily. "Will you forgive me if I talk very plainly to you and ask you some pertinent—rather pertinent—questions?"

His brown eyes, the possession of which any girl would have envied him, held the expression of a bewildered collie which suddenly sees a familiar face.

"Don't you know that you can say anything you like to me?" he said fervently, and I smiled a bit grimly.

"I shall take full advantage of that permission," I told him. "First, we'll clear a few cobwebs away. You have no right to marry the Princess Olina. It would be unwise if you loved her. As you don't it would be unthinkable, even if she loved you, which she doesn't."

I was watching him narrowly. Most modern young men would have Betrayed a touch of chagrined vanity at this information, even though it meant release from an unwelcome troth. But there was nothing save ecstatic relief in Noel Veritzen's eyes.

"Oh, Mrs. Graham," he breathed. "How—"

"How do I know?" I finished, smiling as he stopped abruptly. "You might employ those overworked words 'feminine intuition,' for want of anything better. She not only doesn't love you—although no doubt she is firmly convinced just now that she cannot live without you—but she really is in love with the young man whom you know as George Jackson."

His face shadowed at that name, and the relief it had mirrored was tinged with bewilderment.

"He is also masquerading?" he asked, adding with quick apprehension. "Who is he then?"

I told him, and he repeated the other's name and the title slowly.

"Prince Georges, nephew of the King of Trees." Then with quick fierceness. "Does Mary know?"

"Yes, Mary knows," I answered, understanding the fear which had sprung into his eyes, the dread that his beloved would be dazzled by the young prince's rank and romantic setting. I was trying to plan the best way of obeying Lillian's mandate and telling him of Mary's engagement when a lilting voice which held a note of panic sounded from the veranda outside:

"Oh! not here, Georges! I didn't know we were coming here."

Castles—Sand and Air

By Truda Dahl

©1929, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.

A PICTURE worthy of the brush of the most famous artist—this group of a mother and her cherubs! Some there are who may pity her because she's missing the joy and thrill of good times! But as she watches these others playing and romping on the sands, building the air castles over which she herself once dreamed, she's more than piteous of them. They have no tiny hands to guide in the building of the sand castles; no little arms to go around their necks and no moist lips to brush their cheeks and whisper, "Muvvie, I love you!"

These are the inhabitants of her dream castles come to life. What a joy it's going to be to watch over and help them build! And as for being envious, she's far happier and more contented than are those who pity her being so "tied down," for love's fetters are the dearest and never irksome.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

The Sweet and Low Down

NO HUSBAND considers himself thoroughly "understood" unless his wife appreciates why and when he needs a cocktail.

Success is what enables a woman to remain an old maid all her life or to marry seven or eight times, and still be considered merely "capricious."

A gentleman is a man who refuses to believe the date on a woman's birth certificate where it clashes with the age of her marriage license.

HELEN ROWLAND

Love, like cancer, has never been diagnosed. Nobody knows just what it is, just how it starts, nor how to cure it, except by "cutting it out."

When a girl shows any genuine sentiment or romantic enthusiasm nowadays, she always appears to feel as though she had been guilty of immodest exposure of the heart.

The American idea: Riding a horse for exercise—and taking a taxicab to the stable. Using a violet ray lamp all winter and driving in a closed car to escape the sun all summer. Drinking a cocktail to get an appetite and dining on a sprig of lettuce to avoid getting fat.

* * *

The big summer problem for the average man is how to make love to a girl so that she will fall for him and at the same time to prevent her from landing him.

Sometimes it looks as though all a girl wanted or expected to get out of marriage was enough alimony to buy the sort of clothes with which to catch another husband.

It's getting so that almost any car can go a great deal longer on a gallon than the average man can.

On the wedding day the clock either crawls or races—crawls for the bride and races for the bridegroom.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Fretting Over Daily Tasks Shortens Life

WHAT are the causes of shortened lives?

If we can find the correct answer to this question we are on the way to length of days and greater usefulness. If years can be added, and effective years at that, we have increased the economic resources of the world.

DR. COPELAND

During the tariff hearings in the Senate I have been more and more impressed that human labor is the chief factor in creating values. Raw materials, which themselves are produced largely through labor, are multiplied in money worth by the application of human sweat.

It matters not whether your work is physical or mental, whether done with your hands or your head, it cannot be good work unless health and vigor are back of it. The longer you can live and work effectively the more you are worth to the world.

If you fail to order your daily conduct so to guard your body against disease you are unjust to yourself and are cheating society. Unless you manage your physical affairs so that you may attain to the greatest possible effective years you are robbing the state of what it has a right to expect.

Bear in mind that feverish haste in performing your tasks won't help much. In the long run "haste makes waste." Hustle, bustle, slap, bang—these won't do. You may make a lot of noise, get red in the face and drop dead from apoplexy.

You know the old fable of the hare and the tortoise—the slow-moving turtle beat the energetic hare. Just because he was on the move, running and jumping, constantly in motion, the hare took it for granted he would outdistance the tortoise. But he didn't.

There are too many good people who think they are so busy with their serious affairs that they have no time for recreation, exercise, outdoor air and sunshine. Fretting themselves with the bustle of daily duties, they haven't time for change of any sort.

Almost invariably they will be distanced by slower moving, more deliberate, but, withol, more sensible rivals or friends. If you would live long and be effective while you live, you must take time to eat, sleep and invite your soul.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Purchase Own Tickets.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Two married couples, en route by train to a church wedding, meet two ladies whom the wives had met once previously. On the return train these same ladies and two additional ones returned with the married couples. One gentleman claims that it was right for the gentlemen to pay the fare for the entire party of eight returning. The other gentleman claims that the four ladies should have paid for their own tickets, inasmuch as they were not close friends, but merely traveling with our party. What do you think? Your decision will be greatly appreciated. READER.

I AGREE with the gentleman who maintains that, since the acquaintanceship was casual and the meeting certainly casual, these ladies should have paid their own fare, that they should have taken it for granted that they should and would pay their own fare, and that there should have been no hesitation about their paying it. There was no reason why these gentlemen should have paid the fare of these ladies, and if the ladies gave the impression that they expected the gentlemen to do this, they were in error.

One Bridesmaid.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I intend to be married some time during the coming fall, and I plan to be married in church. I have a number of friends whom I would like to have attend me, but as I want to have a very plain wedding, I do not care to have a large number of attendants. I have one sister whom I will have as my maid of honor, and my fiance has one sister whom I would like to have as a bridesmaid. I know that the usual custom is at least three attendants: maid of honor and two bridesmaids. However, I am trying to avoid hurting anyone's feelings, and so I am wondering if it would be proper for me to have just two attendants. I thought each one could walk down the aisle alone. E.

ALTHOUGH it is true that usually the bride-to-be plans to have an even number of bridesmaids (so that they can walk together in the processional and recessional), it would be perfectly correct for you to have the maid of honor and only one bridesmaid. I like your idea of having them walk alone down the aisle, since this emphasizes the difference between the "honor" attendant and the bridesmaid.

A Ticket to Commencement

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

On the night of our commencement, the graduates are given a dance by the alumni. In sending my escort a ticket to the commencement, should I send an announcement, or simply a letter, enclosing the ticket? LOU.

IT WOULD be best to send an invitation to the commencement when you send the ticket.

Wedding Invitations.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. In the printing of wedding invitations, is it proper to name the groom's parents, for instance, Mr. John Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith? We think that just the bride's parents' names are mentioned. Is it proper to have his parents' names mentioned on the back sheet of the invitation in foreign language?

2. When in a restaurant with a young man, after dinner, is it proper for the girl to open her compact and powder her nose with a compact puff? The fellow says he personally has no objection, but says it is not considered proper. S. B.

CUSTOMARILY the wedding invitations are sent out in the names of the bride's parents, since they are the hosts of the occasion. In some foreign countries it is customary for the invitations to carry the names of both the bride's parents and the groom's parents, but in America only the bride's parents' names appear.

2. Although officially and conventionally etiquette frowns on the use of the compact in public places, so informal have our customs become and so apparently necessary the use of the compact, that nowadays it is more or less taken for granted that compacts are used "in public." However, I must add quickly that there is usage and usage, and that the number of times that compacts are used in public and the way that they are used should be controlled, so that this usage will not become a nervous habit. Like everything else in life, it needs control!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, August 8.

A DAY of uncertainty and doubt, with wavering fortunes and disturbed states of mind is foreshown by both lunar and mutual aspects of the planets. While there may be tenacious obstacles to overcome there are some promises of rewards for perseverance and industry. Also new undertakings have a measure of success, but employment may not satisfy. Friction and perturbation in personal as well as business contracts may arise unless wisdom and coolness rule the mind.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year of conflicts, with obstacles to be surmounted and conditions to be manipulated by wisdom and calm methods. With patience, perseverance and application there is promise for past efforts and for new undertakings. Shun disputes and maintain personal harmony.

A child born on this day may be restless, changeable and unsettled although it may be clever and fond of hard work. It may need to cultivate amiability and harmony in the personal relations.

We learn wisdom from failure much more than from success.—Smiles.

Fat Girls! Here's A Tip For You

All over the world Kruschen Salts is appealing to girls and women who strive for an attractive, free from fat figure that cannot fail to win admiration.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one-half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "it's the little daily dose that takes off the fat."—Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts are carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

Get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts (lasts 2 months) with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.

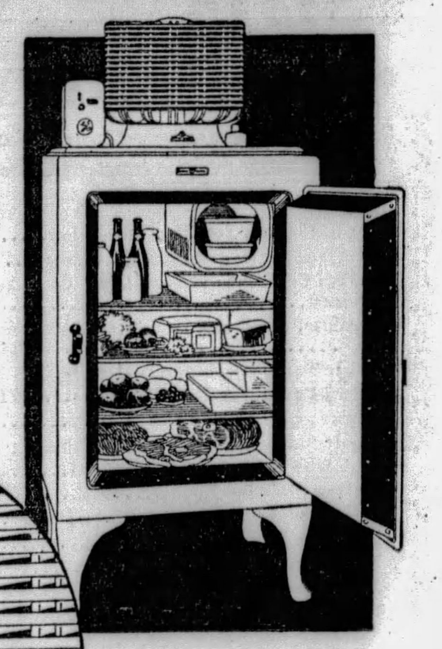
The First Refrigerator to be equipped with an ACCESSIBLE FREEZING REGULATOR was the General Electric

. . . and every General Electric Refrigerator—from the first one sold—has had this added convenience.

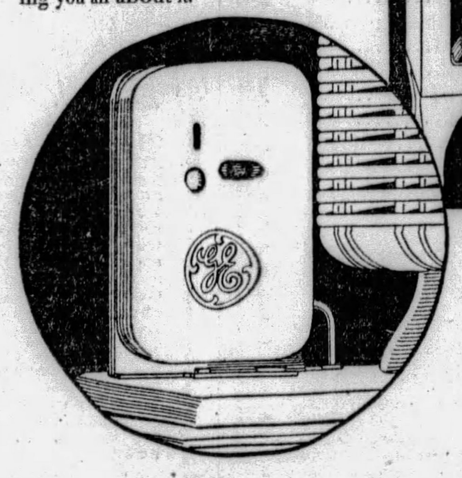


EVERY General Electric Refrigerator—from the very first one that was put on the market—has had a simple and accessible device to regulate freezing speed. For all general uses, however (including the making of ice cubes and frozen desserts), the usual temperature in the General Electric Refrigerator is perfect. However, there may be times when you wish to hasten the process—and for those times you have this freezing regulator.

Not only has every General Electric Refrigerator this extra convenience, but the General Electric was the first refrigerator which put the regulator in an accessible place and made it easy for the owner to use it herself.

This refrigerator is also the first—and the only one—to have an all-steel cabinet, warp-proof, strong as a safe. All its mechanism is hermetically sealed in a steel casing and mounted on top to allow greatest shelf area for food storage. It operates quietly, causes no radio interference and never needs oiling. It is particularly sanitary and easy to keep clean.

You should really study the various superiorities of these refrigerators. And by all means find out about the convenient payment plan which so many of our best customers are now using. Come in today and give us the privilege of telling you all about it.



There are now 300,000 users of General Electric Refrigerators and not one has ever spent a single dollar for service or repairs.

KINLOCH MINE FIRE OUT

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Aug. 7.—Two hundred men will return to work within a month when Kinloch mine of the Valley Camp Coal Company, wrecked on March 21 by an explosion which killed 46 men, is scheduled to resume operations, O. F. Taylor, superintendent, disclosed today.

W. J. McGregor, Freeport, state mine inspector, and George Groves, of the United States Bureau of Mines, recently entered the section at the shaft bottom, where fire had been smoldering, and found it cut. The fire had delayed company officials complying with recommendations set forth by a commission appointed by Walter H. Glasgow, secretary of mines. Inspector McGregor, John Bell and Alex McCance, of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, were those named to submit the recommendations.

"These recommendations can now be completed," Taylor said, "and the subterranean passages cleaned for inspection. If the mine is found safe, operations will be resumed."

Twenty men are cleaning sections and pumping water.

NERVES WRECK; KONJOLA GAVE QUICK RELIEF

Pittsburgh Lady Glad to Tell How New Medicine Brought Joy in Place of Pain.

No wonder that Konjola is known as the medicine with more than a million friends, when it wins triumph after triumph in cases of long standing that have defied and resisted all attempts made to find relief.

MRS. C. WEAVER

Yet it is not strange that Konjola wins such victories, for it is actually 32 medicines in one, and of these 32 ingredients 22 are the juices of roots and herbs of known medicinal worth. All of these elements work together. No wonder results come quickly. But get all the facts about Konjola from the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn avenue and Sixth street, Pittsburgh, where daily he is meeting those who would know all about this medicine of which they have heard so much. Here you will hear of any number of cases like that of Mrs. C. Weaver, 1419 Swantek street, Corliss Station, Pittsburgh, who said to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

"My nerves a wreck; had been for two years, and my stomach was in a terrible condition. To add to my misery I could not find a medicine nor a treatment to help me, and I have no idea how many I tried in my vain and futile search for health. I could not rest at night. The slightest annoyance completely upset my nervous system. All that I ate fermented and formed gas, and I spit up bits of undigested food. Nothing agreed with me, even the simplest diet. My appetite was poor, and I lost in weight and strength from day to day. I could see and feel myself going down, but what was I to do?

"Just about this time, when my spirits were low, I heard of Konjola, and the many indorsements this medicine was winning right here in my own home city induced me to give Konjola a trial. Well, Konjola certainly lived up to all the fine things said and written about it. This wonderful medicine went to work without delay, and in two weeks I could scarcely believe that I was the person who had suffered so for two years. In another two weeks my nerves were as calm as ever; I could sleep like a child all night through, and my appetite and digestion were simply great. I am picking up lost strength and weight at a rapid rate, and I can not find words to express my enthusiasm over this splendid medicine."

Konjola contains no alcohol, no nerve-deadening drugs, no heart-depressing chemicals. It needs no such hazardous ingredients. Konjola is all medicine, every drop, and every drop works in seeking out the source of the ailment and there and then attacking the causes of stomach, liver, kidney and bowel troubles, and of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn avenue and Sixth street, Pittsburgh, where daily he is meeting the public, and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine.

There is also a Konjola Man at Dow's Drug Store, Smithfield and Diamond streets—also Dow's Drug Store, 5939 Penn avenue, East Liberty.

STEEL CAR DOOR EXPANDS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 7.—The Youngstown Steel Car Door Company, manufacturing steel doors for freight cars is erecting a new plant on a 15-acre site served by the Youngstown and Austintown branch of the Erie Railroad. This plant will likely be completed by the first of the year. The company's product has heretofore been fabricated by the Midland Steel Products Company, Cleveland, and such operations will be transferred to Youngstown.

The company's principal raw material, light plates, will be produced by the Brier Hill Plate Mills of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company. Executive offices will be transferred to Youngstown.

END OF VARE'S POWER SEEN

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—Peace talk pervaded city hall and harmony between Mayor Mackey and lieutenants of Senator-elect William S. Vare over the formation of a primary slate of candidates for municipal office was predicted by some observers after the mayor had conferred with State Senator Salus and ward leaders.

Associates of the mayor have shown some resentment because, they charged, there was a disposition to ignore the mayor in naming the ticket. They indicated that unless he is given substantial recognition no influence Vare and his associates are able to exert will prevent a contest.

The Record's political writer, in a summing up of the political situation, declares that a new political leadership looms and that its potential leader is Mayor Harry A. Mackey.

"Vare is done," the writer declares. "On Friday the official announcement will be made that Will Hadley had been indorsed by the Republican organization. John F. Dugan will be slated for register of wills. Both these men have been forced on Vare."

The slate as forecast by the Record will be:

Hadley, city controller; Dugan, register of deeds; Burton C. Simon, city treasurer, and Fred Schwartz, Jr., coroner.

Blood Cell Serum

A principle that takes nature into partnership, gives her the elements she needs to work with and enables her to carry to the broken down tissues of an ailing body, just the elements she needs in order to restore health.

People of Pittsburgh are telling their own story how they were relieved of Anemia, High Blood Pressure, Faulty Metabolism, Rheumatism, Neuritis and many chronic Diseases—all of which sounds like magic, yet these astonishing benefits have been clearly demonstrated.

The curative force and power lies within the body, and you can be made well and free from pain and disease if your Blood cells are normal and clean.

These are the elements nature must work with to maintain a healthy body.

No doctor charges—Patients pay only for serum. Examination of blood Free. Come in and talk to Patients—That's the best evidence.

SEVEN HURT WHEN TWO AUTOS COLLIDE

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

BERLIN, Germany.

TO GET here from Paris we flew five and a half hours. One stop was made, at Cologne, where the aviator took a rest and refueled his plane. It was a three-motor Fokker, with a wing spread that would take up a large part of the average city block. The aviator was about 22, a Teuton of distinction, judging from his general carriage and a gold eagle that spread across his uniformed chest. Blond of hair, reddish-brown of face, he seemed like a heroic figure to the passengers who trusted to his acumen to take them a great distance over mountain and river, farm and city.

The train ride from Paris to Berlin requires from 18 to 20 hours. The airplane runs on a regular schedule every day and leaves and arrives with the precision of the train.

The airport at Cologne, where you stop for lunch, is a well-kept field, boasting a station which resembles a country clubhouse, more than a terminal station. Tables are spread behind a white fence and are protected from the sun by bright colored canopies.

THERE is some ceremony as the plane departs. The signal is given by a flagman that the way is clear. In the giant plane, seating eight passengers comfortably, you must look at the ground to discover when you have taken off. There is no particular sensation to the steady rise.

The pilot is assisted by a man in a companion seat. In the plane proper is a wireless operator who keeps a log and who receives and sends messages to various fields giving weather conditions. The triple motored plane makes conversation difficult, but pads are given the passengers upon which they write.

A GREAT many persons still look askance at the airplane, but if you take this ride you feel it is as safe as any other kind of travel. You have, for one thing, great confidence in the thoroughbred of an aviator and the fact that the plane is triple motored causes you to feel that even if the mechanism of one motor should fail there is ample safety in the other two. Besides, the complete confidence of the man at the wheel seems to spell that he can do almost what he wills with the huge bird that carries you along.

Most passengers who take this trip are not new to airplanes. They take it pretty much as a matter of course. Even I, who had been up in a plane but once before, found myself taking a nap or reading a magazine. A map is furnished you and with the map you can trace the cities and villages and rivers you pass over.

CERTAINLY there is more adventure in a trip through the air than in a trip by rail, but it is a fact that in a short time after the take-off you give up reviewing your past life, selecting the pallbearers, and other such morbid details, to relish thoroughly the experience. Of the things I have seen since I left home the airplane ride to Berlin was the high spot.

The company that hauled us was the Luft-Hansa, a big firm in Germany which operates on regular schedule to all parts of Europe. There is apparently no appearance of novelty about air travel in the part of Europe I saw.

ONCE in a while when we hit an air pocket the plane would sink, suggesting a sudden stop downward by an elevator, but aside from this sensation which did not come often there was nothing unusual. In landing our German friend didn't even cause a slight jar.

BRIDGEVILLE'S 'WHITE WAY' OPENED

Visiting Firemen Take Part In Ceremonies Dedicating New Street Light System

The program was opened by a parade of fire companies from 30 boroughs.

The principal address was made by Burgess S. P. McCaffery, who threw the switch lighting up an area of one square mile; James A. Ellis, president of the Bridgeville Chamber of Commerce, and E. J. Callahan, president of the borough council.

Silver loving cups were awarded the Pitcairn fire department for the best appearance in the parade; Monongahela for the most men in line; Morganza Training School for Boys, for the best band, and Yukon for traveling the farthest distance.

ERIE FEDERAL COURT DOCKET CROWDED

More Than 200 Cases to Be Listed for Trial Before Term Opens September 16

The September term of the Federal District court in Erie will be the busiest there for several years, United States Attorney John D. Meyer already has listed 150 liquor cases under the Jones "five and ten" act for investigaton by the grand jury, and the number will be increased to more than 200 before the grand jurors convene on September 18, it was announced.

The term starts September 16, but the 25 grand jurors and 150 petit jurors to be summoned will not report until September 18, because of the fall primaries on the preceding day. The trial list being prepared by the district attorney has already listed 50 cases, charging violations of the prohibition law and other offenses against the government.

VICTIMS CUT, BRUISED IN UPSET

Tarentum Pair Arrested for Reckless Driving; Rush Injured to Hospital

Cuts and bruises were suffered by seven persons last night when the automobile in which they were riding upset after colliding with another machine at Mellon and Elgin streets.

The injured are Emil Levins, 40, of 2108 Carson street; his mother, Mrs. Flora Levins, of the same address; Mrs. Esther Glick, 36, her two children, Morris, 8, and Manuel, 7; Mrs. Sadie Lefkowitz, 34, and her daughter, Ruth, 8, all of 522 East Eighth avenue, Homestead.

The injured were treated at the Pittsburgh Hospital. Levins and Miss Bessie Harrison, of Lock street, Tarentum, driver of the other machine, were arrested on reckless driving charges.

BANKER TALKS TO KIWANIANS

William E. Palmer, Jr., cashier of the Dormont Savings and Trust Company, was the principal speaker at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club of the South Hills held in the Mt. Lebanon United Lutheran Church, Academy avenue, yesterday. Mr. Palmer's subject was "What the bank owes the depositor, and what the depositor owes the bank."

The initial weekly bulletin relating to the happenings and doings of the club made its appearance at the meeting. It is the club's intentions to publish the paper every week and mail it to the members a few days before the regular meeting day.

Kiwanian Fred Aiken has extended an invitation to all members and their families to attend a corn roast which he will hold at his country home. The date will be announced later.

The meeting was presided over by Vice President James T. Hibbard, who later turned it over to Clarke Gould, chairman of the reception committee. Mr. Gould stressed that professional and business men should speak to the body on their respective occupation, exchanging views and plans.

J. S. Mead donated the weekly door prize.

9 TAXI DRIVERS ARRESTED

Nine taxicab drivers, arrested charged with violating parking rules in the vicinity of the entrance of Forbes Field yesterday, were to be given hearings in Traffic Court today.

CAR KILLS MAN, BOY MISSING

Gone from home through fear of punishment because his truck fatally injured a pedestrian, Joseph Yardis, 17, 2015 Howard street, has not been seen since July 2. His parents are grief stricken and are afraid that worry over the accident may have prompted the boy to do away with himself.

He was employed as a truck driver. On July 2, Stephen McCarthy, 64, 624 Sterrett street, was struck by a motor truck at Hamilton and Albion streets.

Police found no trace of the driver, but Deputy Coroner Joseph Ollisse investigating the case, discovered he said, that Yardis was the driver. Yardis was not responsible for the accident, Ollisse said, as McCarthy stepped into the path of the truck.

Yardis' father objected to the boy driving automobiles, the ocroner's office was told, and warned him "not to come home if he ever had an accident." The night of the accident he did come home and gave his mother his pay envelope. He left home, coatless and with only a dime in his pockets, a sister said today. The following day he called his employer on the telephone and said he would not be in to work. Since then nothing has been heard from him.

EDUCATE PEDESTRIANS, PLAN OF TRAFFIC POLICEMEN

SAFETY EXPERT POINTS NEED AT CORNERS

Patrolmen Might Insure Jobs by Showing How To Avoid 'Jaywalking'

Traffic officers stationed at intersections may insure their jobs by assisting in educating the public in the better observance of the new signal lights, according to Frank L. Duggan, president of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council and vice president of the Better Traffic Committee.

There is an inclination on a part of the public to urge the removal of many of the cornermen since the traffic lights have the vehicles well under control, he declared.

Since the patrolmen's time is not entirely occupied with directing vehicles, they could encourage their retention by moving around the intersection continuously, explaining the light symbols to pedestrians waiting to cross a thoroughfare, Duggan said.

PAIR ACCUSED AS SWINDLERS

Sam Kostecki, 40, of 109 Ella street, and Pete Gall, 43, of 235 Munson avenue, McKees Rocks, arrested yesterday by county detectives on information from Conneaut Lake, were taken to that place last night.

Crawford County officials, in a letter to Chief George W. Murren, of the County Detective Bureau, charged the two men with obtaining $2,500 from Joseph Krolikowski, of Conneaut Lake, promising to invest it for him in Pittsburgh. They were arrested two hours after receipt of the information.

BALDWIN WINS WATER BATTLE

A thrilling water battle in Baldwin township last night decided the championship of the volunteer firemen of that vicinity. The Baldwin Independent Volunteer Fire Company No. 1 was the victor over the St. Clair Independents from the start to the exciting finish.

It was a battle to the finish, as the result of a disputed recent battle. The St. Clair group scored a victory which was disputed by the Baldwin fire laddies. And to have harmony between the two factions, the battle was repeated last night, resulting in the Baldwin's victory.

Hundreds of the spectators who banked the hillside of Ruthwood street, were drenched, but they did not seem to mind it, as they were very much excited, rooting for their favorite fire fighters.

Island Creek Coal Tonnage Is Better

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Island Creek Coal Company is continuing to get out a better tonnage of coal than a year ago. July production was in the neighborhood of 480,000 tons, which compares with 503,370 tons in June of this year and 412,702 tons in July, 1928. Thus for 10 consecutive months Island Creek has exceeded output of the corresponding month a year before. During the first seven months of this year Island Creek produced about 3,500,000 tons of coal. This represented a gain of some 690,000 tons, or 24.6 per cent over the total of 2,810,230 tons in the same period in 1928.

Ontario to Push Wine Sales to Curb Whisky

TORONTO, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—Reduction of whisky sales, introduction of light French wines and encouragement of cider drinking will be the objectives of the Ontario Liquor Control Board in the future, declared Sir Henry Drayton, chairman of the board. Sir Henry said that there would be no reduction in Ontario whisky prices.

Among light wines which Sir Henry, just returned from France, planned to encourage, sherries and ports were not included.

Ontario, Sir Henry said, has become known as a province of whisky drinkers, and he thought that the introduction of light wines would be "a good way of righting the abuse of alcohol."

RANKIN SALOON RAIDED

Prohibition agents and constables yesterday raided a saloon at Third street and Hawkins avenue, Rankin, and seized 399 pints of beer, 36 gallons of mash and seven gallons of whisky, they reported. George Rabovic was arrested.

A 15-gallon still, seven gallons of moonshine and 50 gallons of rye mash were reported confiscated in a building at 19 Mackey street, where the agents agrested John Ciora.

Two slot machines, reported found in the Rabovic place, later were confiscated by county detectives.

Cleveland Boy Held For Death of Child

STEUBENVILLE, O., Aug. 7.—John Evanko, 19, Cleveland, was charged with manslaughter for the death of James Holsinger, 4, Eckhart, Md., and is held for hearing before Justice I. Adler.

Evanko's automobile collided with a car driven by Mrs. Leona Phillips of Maryland, on the Steubenville-Canton road Sunday and the Holsinger child was thrown through the windshield of the Phillips car. John Phillips, uncle of the child victim, filed the affidavit against Evanko.

GETS 6 MONTHS IN AUTO THEFT

Charles Hawkins, of Butler, was sentenced six months in the Butler County jail by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson when he pleaded guilty of transporting a stolen automobile from Spring Grove, Pa., to Grange, O. Since the offense occurred, the court was told, Hawkins served a workhouse sentence on another criminal charge.

Carl Edwards, of Johnstown, who pleaded guilty April 4 to a liquor violation charge and was placed on probation was fined $400 for violating his parole. He was taken before Judge Gibson on account of leaving the jurisdiction of the court and going to Cleveland, where he was arrested.

Foreman Injured When Auto Wrecks

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 7.—Neal Gough, 40, foreman for the Republic Iron and Steel Company at Republic, was injured when the automobile in which he was riding was wrecked. The accident occurred when one of the wheels on the machine slipped off.

Lincoln District Residents Seek Service and Special Rates on Local Trains

The Lincoln District Board of Trade asked the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to establish a "Lincoln" station stop at Tennis and Lincoln avenues, in a letter sent today to E. W. Smith, vice president of the company.

The letter requests cinder platforms, open shelter sheds and safety devices, together with the stopping of local trains.

Establishment of a reasonable commuter rate and monthly and 10-trip tickets from "Lincoln" station to points described in the petition, is also sought.

About 2,000 persons of the district have agreed to patronize such facilities, according to the letter.

Young Woman Held For $2,400 Shortage

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Aug. 7.—Police are seeking a "Mr. Smith" for questioning in an alleged shortage of Mrs. Cecelia Parks, 25, of $2,950, funds of the United States Loan Corporation, where she was employed as clerk. Mrs. Parks, held for court, admitted, police report, taking $2,400 and giving it to a Mr. Smith to invest for her in the stock market. She said her speculations had covered a period of six months.

The information was made by a bonding concern. The woman's husband resides in Columbus, O., and a brother lives in Washington, Pa.

Mr. Darrell was affiliated with the Masontown Masonic Lodge, the Lodge of Perfection at Uniontown and the Pittsburgh Consistory. He was also a member of the Rotary Club, Fire Department and trustee of the Presbyterian Church. He leaves a wife and two children. Funeral services Friday.

MANN CHARGE COSTS YOUTH PAROLE

Bench Warrant Issued for Grove City Boy Following Long Trip With Girl

Bud Hovis, 20, of Grove City, Pa., under a two-year parole of the Federal District Court for transporting a stolen automobile from Grove City to Lamar, Col., is in trouble again, and a bench warrant has been issued for his arrest for alleged violation of the parole. He was arrested three weeks ago in Colorado under the Mann act, according to the petition on which the bench warrant was issued.

After being placed on probation in Federal Court on February 21, 1928, and placed in the custody of Federal Probation Officer George G. O'Brien, he was allowed to return to Lamar to obtain work on a ranch. He later made a visit to Grove City, having with him a 19-year-old girl, whom he was said to have introduced as his wife. When they returned West, Hovis was arrested on complaint of the girl's father.

Whether he will be returned here on the bench warrant for alleged violation of the parole or kept in Colorado for prosecution under the Mann act, was not disclosed.

Ohio Jury Refuses Ban on Dog Races

LONDON, O., Aug. 7.—(AP.)—The Madison County grand jury refused to return indictments charging gambling against operators of the dog races at the West Jefferson Kennel Club, near here. Following the grand jury's action, Prosecutor Deane Richmond said he knew of no other steps he could take to stop the races.

Popularity.. begins with a Clear Skin

IT'S the person with a clear, smooth, lovely complexion that usually wins.

To be sure, not much is said openly about skin eruptions, but secretly they influence many important affairs. Personal likes and dislikes are quickly formed.

Everybody wants to be attractive. It is a just and natural ambition. A clear skin makes everyone more attractive.

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils, eczema and other skin eruptions as being an indication that the body's power of resistance is low—that there is a deficiency of red-blood-cells.

The sure way to remedy this condition is to restore the red-blood-cells to normal.

This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of those unsightly blemishes and painful skin annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

S.S.S. helps Nature restore the blood to its normal state. Healthy blood makes the body strong and resistant to disease.

Without plenty of rich, red blood there could be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or healthy, beautiful women.

If you are troubled with so-called skin disorders or if the count of your red-blood-cells is low, take a few bottles of S.S.S. Seek energy, vitality and a clear skin through the remedy, which is made from fresh vegetable drugs, and has stood the test of over 100 years.

S.S.S.

All Drug Stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

POLICE INQUIRY PRESSED AS MAN DIES

County detectives and Rankin police were continuing their investigation into the explosions and fire, which caused damage estimated at $18,000.

Twenty Negroes sleeping in a three-story brick building next door to Caputo's home had narrow escapes when the fire spread and trapped them. They were carried down ladders by firemen. Several were overcome by smoke.

Rankin police are of the belief that a bomb was placed beneath the Caputo residence. Three explosions occurred a short time after Caputo had returned home from a fireworks display in Swissvale. He was knocked unconscious and severely burned by the flames which swept his home.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR PICNIC

Odd Fellows and kindred bodies of the Pittsburgh district have completed plans for the annual picnic to be held at Idlewild Park, near Ligonier, Saturday and one of the largest turnouts in the history of the organization is expected.

Because of repairs being made on the Lincoln highway east of the city, necessitating one-way travel, a special train has been chartered to leave Pittsburgh at 8 o'clock in the morning and returning to leave the park at 7 o'clock. This train will make stops at East Liberty and stations as far east as Greensburg.

Committees have arranged for dancing both afternoon and evening and an outstanding feature will be the presence of more than 100 orphans who will furnish band music, sing and give an exhibition drill. They will be served dinner and supper. There will also be a ball game and all kinds of races and sports.

The Allegheny Region Anniversary Association will be guests and will hold a meeting in the pavilion.

PASTOR GOES TO OHIO

The Rev. Ralph E. Harris, who recently tendered his resignation as pastor of the Bellevue Methodist Protestant Church, has accepted a call to the East View Congregational Church, Cleveland, O. He will leave Bellevue, September 1.

Previous to coming here he was minister of the Old Stone Congregational Church, East Haven, Conn. His successor at Bellevue has not been chosen, according to representatives of the church.

Fall from Roof Scalps Victim

Suffering a broken back and severe injuries to the head, William Wagner, 59, of 350 Armour avenue, New Homestead, is in a critical condition today in the Homestead Hospital. The man fell from the roof of his home yesterday while making repairs. According to the police report, the man was virtually scalped in his fall.

Falling Workman Touches Wire, Dies

When he fell from a scaffold late yesterday at the Pittsburgh Forge Company plant, where he was employed, Christy Magleri, 36, of 117 Patterson street, McKees Rocks, touched a "live" wire and was killed, deputy coroners investigating the accident reported.

Magleri fell 10 feet and struck the wire, it was said.

Russians Bar Single Homes As Blow at System

MOSCOW, Aug. 7.—(INS.)—Soviet federal housing authorities have definitely decided not to build single family houses or apartments because they would make the task of socializing the population difficult, it was revealed today.

The "own-your-own-home" idea, it was said, runs counter to all socialistic principles and fosters a desire for individualistic possession of material things.

The most desirable type of workers' homes, the authorities said, is a large apartment house divided into one, two or three rooms per family. All the rooms would be living or bedrooms.

For each three or four families there would be one kitchen, unless one large community kitchen could be arranged for the whole building. There would also be community baths, laundry and nursery. In this manner community life would be stimulated.

The decision in favor of community homes was published almost simultaneously with a scandalous story of "home life" as it exists in community houses today, when, because of the housing shortage, half a dozen families are frequently forced to live in what before the revolution was one apartment.

Health of Prince Worries Royal Family

LONDON, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—The Daily News today says that it learns that royal family is somewhat anxious about the health of Prince George, youngest son of the King. The Prince left the navy because of his health and went into the foreign office. This was said not to have benefitted him, but rather to have caused his present indisposition.

Prince George, who is 26, was prevented by illness from keeping an engagement on July 19, and his brother, the Duke of Gloucester, said that the Prince might have to go away and take a brief cure.

FATHER WINS BOY'S CUSTODY

Declaring that the father is the best custodian for the adopted child of a divorced couple because of the wife's misconduct, Judge Harry H. Rowand, in Common Pleas Court has handed down a decision in a haebus corpus case awarding the child to the husband.

The suit was brought by George L. Evans, now of Weirton, W. Va., against Annabelle Hall, 214 Second avenue, Carnegie. Evans was divorced June 12 from Louise A. Evans, in Hancock County, W. Va., having charged his wife with immorality. The couple had adopted George Thomas Evans, 6, five years ago.

The husband charged that his wife had taken the child to the Hall home at the time they separated, and told the court that he wants to place it under the care of his mother, with whom he lives at Weirton. As soon as the writ of haebus corpus was served on the Hall woman, she turned the child over to the father, it was said.

Jadwin Ends Notable Career in U. S. Army

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—Edgar Jadwin, author of the Jadwin plan to control the mighty Mississippi, came to the end of his distinguished army career today, retiring as the only lieutenant general on either the retired or active list.

Back of him lies a record of outstanding achievement, which brought him honors from the American, British, French and Polish governments, culminating in his appointment as chief of Army engineers. He is 64 years old today and retires under the age provisions of the Army he served for 39 years.

His elevation to the rank of lieutenant general in retirement is a recognition of distinguished work in the construction of the Panama Canal. He holds the distinguished service medal for his service as director of the division of construction of the American expeditionary forces in France and his efforts looking toward control of Mississippi floods have kept his fame fresh in the public memory in recent years.

After the 1927 flood, he took full charge of the task of preventing recurrence of the disaster. This task called for the assimilation of a mass of detail which had been gathering since the first levees and walls were built to keep the river within its banks, the working out of the flood control plan which bears his name, and the piloting this project through Congress.

Gen. Jadwin was born in Honesdale, Pa., and graduated at West Point in 1900. He immediately joined the engineers and served in the Spanish-American War. He directed the enlargement of Ellis Island, New York, as an immigration station; the building of the San Pedro (Cal.) breakwater, and the reconstruction of the jetties at Galveston, Tex., after the storm of 1900.

He served as a member of the board which recommended the plan to rebuild the muscle Shoals Dam and went to France in 1917 to command the Fifteenth Engineers.

BALDWIN BOARD LETS AWARD FOR BUS

New Teacher Is Elected And Payroll Approved; Tax Collections Speeded

Baldwin Township School Board held its regular monthly meeting in the Union School, Baptist road, last night, President Henry Leech presided.

Payroll and bills in excess of $25,000 for the month of July were approved and ordered paid. This is the largest monthly payroll the township school board has ever had.

Harry Nix, tax collector, reported collecting $11,920.34 for school taxes. The treasurer reported receipt of the first half of the state appropriation for teachers' salaries to the amount of $5,398.15.

Dan Feick was awarded the contract for the transporting of children in buses for the 1929-30 school term. The contract included the transporting of children from the McGibbney School to the Union School; Willock School to the Union, and the Horning School to the Union School.

Six representatives of school desk manufacturers were present with samples of desks. The board could not agree on the purchase, and the matter was held over.

Miss Helen D'France was elected to teach in room 5 of the Union School for the 1929-30 term.

3 BROUGHT HERE AS SUSPECTS IN HOLDUP

Trio Caught in Washington To Be Viewed by Victims In $10,000 Street Robbery

Detective Lieut. Edward O'Rourke and Detective James Swearingen early today brought J. B. Sloan, A. L. Hufnagle and James Maloney here from Washington, Pa., where they were arrested last night.

Detectives said the men are wanted for questioning in connection with the robbery of two Tech Ice Cream Company officials outside the Pennsylvania National Bank, Butler and Thirty-fourth street, July 23, in which $10,000 was taken.

They were arrested at a prize fight at the West Maiden Street Armory, Washington, by Washington County authorities. When seized, detectives said, they were carrying guns and had "plenty of money."

Henry Koch and George Nusskern, the ice cream company officials who were robbed, were to view the men today in an effort to identify them.

Assistant County Detective Chief Harry Cochran today asked city detectives not to release Sloan, as they held a bench warrant for his arrest in connection with the attempted holdup of Murray Coon at the Hays National Bank last December 2. A photograph has been identified by Coon and an indictment returned against Sloan.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Paul Baumer and his soldier comrades all enlisted at 18. During their training, they were abused and persecuted by a former mail-carrier, now Corp. Himmelstross. Hating him, they beat him up the last night. Later, at the front, he appears. One of the privates calls him a "dirty hound." He threatens court-martial. Light sentences are imposed when the lieutenant learns the whole story of the corporal's abuse in camp. Paul and his comrades are back in the front lines. On the way they passed piles of new coffins. Their spirits are low. After days of fighting, the trenches are wrecked. Food is scarce and the barrage is so heavy that none can be brought up. Baumer and his comrades are in hand-to-hand fighting defending their position. After a successful counter-attack, night comes and all is quiet in the trenches. Again the shelling begins; attack, counter-attack, charge, repulse. Young recruits, with little knowledge of warfare, fall the easiest victims. Paul's company has been relieved and casualties are found to be numerous. While in swimming Paul and his comrades speak to several French girls across the canal. That night they visit the girls' home. Paul is granted a furlough but is sorry when he leaves his comrades. Everything at home seems changed and he is not at ease. He hates the silly questions asked about the fighting. Paul goes to see Mrs. Kemmerich and lies to her about the way her son was killed.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXII.

IT is the last evening at home. Everyone is silent. I go to bed early, I seize the pillow, press it against myself and bury my head in it. Who knows if I will ever lie in a feather bed again?

Late in the night my mother comes into my room. She thinks I am asleep, and I pretend to be so. To talk, to stay awake with one another, it is too hard.

She sits long into the night although she is in pain and often writhes. At last I can bear it no longer, and pretend I have just wakened up.

"Go and sleep, mother, you will catch cold here."

"I can sleep enough later," she says.

I sit up. "I don't go straight back to the front, mother. I have to do four weeks at the training camp. I may come over from there one Sunday, perhaps."

She is silent. Then she asks gently: "Are you very much afraid?"

"No, mother."

"I would like to tell you to be on your guard against the women out in France. They are no good."

Ah! mother, mother! You still think I am a child—why can I not put my head in your lap and weep? Why have I always to be strong and self-controlled? I would like to weep and be comforted, too, indeed I am little more than a child; in the wardrobe still hang my short, boy's trousers it is such a little time ago, why is it over?

"Where we are there aren't any women, mother," I say as calmly as I can.

"And be very careful at the front, Paul."

Ah, mother, mother! Why do I not take you in my arms and die with you? What poor wretches we are!

"Yes, mother, I will."

"I will pray for you every day, Paul."

Ah! Mother, mother! Let us rise up and go out, back through the years, where the burden of all this misery lies on us no more, back to you and me alone, mother!

"Perhaps you can get a job that is not so dangerous."

"Yes, mother, perhaps I can get into the cookhouse, that can easily be done."

"You do it then, and if the others say anything—"

"That won't worry me, mother."

"Now you must go to sleep, mother."

She does not reply. I get up and wrap my cover round her shoulders.

She supports herself on my arm. She is in pain. And so I take her to her room. I stay with her a little while.

"And you must get well again, mother, before I come back."

"Yes, yes, my child."

"You ought not to send your things to me, mother. We have plenty to eat out there. You can make much better use of them here."

How destitute she lies there in her bed, she, that loves me more than all the world. As I am about to leave, she says hastily: "I have two pairs of underpants for you. They are all wool. They will keep you warm. You must not forget to put them in your pack."

Ah! Mother! I know what these underpants have cost you in waiting and walking, and begging! Ah! Mother, mother! How can it be that I must part from you? Who else is there that has any claim on me but you? Here I sit and there you are lying, and we have so much to say, that we could never say it.

"Good-night, mother."

"Good-night, my child."

The room is dark. I hear my mother's breathing, and the ticking of the clock. Outside the window the wind blows and the chestnut trees rustle.

On the landing I stumble over my pack which lies there already made up, because I have to leave early in the morning.

I bite into my pillow, I grasp the iron rods of my bed with my fists. I ought never to have come here. Out there I was indifferent and often hopeless—I will never be able to be so again. I was a soldier, and now I am nothing but an agony for myself, for my mother, for everything that is so comfortless and without end.

I ought never to have come on leave.

I already know the camp on the moors. It was here that Himmelstoss gave Tjaden his education. But now I know hardly anyone here; as ever, all is altered. There are only a few people that I have occasionally met before.

I go through the routine mechanically. In the evening I generally go to the Soldiers' Home, where the newspapers are laid out, but which I do not read; still, there is a piano there that I am glad enough to play on. Two girls are in attendance, one of them is young.

The camp is surrounded with high barbed wire fences. If we come back late from the Soldiers' Home we have to show passes. But those who are on good terms with the guard can get through, of course.

Between the junipers and the birch trees on the moor we practice company drill each day. It is bearable if one expects nothing better. We advance at a run, fling ourselves down, and our panting breath moves the stalks of the grasses and the flowers of the heather to and fro. Looked at so closely one sees the fine sand is composed of millions of the tiniest pebbles as clear as if they had been made in a laboratory. It is strangely inviting to dig one's hands into it.

But most beautiful are the woods with their line of birch trees. Their color changes with every minute. Now the stems gleam purest white, and between them, airy and silken, hangs the pastel-green of the leaves; the next morning all changes to an opalescent blue, as the shivering breezes pass down from the heights and touch the green lightly away; and again in one place it deepens almost to black as a cloud passes over the sun. And this shadow moves like a ghost through the dim trunks and passes far out over the moor to the sky—then the birches stand out again like gay banners on white poles, with their red and gold patches of autumn-tinted leaves.

I often become so lost in the play of soft light and transparent shadow, that I almost fail to hear the commands. It is when one is alone that one begins to observe Nature and to love her. And here I have not much companionship, and do not even desire it. We are too little acquainted with one another to do more than joke a bit and play poker or nap in the evenings.

Alongside our camp is the big Russian prison camp. It is separated from us by a wire fence, but in spite of this the prisoners come across to us. They seem nervous and fearful, though most of them are big fellows with beards—they look like meek, scolded, St. Bernard dogs.

They slink about our camp and pick over the garbage tins. One can imagine what they find there. With us food is pretty scarce and none too good at that—turnips cut into six pieces and boiled in water, and unwashed carrot tops—moldy potatoes are tit-bits, and the chief luxury is a thin rice soup in which float little bits of beef sinew, but these are cut up so small that they take a lot of finding.

Everything gets eaten, notwithstanding, and if ever anyone is so well off as not to want all his share, there are a dozen others standing by ready to relieve him of it. Only the dregs that the ladle cannot reach are tipped out and thrown into the garbage tins. Along with that sometimes go a few turnip peelings, mouldy bread crusts and all kinds of muck.

This thin, miserable, dirty garbage is the objective of the prisoners. They pick it out of the stinking tins greedily and go off with it under their blouses.

It is strange to see these enemies of ours so close up. They have faces that make one think—honest peasant faces, broad foreheads, broad noses, broad mouths, broad hands, and thick hair.

They ought to be put to threshing, reaping, and apple picking. They look just as kindly as our own peasants in Friesland.

It is distressing to watch their movements, to see them begging for something to eat. They are all rather feeble, for they only get enough nourishment to keep them from starving. Ourselves we have not had sufficient to eat for long enough. They have dysentery; furtively many of them display the blood-stained tails of their shirts. Their backs, their necks are bent, their knees sag, their heads droop as they stretch out their hands and beg in the few words of German that they know—beg with those soft, deep, musical voices, that are like warm stoves and cosy rooms at home.

Some men there are who give them a kick, so that they fall over—but those are not many. The majority do nothing to them, just ignore them. Occasionally, when they are too grovelling, it makes a man mad and then he kicks them. If only they would not look at one so—what great misery can be in two such small spots, no bigger than a man's thumb—in their eyes!

They came over to the camp in the evenings and trade. They exchange whatever they possess for bread. Often they have fair success, because they have very good boots and ours are bad. The leather of their knee boots is wonderfully soft, like suede. The peasants among us who get tit-bits sent from home can afford to trade. The price of a pair of boots is about two or three loaves of army bread, or a loaf of bread and a small, tough ham sausage.

But most of the Russians have long since parted with whatever things they had. Now they wear only the most pitiful clothing, and try to exchange little carvings and objects that they have made out of shell fragments and copper driving bands. Of course, they don't get much for such things, though they may have taken immense pains with them—they go for a slice or two of bread. Our peasants are hard and cunning when they bargain. They hold the piece of bread or sausage right under the nose of the Russian till he grows pale with greed and his eyes bulge and then he will give anything for it. The peasants wrap up their booty with the utmost solemnity, and then get out their pocket knives, and slowly and deliberately cut off a slice of bread for themselves from their supply and with every mouthful take a piece of the good, tough sausage and so reward themselves with a good feed. It is distressing to watch them take their afternoon meal thus; one would like to crack them over their thick pates. They rarely give anything away. How little we understand one another!

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Becoming cynical at her mother's wish to have her marry for wealth and social position, Nancy Hollenbeck, young and beautiful, accepts the ardent attentions of Jack Beamer, supposedly an Englishman of noble birth, who is married to a wealthy invalid. On a mountain trip Nancy, after a brief courtship, makes a hasty marriage with a handsome ranger, Roger Decatur. Sickening of the loneliness, with Roger away, she returns home to resume her old life, still keeping her marriage a secret. When Roger, deeply in love with Nancy, comes to take her back, she tells him unless he makes his home in the city she will divorce him, although she realizes her own love for him. After Roger leaves, Nancy continues her clandestine affair with Beamer, whose wife, aware of his philandering, refuses to free him. Louise, Nancy's sister, always second with men, now has a rich, though elderly, suitor. Beamer takes Nancy out to his stock farm on a jaunt. Mrs. Beamer unexpectedly arrives and Nancy is bundled into the kitchen. Beamer decides to placate his wife to protect his own financial welfare. Nancy, though humiliated, forgives all when he phones.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XL.

THERE was a frozen pudding, and chicken, because Mr. Lachman was coming to dinner. Such a lot of work! Louise should be setting the table now, and where was she? Nobody knew.

Tears of self-pity coursed down mamma's withered cheeks as she laid the silence cloth and unfolded the best damask, only used on great occasions. Here she was, working her fingers to the bone for Peter and the girls. Getting up a great, big, elaborate dinner for Mr. Lachman so that he would help Peter in business. Like as not, no one would notice all the trouble she had gone to. All Old Lady Hollenbeck in the kitchen had to say was that it was foolish to buy caviar and avocados for a man who could buy them every day if he wanted them. Country bumpkin! Interfering old fool! But that wasn't the worst. It was Nancy who had ruined everything. Talking about Mr. Lachman's big, greasy nose, and the dandruff on his collar! Mamma gulped miserably, thinking about it. Now she'd never be able to look at him without looking at his collar.

Grudgingly, Nancy had done the necessary shopping. She had carried everything with her and come home in a taxi. When mamma had remonstrated gently about the extravagance of taxis, Nancy had hurled the chicken in its brown paper half the length of the kitchen and turned, blazing and choking, upon her:

"Expense! What's expense in this house? What's a few more bills? Let the grocer wait. Tell him you're going to marry your oldest daughter, aged 25, to Oliver T. Lachman, so that he'll pay off the mortgage on the farm! Wonderful match! He isn't a day over 60, and what's a greasy nose and dandruff on the collar where money is concerned!"

"Nancy!" Grandmother Hollenbeck had commanded. "Pull yourself together. Don't talk nonsense!"

Unexpectedly Nancy had stopped then. She had picked up the chicken and laid it on the table with the other things. "I'm sorry," she said, very low. "I—I just wanted one of us to stay decent, that's all. It just got me . . . thinking of Lou. . . ."

And for the second time that day she had fled, slamming the door.

Rehearsing it for the twentieth time, mamma sighed and dabbed at her forget-me-not blue eyes. But already she was beginning to feel better. The table looked very pretty, with the best tablecloth and the Minton service plates, all that was left of the wedding china.

And as for Nancy's ugly words about him . . . well, there were things more important than youth and good looks in marriage, as Nancy would know if she weren't so young and inexperienced.

A mother knows best . . . by the time the table was set and the smell of roasting chicken and warm spice cake came stealing out from under the rack of the kitchen door, mamma was ready to welcome Mr. Lachman with her best company smile, in the right state of mind.

Mr. Lachman was geniality itself. He bowed over mamma's hand. He pushed papa into a chair, hospitably, as if he were the host. "Well, well!" he boomed, wringing his large, damp hands. "Well, well! Certainly nice to be here amongst friends. A real privilege, Mrs. Hollenbeck. Yes, indeed!"

And all the while his eyes were roving around.

"Where is the Lady Louise?" he asked at last.

"Yes, where is Louise?" The little worry wrinkles came out on each side of papa's mouth. Louise should be here, Mr. Lachman wouldn't enjoy the evening at all without her.

"Oh, she'll be in any minute," mamma said sweetly. She glanced at the clock. Quarter to six! What ailed the girl? She'd probably arrive all out of breath and her hair straggly. . . .

At six Nancy came downstairs, red-eyed and sulky.

"How's the little queen?" Mr. Lachman rose and pumped her hand, beaming.

"If you mean me," Nancy said, indifferently, "I'm terrible. My head aches." She sat down at the old square piano and began to strum tunelessly.

"Have a cigar," papa offered hastily, selecting one from the row he always kept in his vest pocket, but Mr. Lachman refused, and lit one of his own.

Silence, except for Nancy's irritating strumming. Mamma fancied she could smell the chicken burning. The dinner would be ruined, and they couldn't start without Lou.

Louise, who had had two years of college before mamma made up her mind that brilliant matches seldom come out of universities and she needed her at home anyway, was attending a sorority luncheon that promised to drag on all afternoon.

It was really an alumni affair, but some of the younger girls were there, giggling and whispering in little groups, making the alumni feel old and settled.

With two brides on one side of her, and three young mothers discussing baby specialists on the other, Louise felt like a fish out of water. Almost everyone she knew was married, all the girls in her class, even most of Nancy's friends. And she, at 25, had her first beau!

"Yes, we're mad about each other," a blue-eyed freshman was confiding at the top of her lungs to a pert little sophomore across the table. "But we're not going to be married. Not now, anyway. My dear! There are limits—"

"Of course!" the wise little sophomore agreed eagerly. "A medical student, of all things! Years before he'll have anything. What a silly you'd be to consider it!"

Lou looked at them with mingled pity and admiration. Heavens, how precocious they were. How they'd laugh at her if they knew why she was staying, pretending to take an interest in sorority affairs, when all the while she was just waiting until it would be late enough to walk over to the campus on the chance of seeing Mat . . . Mat, a chemistry student who made no pretense of being madly in love, and would never have any money, not if he lived to be a hundred.

She was afraid of being early, so she was almost late. When she neared the Chemistry Building where he worked, walking slowly, so that it would look casual and not premeditated, she saw him hurrying around the corner.

"Mat!—wait—Mat!"

By a miracle he heard her. "Hello, Lou; what are you doing here?"

"Sorority luncheon. I just happened to come this way." She tried to say it easily and naturally, as Nancy would. But how can you be easy and natural when your heart is pounding? How do girls manage to look cool and collected when they're in love? Just looking at him, at his shabby blue suit and crooked tie, made her want to laugh and cry and hug him all at once.

"You're going to drive me home! Oh, Mat—that's fun!"

"Drive you anywhere you say!" He flung his cap on the seat beside her and grinned at her boyishly. One hand dug into his pocket, out came a handful of change. "Twenty-five and 10 is 35, and a dollar, one thirty-five, and 50—good grief, I've got $1.85. Let's go get an Italian dinner. What do you say?"

This Amazing New-type

ATLANTIC GASOLINE

is just the kind of MOTOR FUEL you have long wanted

. . . A gasoline so distinctly extra-powered that the most inexperienced driver can immediately notice the difference;

. . . So smooth-acting that fuel "knocks" are definitely banished;

. . . So clean and complete-burning that carbon and valve-grinding are ancient history;

. . . So easy starting that a second prodding by the starter is rarely necessary;

. . . The most thoroughly efficient, all-round gasoline you have ever used. . . . And one that will prove decisively that an extra quality motor fuel can be obtained without extra cost.

All regular Atlantic pumps and all Atlantic service stations have this new-type gasoline — the name "Atlantic Gasoline" is complete identification.

Pirate Woes Continue.
Loss of Hemsley Hurts.
Benching of Big Poison.
Last of Famous Trio.
Grantham's Bat Missed.
Women's Swim Meet.

DOPE ON WANER BROTHERS IS UPSET

IF THERE is anything in the category of misfortune or tough luck that has not befallen the Pirates during the last three weeks it would be a mighty hard matter to single it out. It's just one blow after another for the luckless Buccaneers, and instead of getting an improvement in the breaks as time passes the situation appears only to be getting worse.

Ralston Hemsley

Now another valuable player has been added to the hospital list, just at a time when he was sorely needed. In addition to losing yesterday's game and a chance to gain a box score on the Cubs, the Corsairs also were deprived of the services of Catcher Ralston Hemsley. That spells another heavy loss of strength, and probably a further delay in getting back into a winning stride, as Hemsley had been catching in his best form of the season and without his punch, speed and clever backstopping the team will be even weaker than it has been during the disastrous home slump.

THE injury to Hemsley—a severe spiking of the left foot, which will keep him out of the game for some time, is all the more regretable because it looked from the stands as if Charley Fullis, Giant outfielder, could have avoided it.

Of course, no one would accuse Fullis of deliberately trying to injure a fellow player, but it appeared that he was unduly reckless and careless in ploughing into Hemsley.

FOR he was an easy out and had no chance to score, so there was no excuse for taking any chances that might mean injury to the man guarding the plate.

And Fullis put himself in a worse light by going straight to the Giant dugout without attempting to offer Hemsley any assistance or even glancing in his direction to see if he had been injured. It was a mishap that might easily have been avoided.

Paul Waner

NO BASEBALL fan in this sector even dreamed a year or two ago that the time would ever come when Paul Waner, champion batter and "most valuable player in the National League" in 1927, would be benched as a "weak sister" in the Pirate lineup, while his younger brother, Lloyd, was kept on duty as one of the most serviceable and brilliant performers on the roster. Yet that's what came to pass yesterday, showing again what folly it is to take anything for granted in the uncertain diamond sport.

AND nobody questioned the wisdom of the move, at that, as circumstances were such that the withdrawal of Paul from the lineup was fully justified. The elder Waner had been falling short of living up to his reputation as "Big Poison" to the enemy.

Not only had he slumped wofully in his batting and in the all-important matter of knocking in runs, but his fielding also was poor and his failure to play properly the rebound of hits against the right-field stand was giving opposing players many an extra-base hit. Paul himself took his benching philosophically and in good grace. He said he realized he had not been going well and expressed the hope that the shift would help the club.

AND meanwhile, the younger Waner, who was originally adjudged as not being near the class of Paul, continues to prove one of the main props of the team. When he hit .355 in 1927, his first year, in the majors, they said he was only a flash; when he batted .335 the following season they said he was merely lucky and could not last.

Bob Veach

This year, up to today, he has batted .357. Until yesterday, when Pie Traynor forged ahead of him, he was tied for the leadership of the Pirates in hitting. He tops all his mates in number of base hits made and leads the whole league in triples. That shows how little faith can be placed in early signs in baseball.

THE last surviving member of one of the greatest hitting outfields of all time passed into retirement the other day when Bob Veach drew his unconditional release from the Toledo club, of the American Association. For several years, Veach, Ty Cobb and Sam Crawford formed the outfield of the Detroit American League club and they were the batting terrors of the circuit, making life miserable for practically every opposing pitcher in the loop.

DETROIT'S great trio began to break up when Crawford was sent to Los Angeles after the 1917 season. Cobb withdrew from the game when the 1928 season ended, and now the last of them passes out in the release of Veach.

Veach kept going at a surprisingly good clip until this year. Last season he batted at the lofty mark of .382 for Toledo, and led all players who took part in 100 or more games. In the big show Veach hit above .300 in nine seasons, his best average being .355 in 1919.

IT IS to be hoped that the appearance of George Grantham in uniform yesterday will be followed by the speedy mending of his injured foot and an early return to the lineup. Just how sadly that player has been missed by the Bucs cannot be told on paper.

For Grantham and Traynor represented the Pirates' heaviest punch, and George's continued absence since Pie returned to his post has left many runs on the bases that would have been driven in if his big bat had been on the job.

GRANTHAM'S great value to the Corsairs on the offense, to say nothing of his speed and the brilliant game he has been playing at second base, is shown by the fact that in his last 20 times at bat he drove in no fewer than 15 runs. Contrast that with the marks that some of the other local players have made during the last three weeks. Paul Waner knocked in only 10 runs in 100 trips to the plate, Earl Sheely pushed over only seven in 91 times at bat, and Adam Comorosky failed to do much better, barring the one occasion last week when he won a game by making a triple with the bases full. Grantham cannot be rushed back into the lineup too soon for the good of the team.

Josephine McKim

WHILE the women's national A. A. U. swimming championship meet, which John T. Taylor of this city, will referee, is in progress at Honolulu from today until Saturday, the interest of aquatic fans hereabouts will center in the performances of Miss Josephine McKim, former Homestead L. A. C. girl, now of the Canal Zone.

There is every promise of a splendid showing on the part of Miss McKim, judging from reports of her trials, and she bids fair to come without some championship honors to her credit, not only in the one-mile event, for which she holds the world record of 24 minutes, 49 3-5 seconds, but also at some of the shorter distances. Victory this year will be international in scope, as for the first time Japanese and Australian mermaids will be among the contenders.

KAUFFMANN SETS PACE FOR LOCALS

Carl Kauffmann.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—Henry Fabrizio, a stocky youth from Brooklyn who earns his daily bread by working with a pick and shovel, came, saw and conquered a record-breaking field of Muny golfers yesterday in the first 18-hole round of the qualifying test of the National Public Links championship tournament at Forest Park.

The 21-year-old shot maker, who never could get time off from his labors to compete in the event before, whizzed around the rain-soaked championship course in 70 strokes, two under par, and gained a head start of two strokes at the half-way mark of the qualifying test over his nearest rival, Connell Kersey, 17-year-old Louisville boy who was second.

FINE PUTTING WINS

Deadly approaches and sensational putting were responsible for Fabrizio's round, which may be accepted as a course record for Forest Park because of the longer tees used for the tournament. So accurate was he with the $2.50 putter he employed that he had 16 one-putt greens.

On the others, he sank the pellet with two putts. His feat was all the more astounding considering the slowness of the greens which were showered by a damaging cloudburst early in the morning.

The only trouble I had was in driving," Henry grinned.

"Usually, I sock 'em for 250 yards, but I couldn't get any distance. The fairways were slow. I guess I didn't tee high enough. I'm a happy kid just the same over my score. Guess golf isn't a rich man's game all the time."

Four birdies were chalked up by Fabrizio. His card:

Par, out	4	3	3	5	5	3	4	4	6—37
Fabrizio, out.	4	3	2	4	5	3	4	5	6—36
Par, in	3	5	3	5	4	4	4	3	4—35—72
Fabrizio, in..	3	5	3	5	3	4	4	3	4—34—70

Putting was the forte of Kersey, too. He employed the club just 26 times on his 18-hole trip and had seven one-putt greens.

Kersey, out..	5	4	3	4	5	3	4	3	6—37
Kersey, in ..	4	5	4	4	4	3	3	4	4—35—72

HIGH SCORES LIKELY

Because of the wet condition of the course, a tough one even under ideal weather conditions, scores of the 140 players were uniformly high, and it was probable that 157 or 158 strokes for the 36 holes would be low enough to land in the championship bracket of 32 who will fight it out for the crown over the match-play route tomorrow, Friday and Saturday.

Carl Kauffmann, Pittsburgh, who has won the title for the past two years, appeared to be an easy qualifier. The champion, who seldom shoots a sparkling medal score, carded 77.

Pittsburgh's team, aside from Kauffmann, appeared to be having a tough time of it, and, unless they pick up in scoring today are unlikely to get into the match play eliminations. C. J. Lunden ranked second in the scoring on the Steel City team, having an 82, Robert Graham was next with 83, and the other boys scored as follows: Mike Galido, 85; Earl (Tex) Wessell, 80, and R. G. Barr, 89.

It did not appear that Pittsburgh would be able to retain its Warren G. Harding Cup trophy, which it has won for the last two years, being eleventh in the running after the first day's play. Only miracles would turn the trick today for the Steel Citizens.

Other favorites came through the first round in fair shape, but the lowest scores fell to dark horses. The low scorers, following Fabrizio and Kersey, were:

TOMORROW—THE STINGIEST MAN.

PAUL'S SLUMP PERPLEXING

Paul Waner's batting slump is a perplexing thing. It is altogether possible that the skidding of the star hitter was given impetus by the injuries sustained in his collision with George Grantham. Paul nursed a bad leg for some time, but he remained in the games owing to the weakened condition of the club.

There has been an absence of those ringing liners Paul was in the habit of smearing into left field territory. The dearth of these drives, however, might be explained by the fact that many of the hurlers are working consistently on the inside corner when the slugger is at the plate. Paul has clouted a lot of hot drives into right, yet he is not within 40 points of his best form. He is batting almost .330, a mark that would be relished by a lot of players, by the way.

GRIMES ON MEND

Burleigh Grimes is able to pitch in the batting sessions, but the injured star is unable to throw overhanded. It is going on three weeks since he sustained his injury in New York. In that space of time Grimes probably would have won four or five games, everything else being even.

He's assistant secretary of the Giants now, but years ago Larry Doyle, formerly McGraw's second-sacker, was a star at the plate, in the field and on the bases, and Larry did not give way to a righthand batter whenever a southpaw pitcher appeared on the mound.

BROKE LEG HERE

Doyle was the league's leading hitter in 1915, the lively ball being unheard of at that time. And the National had a lot of classy left-handers who were tough for some of the southpaw hitters. There were Jim Vaughn, Eppa Rixey, Wilbur Cooper and Slim Sallee, just to mention a few.

Larry broke his leg one afternoon in 1916 at the home plate in the Oakland Orchard. He had just tripled off Wilbur Cooper and was scoring on a squeeze play when the accident happened. Not long after the misfortune he was traded to the Cubs for Heinie Zimmerman.

Former Dayton Player Believed Suicide

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—The body of a man found in a hotel here Sunday with the throat slashed, has been tentatively identified as that of Tony Brottem, a catcher, formerly with Dayton of the Central League. Officials said indications were the man had committed suicide.

From Dayton it was learned Brotten had been given his unconditional release two weeks ago.

MURPHY BEATS PRITCHARD

Fighting Dick Pritchard, of the Pittsburgh Lyceum, and Todd Murphy, of the Duke O'Hara Club, staged a sensational fight in the main bout of the splendid Twenty-seventh Ward A. C. amateur boxing show held last night. The judges disagreed after three fast rounds, and Murphy won the decision in the extra round.

In another prolonged setto, Jack Shuster, of the Highland A. C., defeated Spark Ewalt, of the Charvis Club, in a bout that sparkled with action, particularly slugging. Several knockouts also marked the program. The summary:

135-pound class—Marty Gornick, Duke O'Hara A. C., won from Artie McGivern, Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., judges' decision, three rounds. Todd Murphy, Duke O'Hara A. C., won from Fighting Dick Pritchard, Pittsburgh Lyceum, four rounds to decision.

Lincoln Fields Meet To Open August 26

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—With its program built around the $25,000 Lincoln handicap, the Lincoln Fields Jockey Club will open its 30 day summer meeting August 26.

The meeting will be conducted under the direction of G. Bruce Head, former general manager of the Fairmount Jockey Club, which recently was sold to a New Orleans group.

BARBUTI MAY WIN O. K.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—The case of Ray Barbuti, American Olympic hero of 1928, now under suspension by the Amateur Athletic Union, has been revived by disclosure of correspondence in which, Avery Brundage, of Chicago, national president of the A. A. U., sifts the athletes charges of irregularities among amateur competitors, finds them lacking in proof, although "doubtless some of them are true or partly true," and volunteers to help Barbuti gain reinstatement.

The correspondence was made public through the office of Daniel J. Ferris, national secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U., and sheds some additional light on the effect of Barbuti's accusations which created a sensation several months ago. Barbuti, after attacking A. A. U. officials and accusing well known amateur athletes of being paid off after the big meets, refused to divulge names and details. Subsequently he was closeted with Brundage and amplified his charges.

The last game of the Giant-Pirate series is set for this afternoon, but the event has no holiday touches. Both teams looked like second-division entries yesterday as the Giants made it two in a row. There was some sort of a fielding taint to every one of the eight tallies made by the two clubs, the score being 5 to 3.

Kremer is set to twirl for the Buccos today, it being probable that Larry Benton or Fred Fitzsimmons will be on the mound for McGraw. The latter, however, may depend on Dutch Henry, another left-hander, inasmuch as Bill Walker won the verdict over the Freebooters yesterday.

HAS BEEN ILL

Kremer has been ill for the past two days, but it was felt this morning that he would be able to go to the slab. In the event of a switch, Larry French will face the New Yorkers.

The ill luck that has followed the Pirates in the past month continued in the second clash with the Giants, as Rolly Hemsley, classy young catcher, was spiked by Chick Fullis, New York centerfielder, in a jam play at the plate. Fullis was trying to score from third on a grounder to Traynor in the fifth when his spikes tore an ugly gash in the great toe of the right foot. The maskman had to leave the game and he probably is lost to the team for more than a week.

Charlie Hargreaves had to hustle into the game as Hemsley was taken out. The Giants opened a base-running attack on Hargreaves and Jess Petty which had a big bearing in winning the game. Petty allowed the runners too much lead, it seemed, and Hargreaves' throwing was off color.

Petty, nevertheless, pitched clever ball, his supporting cast being very

He was cut by Fullis in retiring the latter on a throw from Traynor. Club physician and Manager Donie Bush are seen walking off the field with Hemsley. The accident furnishes just another worry for the already overly-harassed manager of the locals.

DEMPSEY MAY RUN NEXT SCHMELING FIGHT

JACOBS SAYS CAREY DENIES RUN-OUT

SEATTLE, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, German contender for the world's heavyweight boxing championship, declared here last night that William F. Carey, head of Madison Square Garden, New York, had denied to him over the long distance telephone that he had ceased negotiations for Jack Sharkey-Schmeling fight. A dispatch from New York had said that Carey had announced that the bout, set tentatively for September 19 at Detroit, was off indefinitely.

DEMPSEY IN PICTURE

Jacobs, who is in Seattle with Schmeling on an exhibition tour issued an ultimatum to Carey that unless he make a formal denial of the statement credited to him, Jacobs would turn promotion of the match over to Jack Dempsey.

The German fighter's manager said in that case the bout between the German and the Boston gob would be held in Agua Caliente, Mexico, either on Thanksgiving Day or early in December.

"Carey told me on the telephone," Jacobs asserted, "that he was set to go through with the match in Detroit on either September 19 or 26. Unless I get this matter straightened out today, I will drop all business dealings with the Garden outfit and open negotiations with Jack Dempsey. Dempsey has offered me more than Carey."

WON'T BOX SCOTT

"As to boxing Phil Scott for Humbert Fugazy in New York," Jacobs continued, "Schmeling never signed a contract with Fugazy and I don't see why he should. We will not box Scott regardless of any action, past or future, on the part of the New York Boxing Commission."

CAREY MAY TRANSFER GO

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—Fresh developments in the controversy over the Schmeling-Sharkey heavyweight match were expected today with the arrival of Dick Dunn, Detroit promoter.

Although Madison Square Garden, through W. F. Carey, yesterday advised the New York Boxing authorities it had abandoned further negotiations with Schmeling, thus acceding to the commission's wishes, it was considered possible the contracts might be transferred to Detroit, which offers a site for the bout.

Carey, however, refused to say what his next move would be in the face of the commission's steadfast opposition to any dealings with the suspended German heavyweight.

The commission, meanwhile, considering it has gained command of the situation, has suggested that Sharkey be matched with Phil Scott, the Englishman, or Tommy Loughran, now eligible for bigger game after cleaning up the light-heavyweight division.

As a "big stick" to wield, if necessary, the commission threatens steps which would bar the widely heralded Al Singer-Kid Chocolate match, billed for August 29, at the Polo Grounds, if the Garden shows any disposition to flout its wishes in the heavyweight business.

Baker Rallies To Draw With Gans

Last night the veteran of many a stirring battle staged a whirlwind finish in his 10-round mix-up with Baby Joe Gans, of California, at the Queensboro Stadium, to earn a draw.

It was a hectic battle, with the sergeant fighting like a madman in the closing rounds and cutting up the Negro battler's face with stinging rights.

The early rounds were all Gans.' He dropped Baker in the second round for a count of nine with a right to the jaw and another right to the heart.

LEGION TITLE FRAY TODAY

HARRISBURG, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—Uniontown defeated York 3 to 1 here yesterday in the first of two title games, and will meet Minersville today to determine Pennsylvania's contender in the American Legion regional junior baseball eliminations at Philadelphia next week.

The game was a pitchers' battle between Joe Smith and Walter Hileman, with the stocky Uniontown flinger holding the edge all the way. Hileman settled down after a wobbly first inning and pitched a good game. The score:

Hammer Advances In Hole Net Play

JEANNETTE, Pa., Aug. 7.—The pruning knife was further applied to the field in the men's singles of the Westmoreland County tennis championships here yesterday, with the result that only six of 32 starters remained in the running for the title now held by Edgar (Tack) Hammer of Greensburg.

Still in the running for the title are Dick Heacox, Don Snyder and Hammer of Greensburg, the latter looked upon to repeat his performance of 1925, and Gus Wolfe, of Jeannette.

Heacox, who Monday scored a surprising three-set victory over H. B. Barclay, swept through his second round match in easy fashion, eliminating Harry Garman, 6-1, 6-2. The other Greensburg entry to gain the third round was Snyder, who defeated Paul Sailor, of Jeannette, 6-1, 6-4. Wolfe entered the semi-finals, by putting out Wayne Gordon, Jeannette, 6-2, 6-4.

Callahan Stopped By Tony Herrera

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 7.—(AP.)—Tony Herrera, Chicago lightweight, knocked out Billy Callahan, Detroit, after 45 seconds of the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout here last night. Callahan went down under a barrage of rights and lefts and was down for five minutes.

Lee Sala, of Donora, was awarded the decision over Mickey Solmen, of New Castle, in the six-round semi-final. Sala was given a rest when he claimed a foul in the third round. Harry Spencer, of Washington, won all the way over Eddie Poole, of Pittsburgh, in another six. Joe Wolcott, local Negro, stopped Joe Todd, of Donora, in the second round after two knockdowns. In the opener, Eddie Marks, Washington, knocked out Johnny Putney, Pittsburgh, in the second round.

Fight Results

BUSHY GRAHAM COMBINATION FIGHTER

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Local boxing fans will see a combination of Harry Greb, Johnny Dundee, Memphis Pal Moore and Jimmy Slattery in action when Bushy Graham, of Utica, N. Y., former claimant of the bantamweight title, comes to the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, next Monday night to box Benny Schwartz, of Baltimore, in the 10-round main bout.

Whitey Labach

Bushy is a jumping-jack in the ring and also a speedster, and he moves about with his arms dangling at his sides, like Slattery, but he is nobody's sap. He can bring those fists up into punching action in astonishing fashion and is a deadly puncher with an overhand right to the chin which has spilled many of his foes for the count.

Among the men he has boxed are Abe Goldstein, Bud Taylor, Frankie Genaro, Fidel LaBarba, Tony Canzoneri, Charley (Phil) Rosenberg and Izzy Schwartz, all claimants to titular distinction; Pete Zivic, Phil Verdi, Johnny Curtin, Jackie Snyder, Tommy Ryan, Larry Goldberg, Joe Ryder, California Joe Lynch, Eddie O'Dowd, Davy Abad, Chick Suggs and Billy Kowalik.

Schwartz has boxed Pancho Villa and Charley (Phil) Rosenberg, former champions, and a flock of other good ones, and scored a smashing hit in beating Jackie Rodgers in his local debut at the Bridgeville Speedway recently.

LABACH IN SEMI-FINAL

Brooks (Whitey) Labach, formerly of Wilmerding, but for the last few years of Williamsport, Pa., will return to his home district to box Young Saylor, of Charlerol, in the semi-final to the Graham-Schwartz bout. Brooks has done very well for himself in the hard coal region and is touted as a greatly improved fighter. He formerly was known as Whitey Laubaugh, but has adopted the correct spelling of his family name for ring purposes. Among the men he has boxed are Mickey Diamond, Bobby Richardson, Bud Cicerone, Mickey Fedor, Walter Dickerson, Harry Hayes, Tug Phillips, Sailor Matty, Jimmy O'Hara, Rudy Ceder, Freddie Washington and Carmen Spagnolla.

The Beaver Valley fans are het up over the Tiger Joe Randall-Mike Lucas bout which features Ray Foutts' semi-monthly show at Junction Park, New Brighton, tomorrow night. They don't know much about Lucas, who hails from Cleveland, but Randall's feat of twice knocking out Dominick Protio and also stopping Young Rudy has 'em talking.

Art Malay, of Chicago, and Frankie Wine, of Butte, Mont., heavyweights, will meet in a return bout featuring the show at the Palmero Stadium at Sebring, O., tomorrow evening. Malay won the first meeting. Tom Chapelow meets Harry DeVore, Sailor Lee boxes Jackie Taylor and Kid Holt battles Jimmy Burns in the preliminaries.

SHOW IS POSTPONED

The boxing show scheduled at Conneaut Lake Park tonight has been postponed until Wednesday night of next week because of an injury to Young Guido, who was to meet Johnny Piai in the 10-round main bout.

Kid Chocolate boxes Tommy Lorenzo in the main bout of a show at Mitchel Field, L. I., tonight. Pablo Dano meets Chato Laredo at San Francisco, and Young Jack Thompson clashes with Jimmy Duffy at Oakland, Cal. Lorenzo holds a victory over Joey Scalfaro, who held Chocolate to a draw, and Mitchel Field was the scene of Chocolate's first fight in this country, a year ago.

Andy Martin, of Boston, has been matched to box Battling Battalino at Hartford, Conn., Thursday night of next week. Battalino is the sensation who upset the dope recently by handing Al Brown, the newly-crowned bantamweight champion, a beating at Hartford.

JACKIE RODGERS BACK

Jackie Rodgers, local Negro bantamweight, is back from New York, where he trained for a couple of weeks with Baby Joe Gans, and will finish his conditioning here for his bout with Hughey Devine at Johnstown Thursday night of next week. His manager, Johnny Deutsch, has a number of matches pending for him.

Boxing Commissions To Attend Meeting

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—Four additional state boxing commissions will be represented when the National Boxing Association holds its annual meeting here August 16-18. South Dakota, Tennessee, Idaho and North Carolina have been admitted to membership in the association since the last meeting.

President Paul Prehn has prepared a list of changes in the constitution and by-laws for presentation at the meeting.

Fine closeup of Charleroi ring star, who became the uncrowned flyweight champion of the world, in the estimation of the fans, by decisively defeating Frankie Genaro, National Boxing Association world champion, in their 10-round main bout at the Meyers Bowl, Monday night, following his feat of having beaten Corp. Izzy Schwartz, the other title claimant, in three out of four bouts. His manager, Jim Buchanan, is at work on a plan to lay claim to the championship.

PYLE GRANTED WEEK TO PAY

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—C. C. Pyle, New York-Los Angeles footrace promoter, has been granted a week's respite from wage claims of employes in the bunion derby which four times within a week nearly landed him in jail.

City Prosecutor Lloyd Nix gave Pyle until August 13 to pay $1,000 to Cleo Balcom and her orchestra and Paul Hickman, leader of a troupe of actors, or make good on his promise to find employment in the films at least for the stranded girls.

Last Thursday, Saturday, Monday and yesterday, in the order named, were the days set by Deputy Commissioner M. E. Richardson and Nix upon which Pyle must pay the claims or face arrest on charges of violating the state labor laws. Pyle appeared each time and asked for an extension of the time limit.

GENEVA GETS GRID TRAINING CAMP

By JESS CARVER.

Geneva College has been added to the infant list of tri-state district college boasting football training camps. The Covenanters, according to the good word from A. C. Edgecomb, Covenanter athletic director, will pitch a camp at Geneva-on-the-Lake, opening up September 3.

With Geneva going out of town for training, there are now four schools with away-from-the-campus camps, Pitt, West Virginia and Thiel being the other three.

NUCLEUS STRONG

Eighteen veterans will report to Coach Flenniken, of the Covenanters, as a nucleus for this year's Gold and White eleven. Despite the loss of several stars, the Covenanter squad stacks up as being a fairly powerful appearing one.

Wash-Jeff, scheduled to open its fortieth football campaign the day after Labor Day, will start the 1929 drive with a split-control coaching system, which may or may not be for the best. The Presidents have experimented with the double coaching idea on two previous occasions, with tepid results.

1902 BAD YEAR

In 1902 and 1903, Bill Seaman and Finis Montgomery, both Wash-Jeff graduates, handled the reigns, the Prexys losing all of their important games in '02 and doing a bit better in '03, beating Navy and Western Reserve.

Again in 1908, when Dave Morrow and Biddy Aiken split the grief, the Red and Black got away without having to put a mortgage on the goal posts, winning from Pitt, Tech, Lehigh and Dickinson and getting a draw with Army.

This year, Ray Ride, Bill Amos and the famouse Fats Henry will be in charge.

Such a situation, with three mentors, provides fine opportunity for some great buck passing should the occasion arise.

MEDAL PLAY TOURNEY ON TODAY

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

The first one-day medal play tournament of the Pennsylvania Golf Association ever held in this district is on the books for today. The competition will be staged at the South Hills Country Club, and a fairly large field is expected to compete.

This morning, the entrants are playing at 18 holes medal, under full handicaps. This afternoon, they will participate in an 18-hole fourball match play against par, handicaps to be applied as in play against par, event.

Low gross and low net prizes for morning and afternoon will be awarded.

The entries are restricted to those members of the Pennsylvania Golf Association holding P. G. A. handicap cards. Application for handicap cards may be made at the tee, but such applicants must play from scratch.

Two tourneys are on the books for tomorrow afternoon. The Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania will hold a one-day affair at the Montour Heights Country Club, near Coraopolis, while the Allegheny County Laundrymen's Exchange will play at the Shannopin Country Club.

The fifth annual Washington-Greene County golf championship tournament got under way yesterday at the Monongahela Valley Country Club. The Washington County Golf and Country Club, Nemacolin Country Club, McDonald Country Club and Monongahela Valley Club were represented. Tommy Waggoner of Brownsville, golfer at the Nemacolin Country Club, was medalist. He scored a 73.

"Gentlemen:—In the midst of some of my longer and more vigorous Rocking Chair contests, I have found myself, time and again, philosophizing upon the more serious problems of life. Naturally, during these retrospections, my mind turns to clothing—its worth and pleasure to man. And when I ruminate thusly I can consider but one brand of clothing—'Plus-Sixes.' Beside them everything else pales into obscurity. They're human . . . they slide into the rhythm of my rocking with an appreciation that is almost sentimental. They are, to voice a platitude, great. CUBS DEPART FOR INVASION OF EAST

YANKEES, A.'S OPEN SERIES TODAY

Associated Press.

Sped by the prayers of a million Chicago fans, the Cubs are on the march today seeking a final conquest of the East.

In two swings along the Atlantic seaboard this year, the Bruins have won 19 games and lost nine; a continuation of that pace through the 16 engagements of the impending invasion would send the young men of Joseph McCarthy back to the West late this month all but assured of their pennant.

Despite a 5 to 4 defeat by Brooklyn before a record mid-week crowd of 55,000 at Wrigley Field yesterday, the Bruins are eastward bound with their lead of seven and one-half games intact. The Pirates also lost—to the Giants by 5 to 3—and must face the Clan McGraw in another game today.

ENTHUSIASM RIFE

Chicago burned with baseball enthusiasm yesterday as it had at no other time since the dim and distant days of Tinker and Evers and Chance. Wave after wave of pennant-hungry fans swept through turnstiles, filled vast stands and poured out upon the field. For the first time in the history of William Wrigley's enlarged plant, amazed club officials had to slam the gates shut at a mid-week game, with 55,000 yelling madmen (and mad-women inside and perhaps 25,000 more milling about in the streets outside.

Even with the loss of this farewell home game, the Cubs quit Wrigley Field with a record of 14 victories and only two defeats in their stand against the East. Their grand total for the season against the East to date is 41 victories and 16 defeats.

WALKER BEATS BUCS

Bill Walker performed upon the mound against the Pirates and pulled out of a mean hole in the ninth to preserve the slender lead Giant hits and Pittsburgh errors had given him in the eighth. With the bases filled by three singles and two men out, he forced Pie Traynor to roll weakly to third base for the final out.

Jess Petty went the route for the Buccaneers, and permitted the Giants to bunch their hits where they would do the greatest damage. Paul Waner, who has been in a batting and fielding slump, was benched to give him a chance to rest up a bit.

Rain interfered with the Cardinal-Brave game at St. Louis and the Phils and the Reds were not scheduled.

A'S HOLD GROUND

While Chicago was cheering its Cubs, American League contenders were, in effect, marking time. The Athletics bowed to the Browns by 8 to 3 in the first game of a double-header, but came back strong to win the second by 11 to 3 behind Eddie Rommel's knuckle ball, which was working. The Senators trimmed the Yanks by 13 to 9 in the opener, but Freddy Heimach pitched a three-hit shutout in the nightcap, winning for the champions by 8 to 0.

This left the Athletic margin stationary at 11½ games, with the Yankees on deck at Shibe Park for a double-header today and a single clash tomorrow.

Cleveland nosed out Detroit by 6 to 5, and entered into a tie with the Browns for third place. The Sox, White and Red, were not scheduled.

Grimes and Grantham See Pirate Victory Over Giants—Fade!

BURLEIGH GRIMES GEORGE GRANTHAM THE SAME GRIMES AND THE SAME GRANTHAM

Two of the charter members of the Pirates' Cripples' Club are Pitcher Burleigh Grimes and Second Baseman George Grantham. Things haven't been the same since they have been forced on the sidelines. Yesterday they were sitting out in the bullpen in street clothes watching the game and the photographer caught their happy expressions as the Bucs grabbed themselves a two-run lead in the first inning and then as the Giants came from behind to win in the eighth. The contrasts afford quite a study, don't they? And how the pair wish they could get back in there and give their staggering brethern a lift!

POWLEY MAY WIN CHANCE WITH N. Y.

By TOM BIRKS.

There is more than a fair chance that Harry Powley, Verona Community speed ball king, will go south with the New York Giants next spring for the training period. And should Powley show some of the stuff he has been on local sandlots, he has a good chance to stay in the big show.

Eddie Roush, Giant middle fielder, now out with an injury, made the trip to Verona last Saturday. Powley, however, only pitched one inning, retiring the side on strikeouts, and then rain broke up the game.

Powley reported to Manager McGraw at Forbes Field this afternoon and got a chance to display his wares for the Giants' boss.

The feeling around Verona among well posted baseball men is that Powley will eventually make the grade as an outfielder. Bill Bright, popular manager of the Verona team, says Powley is the best pitching prospect ever to wear a Verona suit, but that when Powley goes up, it will be as an outfielder.

IS FINE FIELDER

"Harry can do everything an outfielder should," says Bright. "Like Klein, of the Phillies, he is a fine hitter. He is a real ball hawk, fast as a streak and can run bases like a veteran."

When Bright starts getting enthusiastic regarding a player on his club, he must be good.

Powley staged the sensational feat of hitting three home runs in one game, and his total of seven in one week should stand for a long time.

Manager McGraw is certainly looking over plenty of Pittsburgh's sandlot talent. Harry Geisler and Jacoby, the old Ambridge pitcher, worked out with the Giants yesterday.

GIMBELS VICTOR

The Gimbels nine won a stubbornly-fought contest from the Kaufmann team in the Commercial and Industrial loop by a score of 4 to 3 at Garfield Park last evening.

Roberts and Heizel staged a pitchers' battle, and it was Sullivan's home run in the fourth inning that turned the tide in favor of the league leaders. Kaufmanns battled hard in the later innings and had the tying run on second base when the side was retired.

Kelly and Sullivan led the hitting for Gimbels, while Finkelstein touched Russ Roberts for a couple of hits for Kaufmanns. Russ Robers fanned nine and Heizel six. The score:

HURLS NO-HIT FRAY

Johnny Mitchell's no-hit, no-run victory for Dormont over Beltzhoover was the feature game of last evening's sandlot card, but there were some other fine games on the program. In the Philadelphia Company League, the Railway nine defeated Equitable Gas 8 to 3. Verona blanked Duquesne 8 to 0 in a Greater Pittsburgh League fray, and the North Side Civics defeated Book Shoe 13 to 9.

In the C. and I. League, besides the Gimbel-Kaufmann game, Reick-McJunkin defeated the Carnegie Steel nine 7 to 1. The Troy Hill Millers downed St. Anthonys 12 to 1 in a North Side Twilight League affair, and C. M. C. won over the Cosletts in the Central circuit, 5 to 4.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

Answered By

WILLIE MacFARLANE

Former National Open champion and one of the world's great golfers; Bermuda Open, 1929; Bermuda Mid-Ocean, 1929.

I firmly believe the three-quarter swing is the best for the average golfer, especially for those who are past 35, and who have taken up the game in late years. The first reason for this is that the man who has not played the game as before mentioned will find his muscles are not like those of the youth of 20, thus making it much harder to obtain that free, natural swing desired by us all. Also, the three-quarter swing is much easier to control and is more compact and therefore surer.

With the full swing, the player is more apt to put in a body effort, thereby losing all rhythm and timing, a very common fault among all golfers. With the three-quarter swing you will find that the little loss of distance will be doubly repaid by consistency, and we all strive to be consistent and must be to score well.

Series Tickets Not on Sale At Chicago

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—There is no use trying—you cannot buy world series tickets or even order them at the Cubs Park.

With the Cubs leading the National League race by 7½ games, hundreds of inquiries about world series ducats are received daily.

William Veeck, president of the Cubs, said today, however, that the question of tickets would not be discussed until it is certain the Cubs have won the National League flag.

PIRATES SEEK FINAL GAME

loose. As stated above, there was something wrong with every run made by the two clubs. Bill Walker fought it out throughout the contest, hits being numerous, but some of them were scratchy.

COMMY STARS

The contest was enlivened by a brilliant catch by Adam Comorosky. Commy made one of the greatest catches ever seen in the Oakland orchard, as he ran to the scoreboard to rob Travis Jackson of an extra-base hit.

A two-edged error by Eddie Farrell and Mel Ott helped the Pirates to two runs in the first. Bartell started with a single. L. Waner filed to Cohen, and Traynor followed with a grounder to Farrell, who threw wide to second. Ott fumbled the ball in right, and Bartell scored, Traynor going to third. Pie scored on Comorosky's long fly to Fullis.

Farrell opened the fourth for McGraw with a single, and he gradually worked his way around on three more hits. Comorosky's great catch of Jackson's long drive in this round prevented a flock of counters.

Fullis opened the fifth with a double, and the Giants took the lead by scoring two. Chick went to third on Leach's long fly to Flagstead, but he was stopped at the plate on Farrell's grounder to Traynor. Hemsley was spiked by Fullis on the play and had to leave the game in favor of Hargreaves.

As soon as Hargreaves went in, the Giants opened a base-running drive. Farrell stole second, and when nobody covered on the throw, Farrell reached third. Terry singled to score Farrell, and Memphis Bill then stole the middle bag, to score on Ott's single.

Sheely and Clarke came through with singles at the start of the fifth to help to force a deadlock. Sheely went to third on Clarke's hit. Walker had a double play in front of him on Petty's bounder, but he blundered and had to take Petty at first. Sheely held third as Clarke went to second. Bartell's fly to Leach scored Sheely.

Terry's hot shot to center in the eighth was the start of the Pirate downfall. Traynor made a neat stop of Ott's grounder, but threw low to second, and both runners were safe. Petty fell as he tried to field Jack's bunt, and the bases were filled. Terry tallied on a force play, and Jackson scored on Cohen's single.

No-Hit, No-Run Tilt Turned in by Ridge

Dick Ridge, star hurler of the J. J. Boyles, turned in a no-hit, no-run game against the Soho Board of Trade at Kennywood last evening, the Boyles winning, 4 to 0. In a previous encounter with the same club, Ridge allowed only three hits and his team won, 7-0. Tinta's home run was another featured of the contest. The score:

Fedor Puts K. O. On George Perrotta

Harold Scarney, of Youngstown, won a decision over Bombo Myers, of Canton, in a six-round bout. Nick Polis won a decision over Eddie Hogan, of Youngstown, in a six-round bout, listless and unexciting.

MARKET RALLIES WHEN MONEY RATE DROPS

Stocks Turn Active When List Starts Upward After Early Irregularity

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(AP.)—The stock market rallied briskly under the leadership of the steels today, when call money dropped from a renewal rate of 10 to 8 per cent.

The upturn, however, was not until after further liquidation of the utilities. The market turned dull on the decline, but activity picked up rapidly when the list started upward.

Speculative confidence in the market was restored by private London cables indicating that no change would be made in the Bank of England discount rate tomorrow, by the cessation of selling pressure against some of the public utility stocks, and by the announcement that freight car loadings in the week ended July 27, had set a new high record for the season.

STEEL TAKES LEAD

U. S. Steel common regained its old role as the market leader by moving up 5 points to a new high record at 216½. Crucible advanced 4½ points to a new peak at 109 and gains of a point or two were registered by some of the other so-called independent steels. Although steel trade centers reported a slight falling off in production last week, the weekly trade reviews continued cheerful, pointing out that July pig iron output was the third largest monthly total on record and that production for the first seven months also set a new high, exceeding the previous high mark in 1923 by nearly 4 per cent.

Short covering played an important part in the day's advance. "Bear" traders sold stocks freely earlier in the week as a result of the wide open break in some of the utilities on the Chicago Stock Exchange and on rumors of an increase in the London rate which they figured would result in a heavy withdrawal of funds from New York. Many timid speculators and investors sold stocks but brokerage houses reported that there was no unusual volume of long liquidation by powerful financial interests.

Rails, which had been rather sluggish all week, snapped back in brisk fashion. Chesapeake and Ohio rallied 10¼ points and Atchison moved up 6 to a new high at 207½. New York Central, Great Northern preferred, Nickel Plate, Chesapeake Corporation and Missouri Pacific sold 2 or more points higher.

COPPERS ADVANCE

Coppers moved forward under the leadership of Anaconda, which was taken in large blocks. Motors and accessories, which are believed to harbor a large short interest, also were marked up in impressive fashion, Mack Trucks, Borg Warner and American Bosch Magneto advancing 2 to 3 points. Adams Express, American Tobacco and Union Tank Car were bid up 5 to 7 points, the last-named touching a new high.

In the early reaction, Laclede Gas broke 30 points, Pacific Telephone 11¼ and A. M. Byers, Commercial Solvents, Auburn Auto, Diamond Match and Allied Chemical fell 5 to 7 points, but these losses were cut down in the early afternoon recovery.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—(AP.)—Wheat scored sharp early advances in price here today. A leading influence was that the Liverpool quotations failed to reflect in full yesterday's big break in values on this side of the Atlantic. There were also indications of overnight export business in wheat from the United States. Opening ⅝ to 3⅝c higher, Chicago wheat afterward continued to point upward. Corn and oats were also stronger, with corn starting ¾c to 2⅝c gain, and subsequently reacting somewhat. Provisions kept steady.

An outstanding feature in the wheat trade here was knowledge that the Liverpool market had closed today at only 1¾ to 2⅜ pence decline, whereas based on action of the Chicago market yesterday, the Liverpool quotations were due 5⅝ to 5⅞ pence lower. Moreover, estimates current today indicated that upward of 750,000 bushels of wheat from North America had been bought overnight for shipment to Europe, including domestic hard winter grades. Good sales of flour at Minneapolis were likewise reported.

Renewal of drought advices from Argentina and Australia counted also as a factor tending to strengthen wheat prices. Severe shortage of moisture was said to prevail in Cordova province, which contains 25 per cent of the total wheat acreage of Argentina. A summary of world's wheat supplies for the present season said the total would be around 220,000,000 bushels less than a five-year average.

United States Steel.

New high records for United States Steel are not surprising in view of the optimistic estimates regarding earnings for the remainder of this year. Steel is always a popular leader and its action recently has had much to do with bringing the increasing public buying in the general list.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 2 points on May, but generally 1 to 6 points higher on covering and some local buying inspired by relatively steady cables and talk of continued hot weather in the southwest.

The advance to 19.03c for October and 19.40 for March was checked by realizing, however, and a little more selling developed after the posting of the weather map which showed some rain in the Texas panhandle. By the end of the first half hour October had declined to 18.93c and March to 19.38c or to about yesterday's closing quotations.

Trading was generally quiet, with some trade buying reported on the decline. Private cables said there had been covering and foreign buying in the Liverpool market influenced by the talk of drouth in Texas.

The opening advance met considerable realizing and offerings increased after the publication of the weekly report of the Weather Bureau. October contracts sold off to 18.87c and March to 19.30c, making net declines of about 7 to 9 points, but trading was not active and the market was steadied at these figures by covering of trade buying. At midday the market was quiet with prices showing rallies of 5 or 6 points from the lowest.

Earnings Increased By Ludlum Steel

Ludlum Steel Company reports for six months ended June 30, consolidated net income of $701,395, after charges and taxes, compared to net income of $265,713 in the first half of 1928.

STOCKS QUIET IN LOCAL MARKET

Fuel Issues Hold Close to Previous Session's Prices; Industrial Stocks Narrow

Trading quieted down on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, but prices held steady around the quotations prevailing on the close last night.

Lone Star Gas, which ran up to new high ground on a rather heavy turnover the first two sessions of week did not display the same activity in the early market today, but the stock maintained its position near the best level of the movement. Professional traders who have been following the issue on the current movement are confident of their market position and there has been relatively little of the so-called "trading stock" liquidated the past few days. Street gossip has placed a price tag on the issue much higher than current quotations and, as the stock has a reputation for "making good," a good-sized following is holding on for the higher figure.

Western Public, the other trading favorite of the gas division, lagged along and held to its recent trading range around 38. Dixie Gas, which came into prominence recently, was turned over around 22½, but the clique which pushed the stock up a few days ago appeared to be standing aside for the moment, probably to allow the issue to digest any selling the upturn may bring in.

In the industrial section there were no important changes recorded in the forenoon dealings. Volume of trading was lighter than for several sessions and there was no concentration of activity in any particular issue.

U. S. CRITICIZED AS INEFFICIENT FINANCIER

Provincialism at Capital And Elsewhere Make New Role Hard for New York

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—As the principal financial center of the world, New York's changing impulses of optimism and pessimism at the stock exchange have world-wide ramifications.

Provincialism, articulated at Washington and elsewhere, make it difficult for New York to fulfill its new international role efficiently, and at the present time criticism is made in foreign capitals.

A sample of the Old World attitude is to be found in the comment of the financial editor of the Manchester Guardian Commercial, who pointed out:

"Much has been written on the causes of the economic disequilibrium between the United States and Europe, of which the persistent weakness of sterling in terms of dollars is the outward manifestation. The chief immediate causes are, of course, the long-continued share market boom in New York and the curious policy pursued by the Federal Reserve authorities in the face of that boom—a policy neither of complete disinterestedness (which would probably have allowed the speculators to cut their own throats long before this) nor of determined and vigorous hostility (which would have meant a short if very sharp shock), but of half hearted and indecisive 'pressure' which did very little harm to the Wall street operators but caused prolonged inconvenience to the rest of the world.

STATUS CHANGED

"The war changed the United States from a debtor into a creditor country, but she has as yet by no means awakened to the responsibilities which the change of status implies. She insists upon the settlement of her war debts, but opposes to payment the obstacles of a high tariff wall. She has established a large favorable balance of trade, and, as the home market for her principal manufactured products approaches saturation, threatens to achieve a still larger one.

"Up to a year ago the American investor provided this lopsided account with a balancing entry in the shape of large loans to the outer world, but recently even this equilibrating force has become inoperative. And, to crown all, even the gold which has been dispatched has been largely 'sterilized,' and thus deprived of its sovereign quality of settling indirectly an indebtedness larger than the face value of the amount remitted."

In the longer term post-war lineup, London is likely to retain leadership in short-term financing, and New York is likely to take primacy in long-term financing. New York is destined to remain most interested in financing American industries, rather than in making narrow bankers' commissions in dealing with overseas concerns. American capital still has a preference for native management. The present temporary cessation of foreign lending is largely ascribable to the unattractiveness of bond investments as compared with stocks with the public in a speculative mood. The best way for the rest of the world to lure American capital overseas is through the offering of choice equities in this market.

NO RECESSION

Current prosperity has shown such robustness that it has resisted the customary seasonal slump. Critics who believed the pace was too fast to last, like the Harvard Economic Society, which has been foreshadowing recession for many weeks, are beginning to change their mind.

Reversing its forecast, the Harvard soothsayers remark:

"At the opening of August, though seasonal slackening has developed in some lines, the business situation, in most respects, appears unusually good. In particular, construction contracts have shown a considerable, even if temporary, improvement. An active demand for commercial accommodation appeared before the end of May—some two months earlier than usual—and commercial borrowing has since increased rapidly. It is, moreover, only a short time now before the autumn expansion of trade will be under way, and this movement is always one of considerable magnitude. Our sensitive price index, which has been declining up to the first of June, has since risen, particularly in the last month, not only because of the rise in the wheat market, but also because of advances in other sensitive commodities. The improvement in agricultural prices appears at present to be a favorable factor for the autumn, especially if the shrinkage in the crops is not greater than indicated by the latest crop report.

"The probability is that general business has remained unseasonably active during the month. If complete data justify this estimate for July, business has been maintained at unusual levels in the face of the difficulties which have arisen chiefly because of high interest rates. This development, accompanied, as it has been, by higher stock and commodity prices, now makes it seem less probable that a business recession, such as we have been expecting, is near at hand. An active autumn trade is, at the least, in prospect, even if the full seasonal gain is not attained. Especially is this probable if great tension in the money market is avoided. Recently money conditions have been somewhat firmer, and much will depend upon money and credit developments during the next three months. If, as is probable, the reserve system purchases acceptances in the usual amounts and gold continues to flow in, the money situation is not likely to furnish an obstacle to autumn expansion.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—The raw sugar market was unchanged early today, but it was reported that during the past few days local refiners had purchased about 250,000 bags of Cuban for August and Septemebr shipment at 3.89.c duty paid.

Futures opened unchanged to 2 points lower and soon showed net losses of 2 to 3 points under tired long liquidation and selling of new crop deliveries by houses with producing connections. Shorts covered on the decline and this, with some trade buying believed to be the taking in of hedges against sales in spot, steadied the market toward midday. Prices at that hour were 1 to 2 points net lower. Trading was a little more active, but there was still a disposition on the part of outside interests to hold off and await developments at today's conference on the sugar duty in Washington.

In refined withdrawals were of seasonal proportions, with new business supplied through second hands at prices below the 5.50c basis quoted by refiners.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for fruit and vegetables was dull today at the wholesale produce market in Pittsburgh. There were some changes in quotations.

The butter, egg and cheese markets were steady, demand fair, supplies moderate with slight changes in quotations.

Car lot supplies were nominal with 417 cars on track. Arrivals included 6 cars of apples, 8 cantaloupes, 5 honeydews, 1 honeyballs, 2 corn, 2 lemons, 5 lettuce, 1 onions, 5 oranges, 11 peaches, 6 pears, 1 peas, 1 plums, 15 potatoes, 2 raspberries, 12 tomatoes, 9 watermelons.

OUTPUT OF IRON SETS RECORD IN JULY

Iron Age Sees Production Likely to Continue at High Rate in August

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—The Iron Age says: "Pig iron production in July, at 3,785,120 tons, exceeded that of June by 67,895 tons, and was the third largest monthly total on record, being surpassed only by the figures for May, 1929, and May, 1923.

"However, the July rate of output, 122,100 tons, ranks fifth, having been exceeded by the months mentioned, and by June, 1923, and June, 1929. The decline from the previous month, this year, was 1,808 tons, or 1.46 per cent. The loss was entirely in steel-making pig iron, the rate for merchant iron having shown a slight gain.

"Pig iron production thus far this years at 24,426,080 tons, has established a new seven months' record, surpassing the previous high mark, for the corresponding period in 1923, by nearly 4 per cent.

"Continued high output this month is indicated by the rate at which the 216 furnaces in blast were operating on August 1, namely, 121,965 tons a day, or only 135 tons below the actual average production through July.

AUGUST PRODUCTION

"August production of steel seems to be pointed toward a decline of possibly 5 or 10 per cent from the recent high rate. Thus far, makers of a wide range of products have been able to various finishing departments in such a manner as to utilize their full ingot capacity, and there are indications that replenishment of reserve stocks of semi finished steel will be a factor in sustaining their output through the remainder of the month. Such a move would place them in a position to take advantage of improved business in September and, at the same time, would permit them to continue to reap the economies accuring from peak operations.

"Actual reductions in steel output to date have been confined to smaller companies specializing in a few finished products. Shifts in demand are less serious for producers making a diversity of finished materials, since a decline in business in one direction is frequently offset by a gain in another. The steel corporation, for example, continues to operate at virtually 100 per cent of capacity and its total backlog is still large.

HAND-TO-MOUTH BUYING

"Unquestionably buyers are ordering at closer range than earlier in the year. In fact, Pittsburgh reports that business in hot-rolled strip tin plate and cold finished and alloy steel bars is again on a hand-to-mouth basis. This change in buying practice does not necessarily presage any marked change in operations or in the volume of consumption. Moreover, extended deliveries are still the rule on some of the heavier products, notably on plates, and in the Chicago district, favored by steel pipe and railroad car business, mill commitments seem headed for another period of expansion. The week's specifications at Chicago were the largest since late in April.

"The Iron Age pig iron composite price is again where it was two weeks ago, having advanced 4 cents to $18.42 a gross ton. The finished steel composite remains at 2.412 cents a pound."

Mortality Is Heavy Among New Industries; a Pointer

—By B. C. FORBES—

PICKING the stocks floated in a new industry is not unlike picking horses in a race. You never can tell which one will lead or which will end near the front.

Consider what has been happening and what is happening.

AVIATION shares have lately attracted more attention than those of any fledgling industry. This industry is about the stage the motor industry was at 20 years ago. How have those fared who put their money into new auto ventures?

The records are rather appalling:

Upwards of 1,600 motor car companies have been launched in this country.

Not two out of each hundred have survived.

Indeed, only about 1 per cent of the 1,600 are operating profitably today. Notable among the latter are General Motors, Ford, Chrysler, Willys, Studebaker, Hudson, Nash, Packard, Graham-Paige, Auburn, Hupp, Franklin, Reo, Rolls-Royce.

MOST of these now make two or more different cars. General Motors boasts the longest list, namely, Cadillac, LaSalle, Buick, Marquette, Oldsmobile, Viking, Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oakland. Chrysler sponsors Chrysler, Dodge, De Sota, Plymouth, Imperial. Willys has the Willys-Knight, Stearns-Knight, Whippet. Studebaker includes in its line the President, Commander, Dictator, Erskine and Pierce-Arrow. Hudson has the Hudson and the Essex. Ford has added the Lincoln. Durant, after having launched numerous makes, now features the Durant, with Locomobile as his high-priced line.

SINCE ninety-eight out of every hundred motor companies have gone under, it will be easily realized that the great majority of those who bought motor stocks suffered heavy losses.

On the other hand, of course, the lucky ones who purchased shares in the winners—and who have held on—have reaped fortunes. A modest investment in such stocks as General Motors, Chrysler, Ford, Nash, Auburn would have been sufficient to make the holder independently wealthy today.

ALREADY almost 2,000 aircraft projects have been born, and the total is being swelled rapidly.

How many will live?

The expectation is that the bulk of the business will gravitate into the hands of half-a-dozen or half-a-score organizations.

This does not mean, however, that stockholders in all but the big companies will lose their money. Already we have seen quite a number of aircraft enterprises of modest or moderate size absorbed by aggressive leaders. Quite recently the union of the Curtiss and Wright organizations brought into one fold 11 concerns. United Aircraft and Transport Company has also been coralling companies of outstanding merit.

WHILE the present prospects are that the biggest will survive, there probably will be instances of conspicuous success among smaller companies, just as there have been in the motor field. Look what has happened in the case of Auburn. When its present youthful head, E. L. Cord, took charge, its stock was worth little. This year it has soared above $400 a share.

The sober truth remains, however, that a very heavy mortality must be expected among aircraft companies now being gaily floated.

One safeguard is to entrust savings only to concerns sponsored by capable, responsible people. Obscure ventures of doubtful parentage should be scrupulously avoided.

TAKE the other two of our newer industries, motion pictures and radio. Those who were fortunate enough to pick the right starters have fared extremely well. Broadly speaking, those that proved the right starters were the enterprises sponsored by the most capable men and enjoying substantial financial backing. The deaths among both motion picture ventures and among radio companies of one kind or another has been staggering.

SOME financial advisors urge the spreading of one's risk over a considerable number of the aviation companies. That plan does not appeal to me. My system is to try to get a line on the character and caliber of the men behind a company before investing in it. Then I throw in my lot with the men who appear to be the most promising.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stock Exchange Topics New York Bond Market

Stock Exchange Topics

BEYOND illustrating what may happen when the process of discounting developments marketwise is overdone as seems to have been the case with the Insull utility shares, the severe break in those stocks might reasonably be accorded too much importance so far as its bearing on the general situation is concerned. Except for those who bought shares in that group when enthusiasm was running high a fortnight or so ago, coincident with announcement of plans for capital readjustment of several of the companies, losses sustained in the crack are largely on paper rather than actual. The Insull shares have far outstepped most of the other utility stocks in the last few months, with Middle West Utilities as an example, rising from a low of 162 in June to a high of 506 last week, so that the current decline as measured against the previous advance is not so disastrous. In the case of Insull Utilities Investments, the trends have been quite the same proportionately.

The sudden relaxation in demand money rates yesterday afternoon was widely interpreted as signifying the determination of powerful interests to hold the stock market against the adverse influence of the resounding break in utility and affiliated stocks on the Chicago exchange. Money was still holding at the 12 per cent rate fixed for reenwals when funds were being offered in the outside market first at 10 per cent and later at 8 per cent, with the official charge subsequently being lowered in several stages to the 8 per cent level, in the late afternoon. Contrasted with recent scarcity, money was offered in large supply with the funds being released through heavier than usual paying off by brokers being returned to the market and seevral of the larger banks reported placing substantial volume of new funds at the disposal of borrowers.

ABRUPT easing of the money rate yesterday did not tend to revive hopes for sustained ease in market credit conditions very greatly. For one thing, attention was called to the fact that if high rates for market credit are maintained in New York an advance in the Bank of England rate, if it comes, would be less likely to bring any important movement of British money in this market homeward, than if rates are relatively low. Furthermore, while it is now contended that the open bill market needs reserve assistance, there is a good deal of doubt on whether or not the reserve will endeavor to release credit to the same large extent that it did last year. General opinion is that firm money conditions will prevail indefinitely unless there is sufficient liquidation in the security market to release funds in important volume.

Something of a change develop in the character of things on the stock exchange. Wall Street likes, particularly when the market shows reactionary tendencies, to point out that the pace of trading slackens in such instances. During the past week or so there has been a strong disposition to draw attention to that condition when selling pressure has made itself felt as indicating that technically the market's position was good. Today, however, while trading was not especially large in volume it was noticeable, that activity was more pronounced in the forenoon yesterday when selling was in order than it was in the afternoon when the market rallied on the drop in the money rate.

DURING reactions, New Haven and Erie met the best kind of support and at times moved against the trend. Notable comebacks have been staged by these carriers and they are now experiencing one of the best years in their history. In the case of New Haven common stockholders are believed to be in line for an increased payment following meeting of directors scheduled for the latter part of this month. Floating supply of Erie common is comparatively small and an objective of 100 is heard on this move. Railroad students would not be surprised should Erie earn as high as $9 a share on the junior issue of 1929.

Since the proposed four for one split-up of Baldwin Locomotive stock was announced there has been no great amount of activity in the old or new shares. Those responsible for market movements, however, have been careful not to permit the spread between the stocks to get large enough to encourage arbitrage operations. It is well known that the old stock is closely held and one market observer estimates that there are less than 30,000 shares of the "when issued" stock floating. There has been a revival of equipment buying in recent months and indications now are that Baldwin in 1929 will have the most profitable year in a long time.

Railroad Loadings Make New Record

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Loading of revenue freight cars for the week ended July 27 totaled 1,101,061 cars, the American Railway Association announces. This is the first time that loadings have exceeded the 1,100,000-car mark at this season of the year being an increase of 5,064 cars over the corresponding week in 1926, which marked the previous record. It was also an increase of 66,735 cars compared with the same week last year and an increase of 56,364 cars over the same period in 1927. Compared with the preceding week this year the total for the week of July 27 was an increase of 23,366 cars.

Lone Star Expansion Plans Under Way

EXPIRATION of the "rights" on Lone Star Gas has been followed by the expected upturn in the open market price of the shares and they are now selling in new high ground for all time. Incidentally, the expiration of the rights (on Monday) was accompanied by a report that the company had brought in a well which greatly enlarges the scope of one of its Texas producing properties. It was a question in trading circles whether the elimination of the rights or the news of the well had the more direct influence on the stock's movement when it crossed its previous high and registered the new record price.

The rights on Lone Star accrued to the holders of the old stock. By the recapitalization plan, the 2,000,000 shares of old $25 par stock have been supplanted by an authorized 7,000,000 shares having no par value. Holders of the old stock were given the new shares in exchange on a basis of 2½ of the new for each share of the old. Co-incident with the announcement of the capital change, directors also voted to sell to holders of the old stock additional new shares on the basis of one new share for each three of the old shares held.

Big Program Launched.

THIS capital change marks one of the important steps in Lone Star's expansion program which will involve the expenditure of several million dollars and which will greatly enlarge the company's marketing area and distribution system. The new construction plan includes the building of a pipe line extension connecting Dallas and Fort Worth with other points in Texas and the establishment of gas distribution systems at several cities and towns lying between these two points.

While there has been no definite information on the subject, it is assumed in some quarters that Lone Star will eventually be tied in with the super gas system which is said to be planned by the most important utility interests in the country. According to street gossip, this ambitious program calls for the delivery of gas from Texas and other western and southwestern areas through a nation-wide pipe line system to points throughout the mid-west and east to the Atlantic seaboard.

Gas for Eastern Markets.

ALREADY one company has a line under construction from the southwest to the Chicago territory and this will eventually be extended along the lakes and on through to the larger cities on the eastern coast. Cheaper and more efficient fuel will be made available for consumption in cities which are now paying from $1 to $1.40 per thousand cubic feet for manufactured gas. The natural gas will be mixed with the manufactured product and cost of consumers will be cut from 20 to 30 per cent.

In addition to the longer distant outlook for Lone Star, the present strength in the shares both in Pittsbuhgh and on the New York Curb, is attributable to the substantial increases shown in the earnings over the past several months. The remarkable improvement in profits is clearly evident in the figures for the first five months this year which showed net after all charges of $3,430,670 as against $4,824,804 for the entire 12 months of 1928.

Fireproofing's Profits Up.

NATIONAL FIREPROOFING COMPANY shares have been lagging on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange during recent weeks but traders who follow the company's activities closely assert that there is reason to believe that the full year's dividend on the preferred shares has already been earned thus far in 1929. Late in 1928 the company declared four dividends of 62½ cents each on the preferred payable in quarterly installments during 1929. A special dividend of 72½ cents was also paid on April 15, this year. All of these were and are to be made out of 1928 earnings. The four 62½-cent payments together with the extra total $3.32½ for distribution this year out of last year's profits. This amount, however, does not cover the $3.50 to which the 7 per cent, $50 par preferred stock is entitled. With the full $3.50 preferred dividend covered in the first half of 1929, it is quite likely the company will establish the stock on its regular 7 per cent rate the coming year.

Increased Earnings For Nor. Amer. Car

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Earnings of the North American Car Corporation for the six months ended June 30, after all charges, but before federal taxes, were $418,680, Henry H. Brigham, president, announced today. After allowance for preferred dividends and federal taxes, this is equal to $2.71 per share on 113,874 shares of common stock outstanding. While earnings for the first six months of 1928 are not available, for the 11 months ended December 31, 1928, net income after all charges, including federal taxes, was $510,071. After payment of preferred dividends, this was equivalent to $4.02 per share on 107,929 shares of common stock average outstanding for the period.

Leather Company Profits Decrease

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Amalgamated Leather Companies, Inc., reports for six months to June 30 net income of $36,128 after all charges, equal to 71 cents a share on $5,000,000 of 7 per cent preferred stock outstanding, against $231,563, equal, after preferred dividends, to 32 cents a share on 175,000 common shares in the 1928 period.

Loss Overcome by Goodrich Company

NEW YORK, Aug. 7. — B. F. Goodrich Company reports net profit $5,070,000 after depreciation, interest, etc., for six months to June 30 equal after preferred dividends to $4.59 a share on average common shares outstanding versus net loss of $1,574,889 in 1928 period. Net sales were $75,375,000 for 1929 first half $70,624,878 in 1928 period.

Bituminous Output Slightly Decreased

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The National Coal Association estimates the production of bituminous coal for the week ended August 3 at 9,350,000 net tons, as compared with 9,481,000 tons for the week ended July 27.

July Locomotive Shipments Down

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—July shipments of railroad locomotives from principal manufacturing plants based on reports received by the Department of Commerce totaled 69 compared with 78 in June and 46 in July, 1928.

Profits of United Aircraft Increase

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—United Aircraft and Transport Corporation reports for first half of 1929 net profit of $4,410,046 after charges, federal taxes and minority interest. The company reports earnings in the June quarter equaled $1.52 a common share on the shares outstanding at the end of the period as against $1.03 a share in the first quarter.

Richfield Oil Net For Half Improved

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7.—Net earnings for Richfield Oil Company of California, Pan-Western and other subsidiaries, excluding Richfield Oil Corporation of New York, for the first six months of 1929, after all charges, including federal taxes, were $4,246,397, equal after preferred dividends to $2.03 a share on 1,922,310 common shares outstanding. This compares with $1.75 a share in the first half of 1928 on 1,515,237 shares of common, excluding Pan-Western. Net sales for the first half were $39,997,014 against $20,420,945 in the same period of 1928 and net operating income of $9,324,101 against $5,685,188.

Higher Rail Rates Recommended For West

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Examiners Kobel and Paulson in a proposed report to the Interstate Commerce Commission have recommended a general upward revision of rates in western trunk line railroad territory. Rates which were recommended will be for traffic now moving under class rates between points in territory west from Lake Michigan and the Mississippi River to the Rocky Mountains, and north from Kansas and Northern Missouri to the Canadian border. Revision proposed would also affect rates to points in entire country east of Mississippi River. Western trunk line carriers were found in the report to be entitled to greater revenues.

Responsibility . . .

A man who has won means usually carries heavy responsibilities.

He knows from his own experience that the responsibilities of business are frequently a negative influence upon a happy, carefree life.

The appointment of a thoroughly responsible Trust Company as executor and trustee of his estate solves two of his major problems.

It assures a continuation of business experience and capacities in the management of his estate.

It permits his widow and family to live in their accustomed circumstances unthreatened and safe from the inevitable penalties of financial mistakes.

Our Trust Officers solicit the privilege of working out a definite program for the future safety of your heirs.

DAILY SHORT STORY

THE LOVE RUSE

By CLARA AGEE HAYS

MARY hurried past the three girls at the corner with only a nod. She could tell by their glances that they were talking about it. She didn't know now whether life was unbearable more because she really loved Arthur or because everyone was pitying her with so much apparent gloating.

She hoped Aunt Marguerite was home. For today, with rain dripping dismally, she wanted to tell her about it. She wanted to hear the fire cracking in the tiny fireplace and sob the whole thing out to Aunt 'Rite.

A few minutes later, Aunt 'Rite was listening with an arm around her.

"It isn't that I don't want Arthur to be happy," Mary explained, "but I think that Healey girl's swept him off his feet and she's rushing him so they'll be married before he realizes."

"And being jilted isn't what one likes to have said of one," she suggested with a twinkle. "Well, Duckie, something will have to be done. But you must agree to follow instructions carefully. All right?"

"All right," Mary agreed gratefully.

"Rules won't be complicated and you'll get only a few at a time," promised Aunt 'Rite. "Now the first is: Don't avoid people. Meet them as if you were the happiest person in the world with a happy secret that even they couldn't imagine. Meet Arthur the same way only treat him as if he didn't matter any more than—the ice man. Follow these directions for three days and report. In the meantime we won't talk about it at all."

Mary had never found orders so hard. But she even forced herself to laugh when Sadie Johnson said significantly, "have you girls heard the latest—Arthur Martin and the Healey girl are engaged."

And before the malice in Alice Murray's "Did you ever see a fellow fall so hard?" Mary shrugged. "But the Healey girl is pretty," she said. "They'll make a dandy couple."

She knew the girls were surprised and perhaps disappointed Arthur was the best looking fellow in town—and not a parlor shiek. Most of the girls had liked him at some time and resented his usual attention to Mary. Now, they'd been enjoying Mary's desolation. Arthur was so fine—

Mary laughed again and hurried home so they wouldn't see her tears.

Then, two afternoons later, she met Arthur. It was early and the street was perfectly empty except for them. Mary caught her breath and her heart seemed racing to meet him. Arthur looked guilty and slowed as if he would like to avoid meeting her. Then he squared his shoulders and came ahead.

Mary smiled and greeted him indifferently, "Hello, Arthur."

Arthur stopped awkwardly. "I—I've been wanting to see you and tell you—"

About your engagement to that nice Miss Healey, I'll bet!" Mary beamed. "And I've been wanting to congratulate you. You've no idea how happy we all are!"

Authur's face showed some relief and a great deal of amazement.

"I'm glad you're taking it this way, "he said a little stiffly. "We'd been going together for so long, I was afraid maybe—"

Mary laughed gayly. "Of course! You've been a regular brother, Arthur. That's why I'm so happy for you!"

When he had gone Mary sped home, trying desperately to hold back the tears until the door was shut. Aunt 'Rite saw.

"Good soldier" she called. "Have it out and then report for further duty."

The mysterious lilt in Aunt 'Rite's voice helped to stop Mary's tears. A few minutes later she came downstairs pale but calmed.

"Now," Aunt 'Rite called, "go at once and put on that lovely bright green outfit. Fluff up those golden curls—and—just enough rouge, mind you, to be rosily natural. Hurry!"

Mary hurried. In the street, Aunt 'Rite explained. "We must get to the post office while people are waiting for the 4 o'clock mail. Every gossip in town meets that mail."

Mary wondered. She continued to wonder when they were coming out of the post office. Aunt 'Rite stopped to exchange greetings with Old Man Lytell. She seemed to be watching for something.

And all at once a roadster jerked up to the curb, its driver jumped to the sidewalk and started toward Mary and her aunt.

"Mary!" he called eagerly.

Mary gasped. "It's Ronald! Why, Ronny!" she chuckled almost hysterically and allowed him to hold her in his arms right there in the post office for a minute before she thought. She didn't notice that Ronald and Aunt 'Rite smiled as if they had already talked something over.

Aunt 'Rite hurried them away with "You youngsters go right on—where you can be alone and talk. I'll come home later."

That week there were two parties. Ronald took her to both of them. The other girls watched enviously as Mary and Ronald danced. Ronald was a different type than Arthur but equally handsome. In fact, there was a dash of the city about him which the Bentville girls loved. Mary's heart was actually aching, though, for Arthur was at both parties with the Healey girl.

The last party ended Ronald's vacation. That was why Mary, following instructions, danced most of them with him. Two or three times Arthur tried to get a dance but he met with, "Sorry. It's Ronald's."

Arthur had begun to look glum. As he passed Mary he muttered, "I want to talk to you." Mary smiled indifferently.

Then she and Ronald slipped out and sat in the swing in the side yard surrounded by foliage and privacy.

For a long time they were silent. At last Ronald slipped his arm gently around Mary. "It's been a wonderful week, Dear." He stooped to kiss her when Arthur's voice called harshly from the shrubbery, "Come here, Mary!" And, eyes flashing, he stepped into sight. "You!" he challenged Ronald. "You city bum! You can't get away with taking advantage of a Bentville girl. Beat it and beat it quick!"

Ronald showed signs of fight. But he didn't fight. He left Mary and Arthur alone in the swing.

Arthur turned sadly to Mary, his bravado disappearing. "Mary, listen! You've got to forgive me, he pleaded anxiously. "I've known all week what an awful fool I've been. I've never really loved anyone but you. And when I saw that slicker getting away with his line—I—Oh, Mary, do you think you can ever love me?"

Arthur kissed her. Then he recalled Ronald. "What was he to you?" he demanded savagely.

Mary looked back toward the house mischievously.

"Only a brother," she answered. "Grant was his middle name—not his last. Mother died when I was a baby and he's been living in Chicago with Aunt Anna."

Legal Notices 107

NOTICE NO. 1241.
REED, SMITH, SHAW & McCLAY, 747 Union Trust Bldg., Pittsburgh, Pa.
In the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, Pennsylvania. Margaret A. Jamison, Martha A. Jamison and Inez M. Jamison, and Margaret A. Jamison and Martha A. Jamison, surviving partners of Arbuckle Brothers, otherwise known as Arbuckles & Company, vs. Joseph S. Leech, John L. Leech and Keziah Jane Leech Hamill. No. 1241 October Term, 1929.
Notice to Joseph S. Leech, John L. Leech and Keziah Jane Leech Hamill, their legal heirs and successors, or whoever may be the owners of the ground rent hereinafter mentioned:
Take notice that on the 2nd day of August, 1929, Margaret A. Jamison, Martha A. Jamison and Inez M. Jamison and Martha A. Jamison, surviving partners of Arbuckle Brothers, otherwise known as Arbuckles & Company, presented their petition to said court averring that they are the owners of all that certain lot in the Second Ward, City of Pittsburgh, fronting thirty (30') feet on the southerly side of Strawberry Alley and extending back along Coffee Way (formerly Church Alley) in a southwesterly direction, preserving the same width, a distance of sixty (60') feet. That there is an unextinguished ground rent on a part of the same premises reserved by Patrick McAnany in a conveyance to Robert Murphy dated August 22, 1814, but not recorded, in the sum of Twenty-five and Seven-eighth ($25⅞) Dollars payable in semi-annual installments. Said ground rent was conveyed to George S. Birnoe by deed dated March 31, 1818, and recorded in the Recorder's office of Allegheny County in Deed Book Vol. 24, page 369, and said George S. Birnoe conveyed said quit rent or ground rent to Malcolm Leech by deed dated February 6, 1833, and recorded in the Recorder's office of Allegheny County in Deed Book Vol. 44, page 77. That no further conveyance of said quit rent or ground rent appears of record. That said Malcolm Leech died April 11, 1862, testate, devising the residue of his estate to his children, Joseph S. Leech, John L. Leech and Keziah Jane Leech Hamill. That said ground rent has not been paid for upwards of twenty-one (21) years and no claim or demand for payment of the same has been made within said period and said ground rent has become extinguished by presumption of law but no deed of extinguishment or release thereof appears of record.
Whereupon said Court ordered that a Rule be granted upon Joseph S. Leech, John L. Leech and Keziah Jane Leech Hamill, their legal heirs or successors, and upon all persons who have a real or apparent interest therein, to show cause why said yearly quit claim or ground rent should not be released, merged and forever extinguished; said rule being returnable to October 1st, 1929, at 10 o'clock a. m.

In the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, Pennsylvania. Margaret A. Jamison, Martha A. Jamison and Inez M. Jamison, and Margaret A. Jamison and Martha A. Jamison, surviving partners of Arbuckles brothers, otherwise known as Arbuckles & Company vs. Samuel McKelvey and Margaret McKelvey. No. 1239, October Term, 1929.
Notice to Samuel McKelvey and Margaret McKelvey, their legal heirs and successors, or whoever may be the owners of the ground rent hereinafter mentioned:
Take notice that on the 2nd day of August, 1929, Margaret A. Jamison, Martha A. Jamison and Inez M. Jamison and Martha A. Jamison, surviving partners of Arbuckle Brothers, otherwise known as Arbuckles & Company, presented their petition to said court averring that they are the owners of all that certain lot in the Second Ward, City of Pittsburgh, fronting thirty (30') feet on the southerly side of Strawberry alley and extending back along Coffee way (formerly Church alley) in a southwesterly direction, preserving the same width, a distance of sixty (60') feet. That there is an unextinguished ground rent on a part of the same premises reserved by George Sutton in a conveyance to George Scott dated December 14, 1807, and recorded on the same day in the Recorder's Office of Allegheny County, Pennsylvania in Deed Book, Volume 15, page 43, in the sum of twenty ($20.00) dollars payable in semi-annual installments. That said ground rent was conveyed to Hugh McKelvey by Sheriff's deed dated January 18, 1826, and recorded in Appearance Docket 15, page 592, and the said Hugh McKelvey died July 13, 1833, testate, devising his property to his son Samuel in fee tail with a devise over to his sister, Margaret. That no further conveyance of said quit rent or ground rent appears of record. That said ground rent has not been paid for upwards of twenty-one (21) years and no claims or demand for payment of the same has been made within said period and said ground rent has become extinguished by presumption of law, but no deed of extinguishment or release thereof appears of record.
Whereupon said court ordered that a rule be granted upon Samuel McKelvey and Margaret McKelvey, their legal heirs or successors, and upon all persons who have a real or apparent interest therein, to show cause why said yearly quit claim or ground rent should not be released, merged and forever extinguished; said rule being returnable to October 1st, 1929, at 10 o'clock a. m.

BUGS BAER Says

PEACE WITHOUT YES-MEN.

"Bugs" Baer

WE are sorry to inform our readers that our short expedition to Manchuria as a war correspondent is over.

We had intended to furnish you with the most reliable news that could be censored. But it seems that the Russians and the Chinese have both abdicated.

Gen Gimpanski, of the Royal North Western Siberian Mounted Poleeza, said:

"War is terrible. So are meatless Mondays."

Therefore the war could not last long. They ran out of peace treaties.

Admiral Chin-Long, of the Imperial Chinese Ferry Boaters remarked:

"This war is almost effeminate. Let's arbitrate and make it worse."

He was almost right. Looking over the archives of atrocities and oratory, we must admit that Verdun was more merciful than Geneva.

That old battle-cry, "If you don't go to war, what will you tell your grand-children?" was defeated by Mongolian philosophy.

Here's the way Hong-Kong figured it out. It's a fine slogan. But if you do go to war, you go over the top, get knocked off—and you'll never have grand-children to tell.

So both sides kissed their battle-maps, put them away in lavender and old lace, rattled the drums—and retreated with indomitable courage.

They were right. They had determined not to allow their pot war to get into the hands of a commission.

War is won over the tops of trenches—and lost over the tops of desks.

We are sorry to disappoint the diplomats. But the Chino-Russo war of 1929 has joined the blighted New Jersey peach crop of 1924.

Gen. Jadwin's Retirement Recalls His Service Here

Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, U. S. A., chief engineer, retires from active duty today, having reached the age limit. Pittsburgh well remembers Gen. Jadwin, who, for about five years, was United States Army engineer in charge of the rivers and harbors in the Pittsburgh district. The Maj. Jadwin of those days later became Col. Jadwin through promotion, a rank he held at the time the United States entered the World War.

It was then that Gen. Jadwin joined the ranks of red-tape cutters. He organized a regiment here, the Fifteenth Engineers, a construction unit of volunteers, trained it at Oakmont and saw that it was rushed to France. It was an organization of practical, technical men—engineers, draftsmen and builders—whose work eventually carried them even up to the battle lines, where they earned a record for themselves and the eventual promotion of their commander to the position of chief of engineers of the United States Army.

Gen. Jadwin's civilian friends here as well as his former comrades in service will see only honors to a real soldier in the fact that he has reached that point in years of active duty where his government indicates that his attention to his labors has earned him the reward of a rest.

New Diet for Tuberculosis

Meat for Armies.

A learned German, Dr. Gerson, has indicated a diet for human beings that produces marvelous results in the cure of tuberculosis.

Food stuffs rich in albumen and fats, containing very little hydrates, raw salads, vegetables and fruits, and a combination of potasium and magnesia in place of common salt. American doctors, of course, will test this diet, said to have cured, in a few months, many apparently hopeless tuberculosis cases of more than 10 years' duration.

After the Japanese began fighting Russia wise Japan changed her soldiers' rice diet to a meat diet. The Japanese marched and fought much better.

Each has in his blood a fighting army of white cells that attack our enemies, invading disease germs, and an industrial army, the red cells, that build up the body.

Too little attention has been paid to feeding of the blood armies for special purposes.

Bankrupt Gallantry

Young American Husbands.

An English essayist, observing Americans, concludes that young American women are annoying. But, he contends, American divorcees are the most fascinating women in the world. His analysis is this: The young American husband is not a satisfactory mate. After the first flush of romance, he becomes absorbed in business and sports. Gradually he abandons the graciousness that women hunger for. Then comes divorce. The wife, wiser now, searches for charm and chivalry. And to attract charm, she herself becomes charming.

Of course it may not be wise to trust an English diagnosis. The same charge has been placed against Latins for ages—the charge that they are delightful wooers and cruel husbands. Perhaps the American dilemma might be met thus: Introduce Old Home Week, backed by a high pressure campaign to get husbands to remarry their divorced wives, with a charm clause in the ceremony.

Unwise Flying

Sleep Comes First.

Capt. Hoyt, of the Army Air Corps, planned to fly from New York to Nome, Alaska, 4,230 miles, in 30 hours and 50 minutes, staying six hours in Nome for repairs and sleep, flying back immediately, 8,460 miles, with six hours' sleep.

Capt. Hoyt wished to test "the equipment for efficiency and adaptability for long-range pursuit work."

No test could be more important for national defense, although the attempt failed through no fault of the pilot.

But as good a flier as Capt. Hoyt should protect himself as he would his less important flying machine, and not deliberately go without sleep. He would not run his engine without oil.

Oh, What's the Use!

Volstead Suffering from Kidney Trouble.

Andrew J. Volstead went out to Rochester, Minn., the other day and submitted himself for examination. The Mayo experts conducted a very searching inquiry. And they must have had difficulty keeping their faces straight when they announced the verdict. They told Mr. Volstead he was suffering from kidney trouble. It just shows what perfect behavior will not always do for a man.

THE HEARST PAPERS DEMAND FOR AMERICA

1—SCHOOLS—MORE schools—BETTER schools—MORE ADEQUATE and more MODERN school buildings; the best TEACHERS and the best COMPENSATION for teachers; a SCHOOL SEAT and a LIBERAL EDUCATION for every child in America, native or foreign born.

AMERICA is the great melting pot of the world, and the product of the melting pot must be competent, educated, loyal, moral AMERICAN CITIZENS.

That is America's duty to itself and its contribution to the social organization.

2—No politics in the schools, no race antagonism in the schools, no religious prejudice in the schools.

THE schools are for all children; and all the children should there be taught and trained and graduated in that KNOWLEDGE WHICH IS POWER and in an enlightened understanding of AMERICAN PRINCIPLES AND IDEALS.

THE government of a Democracy reposes in the hands of the people, and the success of that government, the progress, the prosperity, the perpetuation of the nation depend upon the EDUCATION of the people, and the ABILITY OF THE PEOPLE TO GOVERN.

SCHOOLS are the foundation stones of the republic. Make them STRONG and SOUND and SUFFICIENT.

Bible Passages

As a Thief in the Night

(1 Thessalonians 5: 1-11.)

BUT of the times and the seasons, brethren, ye have no need that I write unto you.

For yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night.

For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape.

But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that day should overtake you as a thief.

Ye are all of the children of light, and the children of the day; we are not of the night, nor of the darkness.

Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober.

For they that sleep sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night.

But let us, who are of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love; and for an helmet, the hope of salvation.

For God hath not appointed us to wrath but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ,

Who died for us, that whether we wake or sleep, we should live together with him.

Wherefore comfort yourself together, and edify one another, even as also ye do.

The Postman

THE postman charms away all fear
That life may yet grow gray:
Thus we have watched for him for years . . .
Who knows? Perhaps today . . .

Perhaps today his bag may hold
Our dream, in black and white,
The page we hastily unfold
May bring long-sought delight.

How jauntily he swings along,
With easy, tireless stride!
That vision we have cherished long
May yet be satisfied.

Loved fairy tales of old come back
With this glad thrill we feel;
Who knows how much of joy his pack
This morning may reveal?

Hope sometimes seems upon the wane,
And magic works no more:
And yet, he brings them back again,
The postman at our door!

RE-SETTING SOME OLD SAWS

By Herbert Kaufman

YOUR license to be a FOOL commenced and expired on the first of April. Be sure that you TURNED the calendar pad.

Don't ask for an extension of privilege—the world has no use for asses, except as BUTTS of ridicule—and beasts of BURDEN.

The Smart Aleck who kicks the silk hat ALWAYS bangs a brick. And the purse on the pavement only holds a JOKE.

As Old Farmer Judd used to tell the summer boarders, "Take your apples from the TREE—sound pippins don't drop to the ground—you've got to climb after them or knock 'em down."

PRIME wares are rarely sold at reduced prices. Nothing first-class can be found on Life's bargain counters.

The rich man's day is no longer than the laborer's and no different. Bungle and success are measured by the same clock-tick.

Determination UTILIZES time—neglect BRUTALIZES it.

All the opportunity in America is out in the open. It's a public domain—take as much of it as you can—but you'll need a quick eye to recognize the MAIN chance, balanced judgment to develop it, and a strong hand to retain it.

YOU are the tool with which fortune is tilled. If you debase yourself and fritter vitality on folly, you can't complain, because the fruit of your endeavor is the logical outcome of its seed—if you cultivate weeds you won't pluck roses.

"Class" and "mass" and "favored few" and "down-trodden many" are the expressions of chronic failure.

AS long as immigrants progress from Ellis Island to the Thousand Islands—as long as farm boys become reaper kings—as long as penniless Scotchmen, by sheer persistence, realize in steel their youthful dreams—as long as brakemen follow the rails until they advance from cabooses to private cars—as long as cash-boys grow to merchant princes—as long as stenographers start as "men of notes" and end as men of note—the record will give the lie to the alibis of SLACKERS, the whimpers of mediocrity and the snarls of disappointment.

Nothing in these United States is nailed down. The resources of the continent are a communal right. The money in its banks keeps shifting from one name to another as incompetence yields thoroughfare to ability.

IF you live to be as old as Methuselah, doing your utmost through the centuries, there'd always be another frontier waiting for a pioneer—an unsolved problem for a surgeon, an untried formula for a chemist, an unthought-of project for an engineer, and a flock of unexploited efficiencies for a businessman.

Of COURSE, you've heard all this before. Phoenicia preached it; Athenian elders poured it into their sons' ears. Some truths are fundamental, universal and perpetual.

They are not altered by geography nor by period.

Wisdom has always accomplished more than STUPIDITY—steadfastness invariably finds the goal that unreliability misses.

The less a man gives, the less he gets. The lower he AIMS, the lower he strikes—he LANDS where he LEAPS.

RESEARCH IN THE POWER AGE

By Archibald Henderson

THE great and crying need of this new world in a machine age is the subsidy of original scientific research. The present methods of "stimulating" research here in the United States are deserving of the strongest condemnation. In the great industrial, manufacturing and engineering plants, where progress and financial success depend upon invention and scientific discovery, the operatives sign away their right to their own discoveries and inventions. On entering the employ of one of the great companies, they agree in writing that all inventions and discoveries they make become the property of the company without compensation! This is grossly unjust, a cruel exploitation of the talent and genius of humble operatives.

The results of this system, which is undemocratic, and un-American, are as vicious as the system. The head of the company exploits the inventive genius of all his operatives, and appropriates all the credit to himself. Every such invention he has publicly attributed to himself and so develops the reputation of being a great inventive genius or an epochal discoverer. When some discovery of great importance is made at his plant he holds public celebrations, thrusts himself in the limelight, invites other great "scientists" to assist in the celebration. The papers of the day carry columns concerning the great new discovery, the great captain of industry who owns the plant, the visiting celebrities, and even an elaborate description of the invention, with a survey of the revolution it is destined to bring about—in art or industry or manufacturing. There is one person who is not present on the platform. His name is not mentioned during the course of the ceremonies. The covering statement is made that "this invention was perfected in our laboratories;" that is all. The one person who should be publicly honored and distinguished above his fellows is lost in obscurity in the crowd which shouts in honor of the "great scientist" who owns the plant. The missing, but indispensable person—the wronged and insulted wight—is none other than THE INVENTOR!

It is time for this colossal and palpable system of fraud to cease. The pure scientist, the discoverer, should be held in the highest honor in the United States of America. The scientist should be honored for what he does, and given full credit for it. He should be the hero of the age, rather than the clown of the day.

This is not enough—since it does not go far enough. The scientist should be subsidized. The great fortunes of today, as Millikan has recently pointed out, are directly traceable to the discoveries of pure scientists and the inventions of practical scientists.

Already during the present century twenty billions of dollars have been invested in foundations, of one sort or another in the United States. Enormous sums should be donated by the great capitalists, whose wealth has been derived from the fortunate application of invention and research, to subsidize the inventor and establish great foundations, with high-salaried inmates, for the sole purpose of pure scientific research.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

SOME guys get their girls by showing off to them. Well, I suppose that's the most natural way to get them. But what a letdown it must be when the girl finds out that the engagement ring ain't paid for on the fifth anniversary!

There was a guy in a small office that wanted to show off to his girl. He was always talking about the stock market. One day when his girl came into the office to go out to lunch with him, he says, "Wait a minute, I got to call my broker. Hello, Sparks, how's American Ashcan preferred? Oh, well, up 10 points, eh? Well, that don't mean nothing to me only ten grand in my pocket. Buy 5,000 International Shopper and Flopper for me. Yeah, make it ten thous. All right, George, get me some of that Grand United B, and I'll send you my check. Thanks for making forty thousand for me on that last stuff. George, Goodby."

The girl was sure impressed. She had decided to marry him right there.

Just as he put down the receiver, a guy stepped in and says, "I'm from the telephone company. That phone of yours has been disconnected for three days, but the company says for me to connect it if you don't mind."

DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

TIA JUANA, Mexico, Aug. 7.—Tia Juana, with its open fronted saloons, slot machine caverns and hip flipping exhibitions, has become merely a side show for Mexico's Monte Carlo—Agua Caliente—a short drive beyond. Tia Juana is dead. Long live Agua Caliente. And it's a long walk home.

High play gambling at Agua Caliente is attracting high flyers from all over. Movie stars zip here by airplane in an hour and a half and every week end you hear a fresh crop of stories of heavy losses. This week they murmur of a pugilist dropping 200,000 smackers at the tables.

The entrepreneurs have provided a magnificent setting in a cup of cowling hills. The casino glinting white like a minaret in the sunshine bursts upon the visitor at a turn in the road with a staggering loveliness. Pheasants and peacocks strut the terraced stretches. Fragrant flowers bloom everywhere.

Ancient temple bells toll off the hours. An old Spanish wishing well with its brimming bucket always dripping dots the crest of a knoll. Courtiers with latticed pants and sombreros studded with jewels bow and scrape their welcome. Nothing is too grand for the suckers.

The enormous success has already inspired exploiters to rush plans for another casino where only patrons in formal dress will be permitted. The present casino has taken on a new gloss since last year. The broken down old gamblers with sunken noses and a limp have been discarded as croupiers.

Their successors have the polished suavity of old world casinos. The highly rouged and gold toothed percentage girls have been shooed out. There is the polite murmur of modulated conversation. The gentleman in his cups receives the air. Agua Caliente has gone ritzy with a bang.

What seemed to be an orange tree in full bloom was carted over to a luncheon party in the patio. Lunchers plucked the fruit and found a frozen ice dessert inside. Senoritas stroll by tables, eyes cast demurely down, strumming their guitars. Thus does Agua Caliente gild vice with its patina of pomp.

My gambling instincts are typical of a Scotch heritage. The sporting blood does not run even mildly tepid. I lost $50 one day—just like that—at Monte Carlo and the wound never healed. Every once in a while I get off to myself and have a good cry. Consequently my admiration for what is known as the good sport is gigantic. I saw a gentleman drop $8,000 here in a jiffy and walk off humming nonchalantly. I would be whimpering on the front door step from then on. Incidentally, all the bonding companies have spies here to watch out for trusted employes who may be trying their luck.

* * *

The games they play are chiefly chemin de fer, baccarat, roulette, chuck-a-luck and a vicious one appropriately named black jack. All are reputed on the square, yet it is foolish to believe any gambling house operates strictly on the level. The professional gambler is invariably a trickster and even if he resorts to no trickery the house percentage is always in his favor. Else how would they pay for all the scenic and architectural fireworks? Incidentally, I'm just asking. I don't really care.

* * *

The old-time saloon seems so far, far away that there is actually a novelty in seeing bottles labeled Dewar, Haig & Haig, Hennessey and Old Crow—make the most of the free ad, boys!—shoved across the mahogany. In fairness, I saw little actual drunkenness, but everybody was basking in the effulgence of a mild alcoholic glow.

* * *

The most sensible person I saw among the strained faces wreathing the green tables was a San Francisco chauffeur who ran up a $20 bill to $1,200. "That's enough," he cried. "It pays off the mortgage and if you think I'm sucker enough to come back for more, sit up for me." And he swaggered out.

* * *

Everybody must be over the line by six in the evening. A murderous brawl and a white slaving sensation a few years ago put up the bars and thus deprived the resorts of much swag. Custom officials merely peep casually into the automobiles and most everybody brings over a bottle or so of something.

* * *

The only way to put over a slow check here is to hop on a bicycle and ride hell for breakfast across the border. Every evening several are held up at the line until they make their gambling loss checks good.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

AN old man said this to me. He had known the rough youth of almost every big American city. He had located claims and blazed trails on every frontier. And there was the wisdom and power and tang of those adventuring male years in his voice as he spoke.

"Men's aren't worth much nowadays," he said. "Lookit 'em. They are more like women than men. It all comes o' being too much with women.

"They're brought up by women and go to school with women and then spend their lives workin' in offices with women.

"Women are all right in their way, but you can't deny there's something radically different between a woman's way o' lookin' at things and a man's. They haven't got the same range of vision, as it were. Maybe it's because women have lived such little two-by-four lives but they certainly think CLOSE. They want everything prettied up and polite. They don't know how to do things in a big way. There's a lot o' fear in women—that's natural. They don't want to take a chance. They don't like people who do take chances. AND THEY BRING THEIR BOYS UP THAT WAY.

"AMERICAN MEN WERE ONCE THE TAKE-CHANCIEST CREATURES ON EARTH. BUT NOW ALL THEY DO IS TO GET TOGETHER AT LUNCH AND SING SONGS AND PASS RESOLUTIONS. Just like a parcel of women. And it all comes from too much mamma.

"In my day it was different. Boys were man-raised then. Their dads had time to talk with them and take them around when they were working. And if they couldn't be with their dads they hung around livery stables and heard other men talk. I tell you, livery stables were a great institution. They got a boy acquainted with man life and man notions. They took all the prettiness out o' him. But nowadays the only places a boy can go, outside o' bootleg joints, is a coffee shop or a soda joint. And lookit the results!

"Why, every time I lookit the way men fix themselves up nowdays with these silk socks and striped panties and lady underwear. I sure turn against my breed. I tell you, something happens to a boy what's around skirts too much.

"And there's another thing. I believe all this woman stuff is driving the natural, healthy man ambition outta males. Time was when every boy aimed to do something for the world. Now he's brought up to aim to do something for a woman. He's taught to feel that's what a man is for—to do something for a woman.

"There's just two parts to a man's life any more. First part he does chores for his mamma. Second part, he does chores for his wife. After that he's practically useless for general human purposes."

An old man said that to me. You can take it or leave it, as you please.

Isn't It So?

Some men manage to keep from being imposed upon by being disagreeable.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

ARE your days so full of interest in the mail or the newspaper that you can hardly get any work done?

You take a morning and an evening paper, perhaps.

You can hardly wait to read the morning news.

Breakfast may be late and domestic duties pressing but you cannot set yourself to any job and do it thoroughly and consecutively without stopping to read a little more.

Then the postman comes two or three times a day and you are on the qui vive for an hour before he is due, looking out and down the street, to find out if he is in sight.

You run to the door a dozen times to see if there is a letter for you.

Then you think of someone to whom you want to write and your good daylight is used to get that letter off "before the postman comes."

The fact that it is merely a friendly message of no particular importance at the moment, does not deter you from sitting down to write as the spirit moves.

You ought to sew on some buttons or darn some socks but it is nearly time for the evening paper boy and there is such a good continued story.
